It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

CITY OF CONCORD

ANNUAL

MAYOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

In taking upon myself the duties of this office, I should be false to my deepest feelings if I did not at this time clearly acknowledge to the citizens of Concord my profound appreciation for the honor they have conferred upon me. I may truly estimate it an honor, inasmuch as I had never associated myself with this office nor in any way had I ever manifested a desire to attain it. But coming to me as a spontaneous and sincere offering I could but regard it as a supreme call to duty, such as no Concord-loving son would care to disregard. I ought to be, and I am, profoundly grateful for this rare manifestation of confidence on the part of my fellow-citizens.

Although inexperienced and untried in the manifold and perplexing responsibilities of the mayorship I cheerfully assume the office, sustained by the resolution to do my utmost to subserve the welfare of this my native city. But, at the outset, let it be understood that in discharging my official duties, and in seeking to attain the fulfilment of reasonable expectation in the management of municipal affairs, I shall not be unmindful of the changes and methods imperatively decreed by the age in which we live. Our city has become what it is largely because my predecessors and yours have recognized changed conditions and courageously adapted them to the city's needs. Few municipalities, I am free to say, have been more sensitive to modern influences than Concord has been. Cities as political entities generally reflect the tastes, customs, and intellectual desires of their inhabitants, and Concord is a conspicuous illustration of the rule. Municipal affairs are but the aggregation of private tastes and methods publicly displayed. The timid luxury of yesterday becomes the indispensable necessity of to-day. It is so in Concord and so it must continue to be. Every city government is confronted not only with original improvements but also with the maintenance and betterment of improvements entered upon by former governments. It is impossible for us to recede from the progression entailed upon us by our predecessors. The changes and the advances made by them have long since become the vested rights of the people of Concord. Our administrative policy is therefore plainly marked out for us. We should so conduct affairs as to show an intelligent appreciation respecting matters of public concern and departmental importance, bearing always in mind that the wisest economy is the economy that reckons not with to-day alone but with the future.

Distrustful of my present competency to make recommendations concerning what ought to be done during the next two years, I forbear to commit my administration to any specific promises at this time. We shall certainly be better prepared to meet municipal problems and to estimate their worth and expediency, if we approach them unembarrassed by prejudice or partiality.

TAXES.

Wiser than Solomon by an arrow's flight, would that man be who should devise the means whereby a modern city could be conducted without appreciable expense to its inhabitants. While waiting, therefore, the advent of such a creation, we must go on assessing taxes and expecting good citizens to pay them.

Edgar H. Woodman, a former mayor of this city, and who, to my mind, was one of the finest and purest examples of good citizenship that I have ever known, said this in his inaugural address: "Taxation, like any other burden, does not bear so heavily upon us if we bear it willingly. It is usually the case that the complaints against taxation, where the levy is a matter of necessity, come largely from those who pay scarcely any taxes, or who do not pay their full and fair share. If we are to have the benefits of improvements, we must remember that we shall have to pay for them."

I repeat what Mayor Woodman said, not because I seek to change the perennial complaint respecting high taxes but merely to show the deep-seated and continuous nature of the disease. We surely have a permanency of buildings, of parks, of bridges, of roads to show for our expenditures, and moreover, we have practically paid for them by means of annual taxation. But there is a unique feature in the condition of Concord as respects taxation that is often overlooked. I doubt if its like is to be found anywhere in the country; certainly not in a city the size of Concord. I am forced, however, to use rather common words to express an impressive fact when I say that the unique condition consists in Concord's being a show town. Where, I ask, is there a similar city of twenty thousand inhabitants that offers more of pleasure and interest than Concord offers? It is not necessary for me to point out the state and federal buildings, the parks, the libraries, St. Paul's school, the statues and memorials, and our public schools. Stand in front of the state house and look upon the property belonging to the nation, the state, and the city, not to enumerate the churches, and reflect that out of all that aggregation of wealth not a penny issues for the purposes of local taxation. No person, I hope, would care to blot out all that splendor in order that his taxes might be lightened a few dollars. But all that wealth, together with the state hospital and the prison, although exempt from taxation, contributes in many ways to the direct benefit of the city and its inhabitants. So, then, when you try to compare the tax rate of Concord with the rates of other cities, see to it that you keep in mind this imposing mass of untaxable wealth to which I have referred, and then, I am sure, you will find that the people of Concord receive a great deal for their money.

It may be of interest in this connection to learn that in 1902 Concord's tax rate of $2.12 is exceeded by six cities in New Hampshire, to wit: Portsmouth, Somersworth, Laconia, Manchester, Nashua, and Berlin, and by thirty-eight towns.

On the first of January the bonded debt of the city was $205,800; notes, $34,000; water-works bonds, $650,000. The bonded indebtedness includes Union School District, and city sewerage bonds, but does not include Penacook, East Concord, West Concord, and St. Paul's precinct sewerage bonds. Included among the notes is the note of $30,000 issued for the city building.

ASSESSORS.

Having called your attention to taxes it may be well to refer to the assessors. Under the law the assessors possess an independence of action somewhat unusual in municipal government. They acknowledge no supervising authority, for they are responsible to no superior. Selected in party caucuses and elected by partisan vote, the assessors really represent a fraction of the inhabitants in the several wards, and to such fraction the assessor sometimes attributes his office and its responsibilities. This is an element of weakness that might be remedied. Our assessor system is an inheritance from the ancient town and is the one outgrown, inefficient, and unprogressive department in the city. And yet we all agree that no department is more vitally important. That the present system is wholly satisfactory no one would contend, not even many of those who at the recent election voted to retain it. Even among the assessors themselves there is a difference of opinion respecting their work.

If I were to criticise the board at all I should suggest the choosing of a secretary from the members, who should be as far as possible a permanent officer. He should be on duty a reasonable number of days during the year and therefore be accessible to the public. He should make himself thoroughly familiar with the requirements of the work and should possess that particular and accurate knowledge of the city's wealth, resources, and valuation as would enable him to appear with credit and authority before the state board of equalization or any other tribunal. No one can compute the possible damages likely to be inflicted on Concord by reason of an official half-knowledge of the city's financial condition.

The expenses of the board of assessors are growing rapidly and now amount to nearly thirty-three hundred dollars. Eight years ago the cost was under twenty-four hundred dollars. Like all per diem schemes of compensation there must be at some time a yearly limit to the cost of the nine assessors, but I submit that the per diem scheme had better give way to fixed salaries, with additional pay for the secretary. Three dollars a day is too little pay for a day's work in fixing careful valuations, and too much pay for a few minutes' conversation with a taxpayer.

As matters now are, a fundamental change in the assessor system is impossible, but even so it would not be impracticable for the members of the board thoroughly to acquaint themselves with the chapters in the Public Statutes relating to taxation, to familiarize themselves with the methods of valuation employed in other cities, and above all to understand clearly the rules and processes of one another in arriving at conclusions. I fear that there has been too much insistence on ward lines, too much individual jealousy, too little general consultation and comparison of valuation—in short, there has not been sufficient board work.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

This department continues to maintain a high degree of efficiency and discipline. While my knowledge of the department is neither exhaustive nor technical, I believe that it is well organized and well equipped.. With the reorganization of the department during Mayor Cogswell's administration came the election of a permanent chief, who has held the office ever since and who has demonstrated by his faithfulness and intelligence a rare capacity for his responsible position. To his annual report I commend your attention. What Chief Engineer Green says concerning certain repairs in the central station is, to my knowledge, most emphatically true, and unless the menace is speedily removed the damage may be incalculable. There ought not to be much difference of opinion respecting the dangerous quality of a boiler a quarter of a century old.

There is still another important subject connected with the central station that has long been a matter of comment and criticism. So urgent did the subject appear to be that a former city government actually had plans prepared showing how the situation could be changed. But nothing was done, consequently that economy of time and movement so all essential in a fire station is seriously diminished by its continuance. The proposed plan was to place the stalls in the rear of the machines, which it was estimated would cost about sixteen hundred dollars. The present arrangement is far from desirable; it is faulty as respects quick and unimpeded action in responding to an alarm and it is very dangerous to the horses. Whoever has seen the operations in a first-class fire station must at once be convinced of the awkward methods in use on Warren street.

LIBRARY.

In common with all lovers of books my feelings are warmly interested in everything pertaining to the library. I wish that I might behold in the near future a structure more in accord with the requirements of the period and the necessities of the institution.

While we all recognize the existing conditions we are at a loss to suggest a remedy. Mr. Fowler and Miss Fowler, the generous donors of the library building, are fully cognizant of the remarkable growth of the library and realize how inadequate to its uses the building has become. It is admitted that the situation is singular. At the present time the city does not deem it advisable to make an appropriation for a new library building, nor is it deemed wise to undertake a remodeling of the present building. It has been suggested that the difficulty might be relieved through the generosity of Mr. Carnegie, and I believe that I betray no confidence in saying that the great patron of free libraries is ready and willing to do to Concord as liberally as he has done to so many other cities. Mr. Carnegie's gifts are usually accompanied with a condition that the city or town shall raise annually for the support of the library a sum equal to 10 per cent. of the gift, so it becomes an easy matter to compute the amount Concord would have to pay for the support of a library such as a community like this ought to possess.

We have seen how great an improvement has taken place in our library since those days when two rooms at the top of the city hall were all we had, or later still, when more accessible quarters in the Board of Trade building seemed sumptuous in comparison. Having seen those transitions we can but hope that the future will favor the coming generation as generously as we have been favored.

POLICE.

The vacancy in the office of the city marshal caused by the resignation of George Scott Locke after a service of fourteen years was promptly filled on the first of last July by the appointment of James E. Rand. In this selection the police commission reflected the sentiments of our citizens and at the same time promoted to the head of the department a faithful and competent officer of more than forty years' active service.

The report of the city marshal, to which I desire to call your careful attention, contains several specific recommendations which seem warranted by experience. The most important among them is the request for more patrolmen. This is a subject worth consideration and I trust you will look into it from all sides without haste and without prejudice.

The matter of a patrol wagon constructed for one horse is a reasonable request and would increase the efficiency of the department at a small cost.

The present police telephone system is not the most satisfactory system, inasmuch as its operations are exceedingly limited and lack the automatic regulation so imperatively necessary to strict discipline.

To equip the city with a complete system of "Gamewell" boxes would cost from twenty-five hundred to four thousand dollars, the cost depending on the number of boxes installed. This is the system in use throughout many cities where it has withstood the test of prolonged trial.

SCHOOLS.

It has long been the custom on occasions of this character to make some reference to our schools.

Under a special act, very desirable when it was passed but no longer desirable, the central wards of the city joined to form Union School district, which is still in existence and now includes East and West Concord.

Although the city government raises all the money for education, the citizens of the district vote how to spend it and they also vote how much to raise. The anomaly of all this is to create a dual citizenship out of the same citizens. For this reason I hesitate as to the propriety of alluding to this subject at this time. But in order that you may be prepared for what may come to you from some school meeting I may properly say this much: The overcrowded condition of the high school building, with its two hundred and seventy pupils, an excess of one hundred more than the building was intended for, makes additional class and study rooms absolutely necessary. Moreover, the board of education has long desired to install a thorough equipment for the acquiring of practical bookkeeping, stenography, and typewriting, which under existing conditions is impossible. The present system of instruction in the high school is not fulfilling its whole duty to our young men and women. Something surely is wanting when, after four years spent in the school, another year or two of study becomes necessary before a graduate can earn his, or her, living as a typewriter, stenographer, or book-keeper.

At the annual meeting of Union district to be held in March, the board of education will deal more fully with this question, and also present to the meeting certain plans for the enlargement of the high school prepared in accordance with a vote of the district.

There is still another school matter that I desire to mention because of its connection with a section of the city which is constantly increasing in population, and which will assume importance provided the proposed electric road is built. I mean the schoolhouse on the Plains. And this reminds me that I wish some more appropriate name might attach itself to that section of Concord. The rapid increase of population and the character of the population deserve a generous treatment in respect to school accommodation. The schoolhouse is a one-room building, utterly devoid of modern conveniences and inadequate for its purposes. In the opinion of the board of education the time has arrived when there should be a modern building for the children in that part of the city.

Concord has been exceedingly liberal with its public schools and its policy bids fair to continue. We ought to feel proud of our more recent schoolhouses, which are fast becoming a collection of structures unsurpassed for their beauty and attractiveness. How liberal we have been may be understood when I inform you that, aside from annual expenditures, Union district since 1889 has expended for buildings alone, not including interest, $156,000, the last dollar of which was paid in July, 1902. We still owe $54,000, in payment for the Dewey and the Rumford.

SEWERS.

Strange as it may appear to us, our system of public sewers, one of the vitally important features of every civilized community, was begun in opposition and derision.

It is a sincere pleasure on this occasion to allude to my venerable and distinguished predecessor, Mayor Lyman D. Stevens, as the official who, seeing the needs of the city respecting sewers, went resolutely about creating them. That was in 1869. Since that time our progress in constructing sewers has been very marked.

Year by year the system has been extended and enlarged until the city is veined with a network of construction. But the end is not yet reached, very far from it. Two or three years ago the city engineer submitted a report on our sewers in which he pointed out the condition, defects, and necessities of the system in a manner not to be misunderstood.

In many instances our sewers have already exceeded the age of usefulness ordinarily prescribed by experience, in other instances the capacity of the sewers is too inadequate for the work to be done, while in other instances recent extensions of territory are wanting in suitable drainage.

It certainly seems to me that a subject so all important, so vast in its ramifications, and so costly in its development and execution calls for our wisest consideration.

Our city has now reached that state of growth, both actual and prospective, which enables us to consider the subject intelligently. Believing that the day has passed when everybody knew as much as everybody else concerning the best method of constructing sewers, I feel that Concord should secure the services of a competent sanitary engineer, who should come here, study the conditions and prepare comprehensive plans for present and future construction of sewerage. The plans of such a man, based on careful examination of population, character of the soil, elevations, areas, rainfall, and other important features of our city, would form a comprehensive guide for the entire sewerage system for many years to come. Of course, only a small amount of the old or new work could be undertaken in any one year, but the advantage attending the work would be found in its uniformity to a desired end and in its intelligent reference to future extensions. Whatever may be done in accordance with the carefully prepared plans of an expert engineer will form a part of a well considered, scientifically planned whole, and not form, as is now often the case, a section standing alone or built only for the present.

STREETS.

Concerning no municipal subject have my predecessors laid greater stress in their inaugurals than on streets and highways. Both Mayors Martin and Sargent expressed sensible and thoughtful suggestions on this subject which meet my views in every respect.

While conditions are not such as we should like to have them, I think that we may congratulate ourselves on the improvement in our streets during the past few years. But in common with the rest of the two hundred and thirty odd cities and towns throughout the state, Concord has much to learn and much to accomplish in the science and pursuit of good road building.

The conservatism of narrow economy has exercised a baneful influence over American roads from the earliest times, and although the people are beginning to realize it, the prejudices of generations are still tenacious.

With three hundred miles of streets and highways to be cared for, any extensive plan of permanent construction is at the present time utterly impossible, considering our appropriation. How far this appropriation has been misused in laying out needless streets is a fair question. Whether or not the exploitation of city funds for the opening of new streets along corner lots is a sound and prudent exercise of civic discretion, is another fair question.

Whatever our policy may be respecting the making of streets there ought to be no difference of opinion respecting their care, cleanliness, and attractiveness. In those particulars we have made noticeable progress within the past decade, so that the cleanly and wholesome aspect of our city at once arrests the attention of visitors. But the quality of attractiveness does not wholly depend on official exertion. The citizens themselves could assist very materially in the congenial work of creating a beautiful cityhood. For one thing let them remove a few miles of useless fences and by so doing they will contribute handsome and well-kept lawns to enhance the beauty of the neighborhood and at the same time widen the vista of the streets. We no longer live in the age of straying cattle, and there exists no reason why we should mask the beauty of our homes with the ugly anachronisms called fences.

And then come the shade trees. It matters not where the tree may be, we all have an instinctive ownership in its spreading branches and generous shade, and we regard any injury to it as an affront to ourselves. The protection and care of our shade trees impose a most important duty, and those upon whom that duty rests should take every care to preserve these objects of natural beauty. Shade trees along our streets are not the absolute property of the adjacent-lot owners to do with as they please, but on the contrary the trees, that is to say, the shade and the exquisite symmetry, belong to us all and our easement is indefeasable. "Spare the tree," ought to be an injunction as all-compelling as a statute itself, for in the words of Ruskin, "what a thought that was when God thought of the tree."

Concord has been noted for years because of good sidewalks, but I am sorry to qualify this opinion so far as the central sidewalks of Main street are concerned. From late spring until late autumn loiterers and loafers, with now and then help from heedless but well meaning men, use those sidewalks as a common cuspidor, creating filth and scattering all possible germs of disease. If there be any virtue in a city ordinance respecting this intolerable nuisance we may hope soon to find fairer and more equitable conditions up and down the frequented sidewalks in Main street.

Another subject proper to be mentioned in this connection is street lighting. In recent municipal improvements there has been no greater or more welcome change than in the methods of illumination. It was not so very long ago, certainly not twenty years ago, when the lamplighter went his rounds, starting the gas before sunset and extinguishing it by early midnight. On those regularly recurring nights when the almanac predicted influences of the moon the gas was never lighted, notwithstanding unexpected rain-storms and darkness. We have gradually departed from such primitive things, and while the present illumination costs heavily no one, as far as I know, is desirous to go back to the curious methods of 1880. A ten years' contract, beginning the first of January, 1903, has been concluded between Mayor Sargent's administration and the Electric Light company, by which the company agrees to furnish a system of enclosed arc lamps of the electrical energy of not less than 350 watts, at a cost of $75 apiece. We now have throughout the city 129 enclosed lights. The new system of lights is not based on the term "candle-power," which appears to be a fictitious test of energy impracticable of measurement and impossible of accurate definition, but is based on a supply of electricity capable of being tested at all times with precision and exactness whereby we may know whether or not we are getting all we pay for.

The preceding administration also entered upon a ten years' contract with the Light and Power company to furnish 129 gas lamps to burn from sunset to sunrise every night during the year, at a cost of $32.50 each.

There is yet another matter relating to streets and highways that calls for mention at this time. It is railroad crossings. Within the city limits there are, I believe, twenty grade crossings. It is not necessary to enumerate them, for you instinctively recognize the more dangerous among them. Not all the crossings are protected by gates or guarded by flag-men, a condition that tends to invite the most lamentable consequences. While I do not look for immediate improvements, for I do not underestimate the large outlay likely to be incurred by the Boston & Maine corporation in removing these perils, I do venture to hope that public and corporate sentiments will soon awaken to a realization of reciprocal rights and duties respecting these serious municipal defects.

Within our official term there will occur a local event both interesting and historical. We have already entered the year that marks the passing of the first half-century of Concord's municipal life. The year 1903 denotes the culmination of that period of growth and achievement of which we are all so proud. Few, indeed, among our people, recall the day fifty years ago when the selectmen resigned their trust into the keeping of the mayor and council. Eighteen hundred and fifty-three seems more distant than the Psalmist's span of life. In fact, measured by the lively teachings of the world's history or tested by the magic of invention, the birth-year of the city occurred in another age from the age in which we live.

You know the bright story of the past, how the vigorous Plantation of Pennycook became the town of Rumford, how the town of Rumford became the town of Concord, and how Concord, set in the gateway 'twixt Boston and the sea and Vermont and Canada, became the capital of the state. Steadily increasing in population and riches year followed year, until nearly a full century passed before the sturdy town of Concord consented to become the fair city of Concord. From 1765 to 1853 the old town kept the even tenor of its way, swerving never a hair's breadth from what her sons had decreed to be an exact duty to God and man.

But the increase of population coincident to the building of railroads soon brought the question of a city charter prominently before the people. Town methods began to be unsatisfactory and troublesome, yet the thought of giving up the March meeting was, by many, strenuously opposed. For several years the question was seriously discussed, but in 1849 a compromise was effected with the outlying districts and the legislature granted a charter. Like all compromises based on the surrender of assumed rights, the acceptance of the charter encountered bitter opposition. At the first election in September, 1849, the noes carried the day by nearly five to one, and they carried the next election in 1851, again they were victorious in 1852. But the central parts of the town kept growing, meanwhile, and in March, 1853, the yeas prevailed by a good majority.

The first city election was held on the twenty-sixth of that month and resulted in the choice of all officials except the mayor, who did not receive the requisite majority. Therefore another election took place on the fifth of April, when Gen. Joseph Low was chosen mayor, and the following day, in the old Representatives' hall, Concord's first city government was inaugurated.

I trust that it may not be irrelevant to call your passing attention to the fact that I have the honor to be the twenty-second consecutive mayor of Concord, while to you, gentlemen of the council, is the honor of composing the thirty-ninth successive city government.

The story of Concord as a city—its development, its constantly increasing importance, its moral and material advances—belongs to another time and occasion, but the story wherever told furnishes a golden lettered chapter wherein are written deeds of enterprise, perseverance and love of city.

Concord is the Concord that you and I know because of the last half-century. The crisis that proved the fibre of our citizenship came during that fiery period of Civil war and the years immediately following. Debt in its most awful form lay everywhere, taxes such as the world had never imagined pressed on rich and poor alike, yet none save a few faint hearts cried out in despair. At last when the storm abated and the sun shone on a country reunited and free, our citizens looked in vain for the civic wreck so falsely prophesied by some. The fierce furnace of war had actually tempered our citizens to a new birth of citizenship. It quickened and deepened our activities and created a fairer and more perfect ideal of life and the duties of civic responsibility. The war debt, vast as it was, began to be regarded as an asset of courage and the city derived strength from the lesson it had learned.

Fortunate, indeed, was that hard experience of unprecedented war which had tested our ability to bear lightly the burdens of sudden debt, for no sooner had the war passed away, and while the city's wounds were yet unhealed, than Concord was confronted with a situation the gravest in all its history. For a time our future looked dark and uncertain. Our proud distinction as the capital of the state was threatened. Earnest and determined foes challenged our ancient honors. Other towns began to take sides in the rivalry. But you all remember the inspiring story of the long contest for the state house, how nobly our citizens met the harsh conditions and saved the capitol for their children. There were no traitors in our camp, all were loyal to the city of their birth and of their homes. But what a cost that contest entailed! From the beginning in 1864 to the final payment in 1896, Concord paid in principal and interest almost three hundred and fifty thousand dollars. And yet in the face of that threatening liability our city has been administered year after year with a high order of courage, nothing has been slighted, makeshifts have found no favor, permanent improvements have been made, until we wonder how so much could have been accomplished with conditions so unpropitious.

Nor would the story of the last half-century be complete without a recital of those reiterated conflagrations which brought loss and ruin in their train and yet prepared the way for improvements and for fairer and more substantial structures.

The record telling of the city's life is long and precious, and is enriched with the names and services of citizens, living and dead, who in their time gave their best to make Concord a beautiful, intelligent, and law-abiding city. We prize that record of the past, and we all appreciate the men and women who have contributed to make our modern city, and this is the appropriate year to commemorate their labors and achievements. The people look to us for a fitting recognition of the benign anniversary. To observe the semi-centennial of Concord's cityhood is our solemn duty. We owe its observance to the memory of those forever silent, we owe it to the living as well. I do ask, therefore, that you vote a suitable appropriation wherewith to commemorate our city's semi-centennial.

In all human probability, gentlemen, this inauguration ceremony is the last one to be held in this desolate hall. For many years mayor after mayor has called attention to the bare and grossly inadequate accommodations of this building. More than once tentative plans have been prepared looking toward a change, but nothing was accomplished. The dual ownership of county and city was far from satisfying either owner, yet neither seemed ready to end the undesirable connection. It was always a question of expense, yet since the time a new city building began first to be advocated the city has generously voted thousands of dollars to help adorn property belonging to the state. No one is disposed to criticise the wisdom of taxing ourselves for state projects when such projects tend to add beauty to our city, although the total of such taxation has amounted to a very large sum. The time came at last when the long vexed question was to be solved, and to Mayor Sargent and his administration must be given the full measure of credit for meeting the question and solving it. They voted the appropriation and began a most necessary municipal improvement.

The terms of the building contract provide for the completion of the city hall in a year from this month, and thenceforth, let us hope, for another half-century at least the people of Concord will possess a city capitol handsome, well appointed and commodious, and in all respects consistent with the other public edifices of the city.

I endorse and urge upon you those wholesome sentiments respecting economy that have fallen from the lips of my predecessors, and I also indulge my earnest hopes that your action in every instance shall be prompted by a desire to serve the whole city and not be induced by a wish to confer a private benefit. Furthermore, the best municipal government possible is that government that has no partisan policy to carry out and no rewards to bestow. The nearer we can approach the rules and principles of a business corporation the better our condition will be. We are not a legislative body; we are essentially an executive body. Therein lies our power to accomplish much or little. The success of any administration is determined not in open sessions, but in conscientious and painstaking committee work. Accordingly, I have made up my committees solely to the end that every measure, scheme, or project coming before them shall receive the most careful scrutiny.

There are some persons, who, having no knowledge concerning the administration of our municipal affairs, are apt to speak lightly of the city government, and sometimes there are persons who indulge in loose expressions respecting the conduct of this or that department. But I am very strongly of the opinion that if such persons would only take upon themselves a friendly inquiry and an unprejudiced examination of our departments they would reach a conclusion wholly different from their first impressions. Our salaries are surely not excessive; on the contrary they are in several instances inequitably low. One instance in particular is the compensation of the collector of taxes. The compensation of this official is regulated by a percentage which, established years ago, has now become very inadequate for the services performed. His gross commission does not amount to quite sixteen hundred dollars, out of which he pays clerk hire and the expenses of a horse; in other words, for collecting two hundred and forty odd thousand dollars he receives a net compensation of about eight hundred a year. This is the pay of a policeman. I have no sympathy with this kind of municipal economy. But on the other hand if a sinecure exists anywhere within our jurisdiction I beg that some good citizen may promptly call it to my attention.

Concord, of all the cities I know, is singularly fortunate in the number and character of its unpaid trusteeships and committeeships. Few, save the members themselves, know or appreciate how much time and active work are given by these public-spirited citizens in caring for your interests and mine.

It is somewhat enlightening, although the process does not at all decrease the tax rate, to resolve our present rate of $21.20 on a thousand into a proportional division of expenditures by subjects. By so doing we shall find the results something like this:

State.....	$2.80
County.....	3.77
City.....	4.28
Schools.....	3.95
Union School district.....	3.50
Light and sewer precinct.....	1.70
Sprinkling precinct.....	.60
Hydrant precinct.....	.60
$21.20

By supplementing these figures with an examination of the departmental expenses given in the annual city reports we shall understand more clearly how much it costs to carry on our city government. Whether or not any material reduction in the existing rate can be effected I am at this time unable to say. But to impose on the understanding of one's fellow-citizens by means of specious promises respecting the rate of future taxation is, in my opinion, one of those minor crimes that carries with it its own punishment. I confidently look to you, gentlemen of the city council, for that full measure of advice and coöperation concerning the numerous and perplexing matters that may come before us, and I am certain that I shall not look in vain.

We cannot perform the impossible, and it is not likely that we shall attempt the impracticable. With your knowledge and experience to guide you I feel assured that the interests and the welfare of Concord will be carefully subserved and promoted. The trust that has fallen upon us is one of the most important in life. To administer it well means much to every household within the city, and it also means much to those who look to Concord as a model of the beautiful, well ordered and homelike New England city. We have much to be thankful for in the past, for it was the past that made our trust so fair. Let this administration, then, so manage the trust that we shall pass it to our successors in a form as fair as when we received it. Above all, let not the voice of pessimism exercise too great an influence over our labors, but rather let us take counsel from courage, and then do those things which ought to be done, bearing always in mind that in Concord particularly, public spirit, not private wealth, is the mainspring of our well being.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT, CONCORD, N. H., FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1904.

The school year of 1903-04 calls for but brief comment on the part of the board of education. For a detailed account of the various schools and their conduct reference should be had to the comprehensive report of the superintendent. Attention is also called to the annual report of the financial agent wherein may be found an exhibit of the income and the expenditures of the district during the past year. The number of scholars is larger than ever before and this notwithstanding the enlarged parochial school of the French Catholics. But the largest particular increase, as has been the case for two years last past, has been in the high school. A year ago the board called attention to existing conditions and ventured the hope that some radical measure of relief might be found. This year the extreme attendance has been 306 and is at the present time 295. Justifiable complaint was heard when the number of scholars reached 270 and it is not difficult to understand how well founded the complaint now is with the number in attendance increased a score or more. The high school question is one that perplexes every friend of the school and the question is rapidly assuming the form of a problem whose solution cannot be much longer delayed. The rapid increase of the high school is prevalent throughout New England. In New Hampshire this condition is conspicuously prominent as is shown in Manchester, Nashua, Dover and Portsmouth, where overcrowding has compelled the people to construct large and convenient high school buildings. Unfortunately there is a difference between Concord and the cities mentioned that makes our situation all the more difficult. It is this: The increase of pupils in the other New Hampshire cities forced the people to abandon old and ill constructed buildings for modern buildings while in this city we are forced to sacrifice a beautiful and costly building erected but a few years ago. The board of education recognizes the perplexities of the situation and the obstacles surrounding it nor does the board deem it incumbent upon themselves to take measures to reform the existing situation until the citizens of the district have made known their deliberate judgment in the premises.

The new school on the Plains is nearly completed and presents one of the most attractive specimens of school architecture in the city. Its cost is about $8,000. It is hardly necessary to say that this addition to the school houses of Union district meets an educational need of long standing. In seeking a name to give to the school the board was impressed with the propriety and the felicity as well of naming the building in memory of a woman who not only spent many years of her life in the vicinity in question but who won on the battlefields of her country an imperishable fame by ministering to the wounded and stricken—Harriet P. Dame. As was said in a former report so it may be said again, the collection of school buildings makes Union district the most beautiful and attractive in the state. But coincident with the increase in the number of school houses is a corresponding increase in the cost of their maintenance. Within five years we have built three new buildings besides adding two rooms to the Eastman school. The Dewey, the Rumford and the Harriet P. Dame, costing some $63,000, replaced Bow Brook, the old Rumford and the Plains schools, whose value when left in the hands of the district did not amount to $1,000. Moreover in addition to the cost the three new buildings contain sixteen rooms as against seven in the old houses, which means just that number of new teachers.

Whoever questions the increasing expenses of the district will do well to study the changed conditions and additional burdens imposed on the district by the imperative demands of a progressive and constantly growing community.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES R. CORNING,

President.

March, 1904.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON BUILDINGS AND REPAIRS.

Concord, N. H., March, 1904.

The Committee on Buildings and Repairs respectfully submits the following report, summarizing the work done during the last year, 1903 and 1904, together with its suggestions for the coming year:

At the Eastman school, East Concord, the fourth room, hall and stairs were finished. In order to furnish seats old double desks were cut in two and refinished as single desks. The two upper rooms were equipped with slate blackboards, also slate blackboards put upon one side of each of the two lower rooms. In addition to the contract price of finishing the room it was found necessary to back plaster the walls of the new room, furnish double windows, new front doors, repair roof, repair and put in ventilators for water closets, provide curtains, teachers' desks, stove, etc.

This building should be resingled and new floors provided for the lower rooms, also four new inside doors.

The basements should be cemented.

WEST CONCORD.

Owing to having forced the fires with wood last winter the furnaces of this building were burned beyond repair and owing to the shortage of money the furnaces were replaced by those of the same make, which have not proved a satisfactory investment.

TAHANTO SCHOOL.

Two hundred and fifty feet of iron sewer pipe was laid, connecting this building with the sewer. This work was necessitated by the old Akron sewer becoming completely choked with roots.

This building should be equipped with one furnace and a new outlet for the foul air shaft. The building is in a district where there are many small children and the change in the air supply is important. The walls and wood work should also be put in a clean condition and building painted.

WALKER SCHOOL.

It was necessary to put new furnaces in this building and the change was made from wood-burning furnaces to coal. A new central iron stack was put in and heat supplied to halls. A new partition of laths and plaster was put in place of one of wood on third floor between the two school rooms.

This building, for its own protection, should be painted outside and in; the third floor never has been done over since the house was built.

The light in the two rooms on the third floor is very defective, this part of the building never having been intended for school rooms and the committee recommend that, if these rooms are to continue to be in use, something should be done to remedy this defect.

MERRIMACK AND PENACOOK SCHOOLS.

These buildings can be spoken of together in regard to repairs needed. It was the opinion of the committee when last inspected that, if for no other reason than that of safety, it was important that they should have either new plaster or steel ceilings.

Both of the buildings need new floors, especially the Penacook, and both buildings are in want of kalsomine and paint. The Penacook building was reshingled this last summer.

COGSWELL SCHOOL.

The Cogswell was entirely renovated—roof repaired, building painted outside and inside, piazza repaired, desks scraped and revarnished. The furnace in this building was second-hand to start with and is burned out and must be replaced this coming summer. As it is now, it is both unsafe and impossible to heat the building in severe weather.

The New Rumford, Kimball, Dewey and Franklin are in good order. In these buildings the committee have adopted the plan of going through each building each summer and retouching the worn and scratched places and in this way have kept them in good condition. The Cogswell will be added to this list and treated in the same way.

The sewing school on Union street was reopened and some repairs made. If this building is to be continued in use it will be necessary to remove the central partition and make one larger room, owing to the increase in the size of the school.

Not knowing the outcome of the high school question that building can be left until more important repairs are made.

During the fall and winter the committee have been erecting the new "Harriet P. Dame" school on the Plains, which it is hoped will be ready for occupancy during the spring term. The crowded condition of the Plains school made it necessary for the committee to find additional room and the state, through General Ayling, kindly offered the guard house, which was furnished and opened but which has been used only in moderate weather on account of our inability to heat the room.

The committee have furnished twenty-four new seats for the high school because of the crowded condition, some being new seats and desks, others old double desks made over.

Also forty-nine seats for the Dewey school have been supplied.

The committee also recommends that all desks and chairs be put in good order as fast as possible, having found that many desks have had nothing done in way of refinishing since purchased.

In the spring and also after heavy rains the basement of the Dewey school is flooded, owing to the character of the soil and the fact that there is no blind drain about the building. Sometimes there is several inches of water in the basement, which is causing the decay of the finish and makes it very inconvenient for the pupils. Some provision should be made to remedy this.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN E. ROBERTSON,
EDWARD N. PEARSON,
GEORGE M. KIMBALL.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF AGENT.

Concord, N. H., March 7, 1904.

To the Board of Education of Union School District: I submit my second annual report as found in the following pages:

You will please note the overdraft of $1,348.40.

If an ordinary year, there would have been a balance sufficiently large to cover the extraordinary bills for coal, books, extra janitors, etc. But, as you know, at the end of the last school calendar year it was deemed best to lengthen the fall term and shorten the Christmas vacation and winter term.

The financial year running as it does from annual meeting to annual meeting and the school calendar year from the first part of September to last of June brings the spring term of one school year and fall and winter term of another into one financial year. The change, therefore, put thirty-nine weeks' salaries into this financial year, an increase of one week, amounting to $1,243.78. The terms were:

Spring, 1903, 13 weeks.

Fall, 1903, 15 weeks.

Winter, 1904, 11 weeks.

As the appropriation for salaries was based on the contracts made on the preceding July, plus the increased by rule, only a net appropriation was made for thirty-eight weeks.

To cover this I have paid the salaries due and carried the extraordinary bills as an overdraft to be cared for in the next year's appropriations.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Board of Education of Union School District:

It is my privilege to submit the following as my eighteenth annual report, being the forty-fourth of its series.

In nearly all departments the schools have maintained the standard of work which has characterized them in the past. Changes in grading, promotion and requirements have been instituted with the idea of making conditions more favorable to the child's education, the character and scope of which is much superior to that of earlier periods. Aside from that of an official, I have a parental interest in making these conditions safe for the general education of the pupils, one which shall promote a growth of mind and body serviceable for after life.

ATTENDANCE.

School attendance always forms an interesting part of a school report because it indicates the variation in population, warns us of approaching conditions and shows measurably the efficiency of the school system.

The accompanying table for the year ending June 27, 1903, shows a gain of 208 pupils over 1902. The average daily attendance has gained one per cent. The number of tardinesses has increased. This increase is divided as follows: High school, 183; grammar schools, 0; primary schools, 14; mixed schools, 28; kindergarten, 29.

The past winter, the severest I have known, has seriously interfered with good attendance, the results of which must appear in next June's report. The only locality in which contagious diseases have interfered to any extent is East Concord where, during the fall term, measles prevailed to such a degree as to render school work nearly useless for about two weeks.

The truant officer's report shows a decrease in the number of trancies over last year. This work has been faithfully performed as his accompanying report will show. No greater importance should be attached to any other department, because cases of truancy foreshadow careers of crime which, if not checked, would cost the state much more than it costs to arrest them.

The only places likely to cause much concern for school room are the northwestern part of the district and the high school. There are no attendance limits for the buildings above School street, which can be considered fixed. Pupils are sent to the different buildings with little regard to places of residence. Some who reside as far north as Beacon and Chapel streets are compelled to go to the Kimball school where there is room, but much fault is found with the distance. There are two remedies for this: First, moving the Bow Brook building farther west, directing the attendance toward the Dewey school; second, building two new rooms or more in the Tahanto district and directing the attendance north. The new Durgin silver manufactory will be in operation before next September and it is likely to complicate matters in this section in regard to school room.

The Plains district is being provided for in the erection of a new four-room building. Attendance here shows a steady growth, having reached the high mark of seventy-one pupils during the fall term. An attempt was made to secure the chapel for school purposes until the new building is completed but, some of the parishioners objecting, the plan was abandoned. A room was fitted up in the guard house at the state encampment grounds, which was kindly loaned us by the state. This proved to be quite serviceable except in extremely cold weather when we were forced to close the school. The attendance here varies exceedingly on account of the long distances some pupils are obliged to travel and the extreme difficulties of bad roads and cold weather. On this account the enforcement of the attendance laws has to be observed with much charity to avoid distress and hardship.

The Eastman school has shown a slight increase. A new room was started in the fall to accommodate the increase, facilitate grading and secure other favorable conditions.

West Concord school attendance shows a tendency to decrease, probably on account of the closing of the woolen mill.

The Chandler building was discontinued because the French parish school took so many pupils that this building was not needed. South of Pleasant street there is room enough but it is very poorly distributed. The Cogswell building should be located much farther south of its present position to afford a more even apportionment of territory and better accommodations.

The attendance at the high school has increased by about forty pupils over last year. Although this school will be classed as a small high school for some time and although the increase in succeeding years is likely to be normal, yet the accommodations here are not at all adequate for present purposes and school keeping is more of a perplexing problem than ever before.

BUILDINGS.

The Harriet P. Dame school building, now in process of construction, is the only new building erected during the year. This is situated opposite the state encampment grounds between the Pembroke and Loudon roads. It is model in appearance and arrangement and when completed will rival any similar structure in the city.

The general care of the buildings has been of a high order of excellence. Heating, ventilating and general repairs have been closely supervised and results attained which come only from close attention to the work. The report of the building committee will show in detail what has been accomplished.

TEACHERS.

A successful system of instruction depends mainly upon the efficiency of the instructors. The problem of securing a corps of teachers of uniform excellence appears to be unsolvable. The requirements for teaching in most cities were never more stringent than they are now and many cities will accept none other than normally trained teachers. Other cities require even these to take the course of the city training school before being given a position. Success in teaching, however, is due to personality and equipment in the ratio of about two to one. If a strong personality be wanting in a teacher her excellent equipment in other respects may permit her to keep school but never to teach it in the fullest sense of the word.

Localizing a teaching force is not good for a system of schools. It results in a lack of breadth in teaching and in annoyance for those who have the hiring of teachers in charge.

Regarding the teachers of Union district the following statistics may be of interest:

Forty-four are residents of the city; 20 are non-residents; 12 are normal graduates; 30 are graduates of the city training school; 10 are college graduates; 12 have never attended a normal school, training school or college.

The teacher is the prevailing factor in the school equation and the public have a right to expect one whose controlling spirit in teaching is the raising of the moral and intellectual standard of her school, not the mercenary spirit. An educational equipment not being enough, we are justified in asking an exemplification of truthfulness and freedom from deceit in connection with other traits of character, which will cause the pupil to remember his teacher as the embodiment of those qualities which distinctively mark the true lady and the true gentleman.

During the year the Concord Teachers' association was formed, having an enrollment of 279 regular and associate members.

At the present writing there have been two lectures by men of standing in the educational world and two social meetings. These meetings have proved the wisdom of starting the association and it must materially advance the cause of education in the city.

SEMI-ANNUAL PROMOTION.

The scheme of semi-annual promotion, advocated in my last report and later voted a trial by the board, has given general satisfaction thus far. Some of the beneficial results not mentioned heretofore are a reduction in the number of cases of corporal punishment, a material reduction in the number of trancies and a much more even distribution of pupils. It is not well at this time to give final judgment but another year's trial should enable us to determine its true value.

The course of study has been changed more or less to suit the needs of this plan but the general requirements are the same as before. There has been much discussion over school requirements in all parts of the country with no better result than a general lack of uniformity. One thing is very noticeable as a result of our ninth grade course. The chasm which formerly existed between the high school and the grammar school courses has been bridged over and pupils do not become so easily discouraged over the freshman requirements of the high school.

Our lower school work is of a high order of excellence, maintaining a standard second to none. It is earnestly hoped the American predilection for change may not interfere with a course which is generally regarded as sound and thus seriously impair its efficiency.

SCHOOL HYGIENE.

Much attention has been given to hygienic conditions in the school-room. Teachers are constantly reminded of the value of correct postures to the pupils in all kinds of school work. Strict rules have been made and observed relative to the size and character of the penmanship, both on paper and on the blackboard. In nearly all the primary rooms the height of the letters on the board is two and one half inches and in the succeeding grades seldom under two inches. This accords with the standards set by the most recent scientific investigations.

The janitors of all the large buildings who give their entire time to the work are required to register the temperature, condition of the ventilators, of curtains, blinds, and windows on a card hung in the room for that purpose. These cards are sent to the office for inspection at the end of each week. Visits to each room are made by the janitor often but at no regular intervals. This arrangement has resulted in much better conditions of heating, ventilation and lighting.

THE KINDERGARTEN.

The status of the kindergarten in Union district is now about as it has been since its inception, yet it has never been favored with the most reasonable conditions. While the kindergarten is an efficient fitting school for succeeding work, it is distinct in system and in application. For thirteen years we have obliged the same teacher to carry on the kindergarten in the forenoon and the primary work in the afternoon, with the result that the exclusive attention which each needs has not been realized and both have suffered to an appreciable degree, for the primary work requires teaching skill second to that of no other. It is true that the kindergartens have been fruitful in good results as they are conducted now, but the highest degree of excellence has not been attained. Three alternatives present themselves:

First—Provide a regular kindergartner and an assistant for the forenoon work alone and an additional teacher for the afternoon primary work.

Second—Continue as we are doing now.

Third—Abolish the kindergarten.

Either of the first two should have mature, skilled supervision to insure progressive, up-to-date kindergartens.

The first is the ideal plan but it will require the additional yearly expenditure of a considerable sum of money and it is for the board to determine whether the raising of the standard is worth the extra expense.

The second plan does fair work.

The third, of course, would be considered unfeasible.

Giving up the afternoon classes and allowing these pupils to come all day would meet with hearty public approval. A great deal of fault is found with our present arrangement and some means should be devised by which it can be changed to all day sessions. Discontinuing the kindergartens would obviate the difficulty. Consolidation of the kindergartens would do this to some extent. Finding room for the kindergartens outside the regular building would be another solution. The result would be that we should gain enough room to accommodate all pupils within their respective districts without having recourse to the expedients which have been mentioned previously.

No new kindergartens have been started this year but there should be one in the vicinity of the Tahanto school next fall, and I recommend that the board take steps to furnish it.

THE TRAINING-SCHOOL.

The training school has been more or less hampered by illness in the teaching corps. Nevertheless the primary department is in a flourishing condition and the prospect for large classes next year is unusually good.

The normal kindergarten classes for various reasons have dwindled in numbers until there are now only four in the senior class and none in the junior class. Eleven young ladies graduated in June. The graduation was held in Wonolancet hall and was attended by many people. The class showed to advantage in the manual part of their training and their graduating exercises were well carried out. Six of these graduates secured positions in this district, one in Somerville, Mass., one in Keene, one in Manchester, one in Franklin, and one is taking a postgraduate course in the Lowell Normal school. The question of continuing this school is debatable.

SCHOOL SIGNALS.

More or less complaint has been made that the "no school" signal was not rung often enough during this unusually severe winter. It may be true but the following facts will justify much deliberation in regard to dismissing schools. The winter term is but eleven weeks in length and school work is greatly injured by a loss of time. Out of thirty-eight weeks of school time we lose nearly three weeks on account of no sessions, institutes, legal holidays, etc.

The cost of no forenoon session in salaries alone is $136; no afternoon session, $90; and one session, $50. There cannot well be separate signals for each grade and we are obliged to ring out all the schools when in many instances the larger pupils might just as well attend as not. If mistakes are made I think they should be made on the side of keeping school.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.

An exhibition of school work was held on June 24, 25, 26, 27, 1903, at the different buildings. The scope and character of the exhibition may be found in the appendix to this report. The quality of the work was superior to that of all other previous exhibits and the number of visitors testified to the great interest taken in it.

TEXT BOOKS.

The text books used in our schools are modern in make-up and embody the best educational ideas. If the same publication is retained too long in the schools the children will suffer from not being kept in touch with modern thought and progress. If, on the other hand, changes are too frequent, the result is that the child suffers from a confusion of ideas. I recommend that the greatest care be taken in the matter of changing text books.

The working material of our schools should be carefully accounted for, that extravagance in misusage and waste may not occur. In the primary and grammar schools all such material is carefully listed by the principal of the building who keeps a strict debit and credit account and submits this to the superintendent at the end of each spring term. By this means one can definitely determine what material belongs to each school and its character. The value represented by desks, chairs, maps, globes, physical apparatus, chemical apparatus, text books, etc., belonging to the district, is enormous and cutting, mutilating or waste in any of its many forms should not be tolerated.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The high school is in much the same condition that it has been for the past three years. It has suffered from a too frequent change in the teaching force, some of the teachers being obliged to ask for a leave of absence on account of ill health. Mr. Phillips resigned during the fall term to accept a position in a publishing house. He was succeeded by Mr. Edgar Gilbert, a senior in Dartmouth college. Mr. Gilbert is a fine scholar, a man of good judgment and a natural teacher. Last June Miss Edith M. Walker resigned to accept a more lucrative position in the Somerville, Mass., high school. Miss Walker taught here a number of years and through her excellent scholarship, untiring energy and strong personality took high rank in the teaching profession and was a potent factor in maintaining the standard of our high school work. Miss Louise A. Ordway is proving a worthy successor. On account of increasing numbers we were compelled to hire an extra teacher. Miss Edith W. Lawrence was chosen and takes classes in French, physiography and history.

The principal reports the new course of study as giving excellent satisfaction. He asks for more laboratory room for the biological work and an extra allowance for reference books. He anticipates increased attendance next year on account of the proposed commercial course and deplors the continued lack of room accommodations. We hope for progress and improvement during the coming year. The first contest for the English composition prizes took place last June. The prizes for this contest were provided by appropriating a part of the prize speaking fund. At the suggestion of the superintendent twenty-five dollars was allowed for two prizes: first, $15; second, $10. There were seventeen contestants. The judge, Miss Frances M. Abbott, after commenting favorably upon the essays as a whole in her written report, awarded the first prize to Miss Alice Winifred Kendall, class of 1903, and the second prize to Miss Grace Leverett Aldrich of the same class. The subjects were, respectively, "What Eppie did for Silas Marner," and "The Madness of Malvolio." These essays were printed in full in the daily papers.

MILITARY DRILL.

One hundred and ten boys of the high school are organized into a battalion of two uniformed and one non-uniformed company. The instructor reports the company well organized, well officered and fairly well equipped. There has been but one case of insubordination that has come to his notice, due mainly to a misunderstanding. The present state of the high school building makes it impossible for continuing calisthenic exercises for the girls. The instructor recommends longer periods, more rifles and that every boy make an effort to provide himself with a uniform; also that a field day be given each spring for military manoeuvres.

DRAWING.

The custom of using drawing books in the schools has been discontinued because much more freedom in planning the course is allowed, less expense incurred and a better chance for adapting the work to the needs of the school is furnished thereby. Drawing is now taught in the afternoon primary classes by introducing brush and crayon work. Crayons are better fitted for lower school needs than water-color and are less expensive.

The purchase of Japanese pottery allowed by the board in the fall was distributed among twelve schools. These pieces were collected for their simple form, good proportion and interesting color and form a good nucleus for a permanent collection for each building. The basketry classes show decided improvement over last year.

Drawing now rightfully appears upon the high school course of study as an elective except for those who intend to enter the training school. The work has been more satisfactory on this account but drawing can never take rank with that of other high schools until we have a fully equipped room set apart for this purpose alone.

MUSIC.

The study of music still maintains its former standard. A new departure, called Individual Sight Singing societies, has stimulated sight reading to a remarkable degree. The midwinter promotions affected this work more unfavorably than any other, with the result that some pupils incline toward the ease of rote singing rather than following the text. The director reports the usual amount of interest and steady progress. In the high school one hundred and forty-five pupils elected music and this chorus intends giving Haydn's oratorio of "The Creation" on April 28th.

MANUAL TRAINING—WOOD AND IRON WORK.

The enrollment of pupils in the wood and iron working department has reached the unprecedented number of two hundred and ninety-five, but eighteen having dropped out. Of these pupils, sixty-six come from the high school. Many classes are too large to work to advantage. That the school has practically outgrown its present quarters is evident to anyone who visits it. As time goes on the board will see the advisability of providing a comprehensive course of constructive work for all pupils below the high school, which will result in better gradation, discipline and in keeping the boys in their own building at all times during school hours. This would need extra expense for the first cost but it can be brought about so gradually that the increase will not be felt at any one time. I suggest that the matter be considered and given a trial if found feasible. The usual amount of work has been done this year, its quality being shown to advantage in the exhibition of last June which eclipsed all previous efforts. The different departments of work, such as making engines, water motors, pyrography, wood carving, all show marked progress and the interest displayed is fully as intense as ever. The principal joins with me in asking more frequent visits by the committee and citizens.

SEWING.

During the year, for economic reasons, the school was changed from the Chandler building to the old quarters on Union street. The usual number of pupils have taken the work and additional interest is reported, many of the pupils working overtime voluntarily and doing special work on Saturdays. The plan of taking the sewing classes in the different buildings will be inaugurated next term and gradually worked to completion, model work being substituted for garment making in all grades below the high school.

COOKERY.

Miss Gerould resigned at the end of the spring term to accept a more lucrative position in New Britain, Conn. Miss Annie B. Penniman was elected to the position. Miss Penniman brings to her work a thorough education, complete training and a genuine enthusiasm. She is a strict disciplinarian and a lady. As a general thing the pupils have been alert, interested and responsive and they have become attentive, thoughtful and helpful. New lockers in the dressing room have greatly improved the former conditions. The school really needs more commodious quarters and better equipment. The aim of the school course is to make the presentation of the work of educational and practical value to the pupils.

SCHOOL REQUIREMENTS.

What to teach and what not to teach in the public schools has always provoked much discussion. These questions have never been answered satisfactorily and never will be until all people become of one mind. The standard and character of school work reflect very strongly the standard of public intelligence. If popular ideas lack substance, if they are engrossed more with the mercenary spirit than with the upbuilding of character, then must the public school foster and develop principles which weaken republican citizenship.

We are wont to think that, in the early days, educational processes were more powerful and that school time was more fully occupied with the essentials. Methods which have stood the tests of time should neither be discarded nor retained simply because they are old. As a rule, modern educational processes are vastly superior to those of other days. We are sometimes inclined to belittle the value of music, drawing, nature work, etc., thinking that they take an undue amount of school time but fail to note that the insufferable "speaking pieces" every Friday afternoon and the preparation necessary for this work used to consume more time than all of the above mentioned studies now take. In 1874, for instance, there were as many studies in the curriculum as there are now and that, too, on a shorter school year. In our ninth grade we take three subjects less than they did then. We also find that the same criticisms about a lack of thoroughness that are sometimes offered now prevailed at that time. When we take into consideration the length of the time given, the age of the child, and other conditions, I feel free to say that the pupil of today, when compared with the pupil of earlier days, reads better, writes better, talks better, uses his hands and his eyes better and has more general culture, although city environments are not so good for the child's growth as are the environments of the country where nature has a fairer and freer chance to apply her controlling elements in his nurture and education.

A low standard of work is not always a product of school conditions. There seems to be an outside opposing factor of allowing children to indulge immaturity in social functions. The distractions of theatres, school dances, late parties and money making schemes and exhibitions are often made paramount to school duties. Teachers and school methods are frequently hampered through being held up to ridicule by parents in the presence of their children. I fail to see the propriety of such things, much less that parents should take the advice of their children in settling school affairs. No doubt it is in most cases due to parental thoughtlessness but the effect is pernicious. How different is the German system where a child is seldom if ever permitted to indulge in such things and schools are of primary importance.

I think we are in error when we seek mainly for facility in the mechanics of school work; when we throw bodily upon the church and the home the moral education of the children. I believe the common school should concern itself mainly with the problem of life. I believe that if a child is taught the principles of right living and made to observe them in his school life he never will fail of obtaining a livelihood; that if he is taught to live a useful and happy life he will stand a better chance of becoming a strong and capable citizen. No other consideration should ever precede or overshadow this. Directing the immature mind toward commercialism, any distinct profession, trade or pursuit whatever is dangerous. No exclusively scholastic course of study ever did or ever will satisfy a thinking public or attain the desired end in education. If our public school appropriations fail of providing a course of instruction which shall develop in the child the powers of observation, a strong moral sense, a respect for law, a true appreciation of providence and a sympathetic spirit, they are in sense misapplied and will never reap the return in good citizenship which is their due.

The silent forces of the school room seldom come to the surface in time to be appreciated in the present but after school life is over and manhood begun they lend their tremendous formative influence in the development of human character. The accuracy and the appreciation of labor taught by manual training, the refinement and culture gained by music and drawing, the sympathetic spirit aroused by childish misfortunes and kindnesses, the consideration for dumb animals and the powers of observation cultivated by nature study—these are forces that cannot be measured by the value of a dollar, the dry rules of mathematics, technical grammar and analytical penmanship, yet they are ruling forces in life not readily revealed to our conscience. To sum up, then, our schools are not afflicted with fads nor dominated by the exclusive scholastic courses, but they aim to make men and women. I am confident that the standard of the elementary school work is as good as the best and worthy the hearty support of all citizens.

With a trustful spirit for future progress and a cordial acknowledgment of favors received from the board of education, the teachers and all others, this report is respectfully submitted.

L. J. RUNDLETT,
Superintendent.

Mr. John P. George offered the following resolution:

Resolved (1), That an additional high school building be erected upon the high school lot, west of the existing building, and the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) is hereby appropriated for the erection and furnishing of such additional high school building, and the board of education of Union school district is hereby authorized to act as a building committee to erect and furnish the same, employ architects, agents and such other assistants as they may require, and to do in the name and behalf of Union school district such other acts as may be necessary to carry this resolution into effect.

Resolved (2), That the indebtedness of the district arising from construction and furnishing of said additional high school building be funded at a rate of interest not exceeding three and one half per cent. (3 1-2 %) and that a sufficient sum of money be assessed upon the polls and ratable estates within Union school district on the first day of April in each year hereafter to meet the payments of interest and principal as it falls due from year to year, and that the money obtained by said assessments be and hereby is appropriated to make said payments.

Resolved (3), That the district request the city of Concord to aid in funding the indebtedness of the district arising from the construction and furnishing of said additional high school building, as the city is authorized to do by the act of the legislature of New Hampshire, approved August 14, 1889, entitled, "An act to authorize the city of Concord to borrow money in aid of its school districts," provided said city will borrow the money necessary for the purpose set forth in the foregoing resolutions and will allow the district to have the use of the money so borrowed; and further that if this request is complied with the district will seasonably pay to the city sufficient sums of money to enable the city to meet the payments of interest and principal upon its indebtedness so created as the same fall due and all incidental expenses, and will apply the money to be raised under the preceding resolutions to the payments aforesaid; and the board of education is hereby further authorized to make said request of the city and do all other acts and things necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

Mr. George moved the adoption of the resolutions and his motion was seconded.

Mr. John M. Mitchell, after a brief talk, moved that, owing to the small number of voters present, the meeting adjourn to Thursday evening, May 14, 1903, at eight o'clock at the same place; motion seconded and carried.

The moderator declared the meeting adjourned to Thursday evening, May 14, 1903, at eight o'clock at the same place.

Ahern had one vote, all that was cast, was declared elected unanimously moderator pro tem. and the oath of office was administered by John M. Mitchell, justice of the peace. The moderator stated that the question before the meeting was the resolution offered by John P. George at the meeting of April 30, 1903, and pending at the adjournment of that meeting.

The resolutions were read by the clerk for the information of those present. The resolutions were discussed by Charles R. Corning, Frank S. Streeter, James O. Lyford, John M. Mitchell, John J. McNulty, Frank P. Quimby, Maitland C. Lamprey and Michael H. Donovan.

Resolved, That the pending resolution be laid upon the table and that the board of education be and hereby are instructed and authorized to negotiate with the county convention in relation to the exchange of the high school property of the district for the court house property, belonging to the county, and ascertain the best terms on which such exchange can be made and secure a proposition from the county convention in relation thereto, including any and all terms necessary to make a contract for the exchange of said properties in the event that the proposition of the county convention is accepted by the district at a meeting duly called therefor; and the board is further directed either before or after such proposition is obtained from the county for the exchange of said properties to call a meeting of the district, the warrant for which shall contain the necessary articles to enable the district to legally enter into or authorize a contract for the exchange of said properties by the acceptance of any proposition made by the county convention or to authorize the district to pass the necessary vote making a proposition therefor to the county convention or any committee authorized to act for the county convention.

Mr. Lyford moved the adoption of the substitute resolution and the motion was seconded. A division of the house was called for and a vote taken, resulting in 57 votes in favor of the resolution and 53 against and the moderator declared the substitute resolution as adopted.

Art. 3. Charles R. Corning moved to indefinitely postpone Article three of the warrant and it was so voted.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION. DISTRICT NO. 20.

The greatest need of the schools in District No. 20 to-day is an aroused and enlightened public opinion. Some much needed improvements have been made and long strides taken in the direction of adapting the schools to the rapidly changing conditions of life, and while they leave much to be desired they are doing all that may fairly be demanded of them. For details concerning the management of the schools, the ideals held and the results attained, all our people are urged to study carefully the report of the superintendent, Mr. H. C. Sanborn.

Because of skilled supervision and a trained teaching force, controlled by a spirit of unity and co-operation growing out of a genuine zeal for educational progress, our schools are attaining a higher rank and doing more efficient work than ever before. But the best teachers and officers of administration are not sufficient of themselves to make the school all it ought to be.

There must be continuous sympathy and interest and intelligent co-operation on the part of the homes of our district. There must be great-hearted loyalty to the highest educational ideals on the part of all our people which will not only make them willing to pay larger taxes but will impel them to give gladly of their time and effort during the whole year.

The intelligent, active-minded community always demands the best possible of everything for their children, and sees to it that they are surrounded with everything which contributes to health of body and nobility of soul as well as to the development of the mental faculties. Extensive improvements have been made at the school building. It will be remembered that in our last report we called attention to the subject of ventilation and in the discussion which followed the whole question of improved sanitary conditions was taken up and, as a result, the district voted to appropriate $500 for work of this kind. A part of this money has been expended in installing a system of ventilation in the basements and the remainder in thoroughly overhauling and perfecting the heating plant. The board of education voted to employ Mr. Clarence A. Davis to prepare plans of the building for the purpose of procuring from Professor Woodbridge, one of the most eminent experts in the country, plans and specifications for ventilation. It was found impossible to install the system in more than a small part of the building with the money appropriated and the board decided to do only a part of the work this year, commencing with the basements which were the most unsanitary part of the building. These have been ventilated exactly in accordance with Professor Woodbridge's instructions and the boys' side fitted with an alberene stone urinal in place of the old one, which was unsanitary and entirely unsuitable for such a school. The whole expense of ventilation and new urinal was $175.98. The basements are now in first-class sanitary condition with the exception of the closets, which are old and unsanitary and should be replaced. This expense has been included in our estimate of money needed for repairs next year. More money should be raised for the purpose of extending the system of ventilation to the school-rooms unless the number of pupils is greatly reduced by using the rooms in the new building. The estimated cost of ventilation is $250 a room, when conditions are most favorable. Our boiler capacity is much too small to do heating and ventilating work for a building of this size but would be sufficient to take care of four rooms. If the building was occupied by one hundred and fifty pupils instead of three hundred, ventilation by means of doors and windows would be much more practical and successful than at present and might be tolerated as a makeshift until the district was ready to install a complete system. In view of these facts we recommend that all the rooms in the new building be finished and that further ventilation of the old building be postponed for one year. The building, which is the home of three hundred children two hundred days in a year, should be so constructed and furnished as to conserve not only the health but the comfort and happiness of its occupants. Ever since our building was erected cold halls and, in zero weather, cold rooms have interfered with the comfort and seriously menaced the health of teachers and scholars. After securing the advice of several experts in this kind of work we decided to install three hundred feet of additional radiation, one radiator in each of the north rooms and one in each lower hall. Large main supply pipes were substituted for small ones and necessary repairs made on the boiler. This work was done by Mr. E. H. Randall of Concord at an expense of $347.94. As a result, the halls and school rooms have been heated without difficulty during the whole winter and it is believed, not only by the board of education but by the teachers and some of the parents, that some important steps have been taken toward providing a school building where the whole child may thrive—not only his mind but his body.

The modern boy and girl must have more sanitary, commodious and evenly heated rooms than those to which his forebears were accustomed and if the present system of improvement and cleanliness is continued for a few years we shall have school buildings which will be a credit to the village and not be obliged to shut the children up in a building more unclean and unsanitary than any almshouse in the state. It is a well known fact that many of our people find it practically impossible to send their children out of town for a high school course. Not all of these could send their children to a full four years' course even if the school was located in their own town, but we believe that very many of them would welcome the opportunity to give their children one year of high school work. With the completion of the new school building and the employment of one more teacher, such an opportunity could be easily provided with but little additional expense.

Because they believe that the best educational advantages should be furnished to the largest number and that one year of high school work would be practical in our system and its advantages sought by a much larger number of children than are at present enjoying such privileges, the board of education recommend that the district vote to establish the first year of a high school course with such a course of study as would enable our pupils to take up the second year work in the Concord high school.

The success of this undertaking would be a distinct gain to our village along the highest lines of growth and life: for the educational privileges of our community stand in close relation with the life and welfare of our people and they are the very heart and center of the specific advancement of our social and political life. The demand of the hour is for schools in modern, clean, sanitary and attractive buildings, for the development of power and efficiency, physical and moral as well as mental.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS. DISTRICT NO. 20.

To the Board of Education:

I herewith respectfully submit my third annual report, which is the third in the series of reports of the superintendent of schools in District No. 20, Penacook. The year has been one of marked prosperity to the schools. To be sure, all the changes and improvements which have been recommended in previous reports have not been carried out. Yet what has been done is so far reaching in beneficial results as to give great satisfaction to all concerned and lead to the hope that much more will be done in the near future.

The citizens of the district are to be congratulated upon the future brilliant outlook for their schools. Never before have such favorable conditions existed. Harmony exists throughout the district, a new school building is about to be erected and a favorable opportunity for the establishment of a high school is now at hand.

As usual this annual report will contain a brief outline of work already done and a few words in regard to the future.

THE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.

It is with great pleasure that we watch the progress of any movement, long contemplated, which is to add much to the material wealth of the community. So it is that we follow with interest the steps leading to the completion of our new school building.

The plans accepted call for a modern four-room building, well heated, well lighted, well ventilated, in fact, in every respect up to date. The district has used a reasonable amount of foresight in its provisions for the future and will have every reason to be proud of the new building when completed. At the opening of the next fall term it will be necessary to use at least two of the new rooms and at the present rate of increase in the number of pupils in the district all the rooms will soon be in use.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Until this year there has always been more or less trouble in heating some of the school-rooms. From time to time committees have been appointed to look into the matter but with no very satisfactory results. Last summer, however, radiators were placed in the two north rooms and in the halls. The benefit derived from these has been far greater than was supposed possible. The two north rooms, instead of being cold and uncomfortable, have been warm and pleasant while the halls have been rendered safe places for children to remove and put on wraps without danger of taking cold. And all this is accomplished without extra cost for fuel or extra labor on the part of the janitor.

The basements have been connected with ventilating shafts extending to the attic, where an electric fan has been placed. In this way the foul air from the basement is forced out through the attic instead of being allowed to pass up the stairways to the halls and thence permeate the whole building. In addition to this sanitary improvements have been made in the boys' basement. These are such as to render the air much purer and to a great extent give the appearance of neatness and cleanliness to this part of the building.

However, there is still great chance for profitable repairs and, as soon as the district can do so, it is hoped that lavatories of a modern and sanitary type will be placed in both basements. Probably no expenditure of public money for our schools would be so greatly appreciated as this, which would so directly affect the physical and moral welfare of the children.

SCHOOL WORK.

Owing to the hearty good feeling existing among all those engaged in school work the results of the past year have been all that could be expected. Pupils and teachers alike are working towards a definite end. Both realize that there is a high purpose in education and that to reach great attainments much time and hard labor must be expended.

In the schools great emphasis is still placed upon reading and a phonetic method has been introduced. It is hoped that systematic phonetic drill, continued from grade to grade, will materially aid the pupils to acquire the art of reading at an early age.

The introduction of the first book of the Werner arithmetic has been extended to the fourth grade. The spiral system of teaching arithmetic is now employed in all the lower grades and encouraging results show that its introduction should be continued to the higher grades as soon as conditions will allow.

In the fourth grade Frye's New Elementary Geography has taken the place of the Natural and the Frye's Advanced Geography is used in the seventh grade. Some copies of the Tarr & McMurray's Geographies are used and it is hoped that the number will be increased during the coming year.

A special teacher in drawing would greatly increase the completeness of our school work. The drawing as it is now carried on does credit to the individual teachers. It, however, lacks a great deal in system and is by no means satisfactory in its results. More work should be done along this line but it should be under the oversight of a teacher carefully trained for the purpose.

This year it seemed best to place the third grade in the engine house and return the seventh and eighth to the schoolhouse. The disadvantages under which a school, isolated from the main school building, labors can be more easily overcome when small children are to be dealt with. With the exception of this one change the schools have remained exactly the same as last year.

Another year one more teacher will be needed in the four higher grades. At present the sixth and ninth grades are in the principal's room and the seventh and eighth are together. Next fall these same grades will number about as follows: Sixth, thirty-five; seventh, forty; eighth, twenty-two; and the ninth, fourteen. With the same number of grades that we have this year the sixth and seventh should each have a teacher while the combined eighth and ninth, numbering about thirty-eight, should be in the principal's room. Under such an arrangement the schools would be in a condition to do far better work than ever before. The principal would do all his teaching work with the two higher grades alone, which would be a great advantage to him and to the pupils.

The teaching force is ever a great factor in the efficiency of school work. The employing of new methods, the development of new ideas and the use of modern improved text books must depend upon the ability and skill of the teachers and their power to adapt themselves to new conditions. Teachers must be students or they will fail to teach. They must so fill themselves with new thoughts and ideas as to be a continual source of interest to their pupils.

In addition to this teachers must be good disciplinarians. Discipline is, however, secondary to interest. A pupil interested in his work is never hard to discipline. So the teacher who has the power to interest her school—granting always that her character is such as to command respect—will only find a few individual cases which will give trouble.

During the year there has been only one change in the teaching force. At the end of the spring term Mr. B. J. Merriam resigned to accept a position as superintendent of schools in Massachusetts. His place has been filled by Mr. Willard B. Atwell. Mr. Atwell is a graduate of Brown university and has had considerable experience in his chosen profession. He has taken up his work in a careful, thoughtful manner which, if followed, must ultimately lead to successful results.

KINDERGARTEN.

In each of the last two school reports the subject of a kindergarten and its value as a part of the school system have been brought to the attention of the parents of the district. The conditions leading up to the discussion have not materially changed during the last two years unless it be that the increasing number of pupils in the lower grades has made the need more imperative. In districts where there are no kindergartens about forty per cent. of the children are required to do the first grade work over. This is because children coming into the first grade with absolutely no ideas in regard to school use many weeks of time, valuable to themselves and the teachers, in becoming acquainted with new customs and the necessary discipline.

The kindergarten offers to children the most pleasing introduction to school. Their play is turned into profitable educational channels and before they are aware they are interested and eager to do things. They are taught that the relation of the pupils to the teacher is always kind and pleasant; that the process of education is not drudgery; that the fundamental principles of learning are not difficult; and that their school life is to consist of years of pleasure. They, as children, may not reason out these facts but, nevertheless, the impression exists and the child's whole school life is affected for great good.

Although the cost of establishing a kindergarten is very small, the district, with its numerous expenses, may not at present think best to assume the financial responsibility. Would it not, however, be possible for the parents of small children to establish a private kindergarten? This has been the method of starting such schools in many places throughout New Hampshire and Massachusetts. When once started and demonstrated to be successful, schools so founded have almost invariably been taken over in a short time by the districts in which they are located.

In Manchester, where the private kindergartens have just been taken over by the public school system, the city has always furnished room for these private schools. Probably a similar arrangement might be made in District No. 20. The new school building will afford two extra rooms, one of which, I feel sure, the district would willingly grant the use of for this purpose.

I hope the mothers who have children of kindergarten age will be awakened to an interest in this important matter and at an early date take some steps towards definite action. If you will talk the matter over among yourselves, at your homes or your clubs, and in this way arouse the latent desire of the community, you can soon bring about what you wish. If there is a desire to know definite facts in regard to expense involved, the securing of a room, the employment of a teacher or the needed equipment, I shall be only too glad to discuss the matter with fathers and mothers, either individually or in groups.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The educational conditions in District No. 20 are now such as to warrant the establishment of the first year of a high school. Never before has the outlook been so favorable. There is an increasing number of children; a new school building is about to be completed and competent teachers are at hand. In order that the conditions may be fully understood I will insert in this report the greater part of an article that I recently wrote for publication in the local newspaper:

In the expenditure of public money, the greatest good to the greatest number of taxpayers should always be considered. The preservation of order, the improvement of streets, the erection of public buildings, the elevation of the educational standard of the community through the growth of the schools, have always been considered the proper channels through which public moneys should flow. Of course a great deal may be profitably spent outside of local limits, as has been up to this time the case of our high school tuitions, and yet it must be acknowledged that as far as possible all expenditure to improve present home conditions and add premanent improvements should take the precedence of all others. Bearing in mind these facts, the conditions in District No. 20, Penacook, are such as to warrant the establishment of the first year of a high school course.

During the past few years the question has often been discussed but nothing has ever been accomplished as the co-operation of District No. 7, Roscawen, has always been considered necessary for the success of the undertaking. At present, while such co-operation would be of great assistance and is most earnestly solicited, recent legislation and the increasing number of pupils in District No. 20 makes it no longer essential. The time has now come when this district can take independent action, go on with its own definite plans and rest assured of ultimate success.

In order to have a thorough understanding of the question under discussion, we must become fully acquainted with the term "high school" in its legal sense, as related to the paying of tuitions by the district. It is well understood that any town not maintaining a high school must pay the tuition to the amount of forty dollars of its high school pupils attending a high school in some other town. Then, under certain conditions, a portion of this money thus paid is refunded by the state to the town from which the pupils come. The law defines the term "high school" as used in this connection, as follows:

"By the term 'high school' or 'academy' as used in this act [Chapter 96, Session Laws of 1901] is understood a school having at least one four years' course properly equipped and teaching such subjects as are required for admission to college, technical school and normal school, including reasonable instruction in the constitution of New Hampshire, such high school or academy to be approved by the state superintendent of public instruction as complying with the requirements of this section. And said superintendent is authorized to approve a school maintaining any part of such a course for the part so maintained."

As it would not be advisable to establish the full high school course at once, it is in accordance with the last clause that the district must act. Under its provisions, the district may with the approval of the state superintendent found the first year of a high school course and thereby give home advantages to pupils, who will otherwise be obliged to go out of town or give up further instruction.

The financial economy of such a school would be felt in two directions, first by the district and then by the parents of the pupils. The expense of the first year tuitions would no longer be incumbent upon the district. This year there are three taking the first year's work out of town; next year there will probably be eight and each succeeding year will doubtless increase this number. The amount of tuition saved would actually amount to about $125 each year, which would of course increase with the number of pupils. The parents would be obliged no longer to pay tuition in excess of $40 or transportation fares to and from the school. To many such slight expense would not be burdensome, yet to others it would be the cause of much serious consideration and, in many cases, would even prevent children from enjoying the privileges of a high school.

The equipment needed for the first year of the high school, outside of some new text books, would be but little in excess of what is already required by the present ninth grade. The text books must of course be entirely new, but they would not be many in number nor involve much expense. A reference library would be very important but not at once essential and would probably be acquired by small additions from various sources and not be burdensome to the district.

No extra teachers would be needed to carry out this plan. The grades will probably number about as follows:

Grade VII	40
Grade VIII	22
Grade IX	14
Grade X (First year High school)	8

Under our present system it will be necessary another fall to have one more teacher in the four highest grades. The first year of the high school would simply necessitate a slight regrading among the older pupils. The first year pupils, with those of the four highest grades, should be placed in charge of the principal and two lady teachers.

One of these lady teachers should be a college graduate. These three teachers would have an average of only about thirty-seven pupils each. This number is by no means large and would in no way interfere with efficient work.

Let me add that the new building will offer a most excellent place for the high school. New furnishings must be bought. At no extra expense these may be such as to accommodate the higher grades. The old building is already provided with sufficient seats for all the small children in the district but the large seats are few in number. Hence it would seem to me advisable and in every way most expedient to let the lower grades remain in the old building and to move the four highest grades, with the principal and three teachers, into the new building. Then there would be no reason why the new building should not be known as the Penacook high school building.

CONCLUSION.

It is the highest aim of every healthy minded citizen to be continually doing something to better the community in which he lives. Some work along one line, some another, but nearly all agree that the education of the masses is one of the leading factors in the success of our public institutions. For this reason our public school system has been protected and fostered with such thoughtful care until it has become a feature of our national life, which is thereby distinguished from the life of all other nations of the world.

Since my work in District No. 20 began, it has been my great pleasure to watch the development of interest among the citizens. This interest has been very helpful in accomplishing high purposes. Only with the hearty good will of parents and citizens behind them can school officials secure the best results. If parents could spend more time in our schools and thus become more familiar with the work being done, the effect could not fail to be beneficial to the schools.

I wish to thank the citizens of the district for the part that they have taken in the work of the year and especially the board of education, who have been so loyal in their support and co-operation and have done so much for the improvement of the schools.

Respectfully yours,

H. C. SANBORN.

SCHOOL REPORT OF THE TOWN DISTRICT OF CONCORD.

Reviewing the work of the year ending March, 1904, we are pleased to report very satisfactory results. While we cannot say that every school has made better progress than ever before, we feel justified in saying that the standard of our schools, taken together, was never higher than at the present time. Our teachers seemed especially fitted for the schools over which they are placed. Doubtless this is in part due to the fact that a good teacher will adapt herself to the needs of her school. Whether or not this is the invariable rule, it seems probable that a change of teachers in any of our larger schools would result unfavorably to the progress of the school.

There is a growing feeling that we should extend our school year somewhat beyond its present limit of thirty weeks. This would be a step in the right direction.

Our teacher of vocal music has pursued her labors under some discouragements, but not in vain. We have listened to some excellent musical exercises. It is noticeable in those schools where the teachers are able to supplement the efforts of the music teacher by a daily rehearsal of the weekly lesson that much more can be accomplished.

The repairs and improvements made on the schoolhouse at Millville during the year seem to have met with general approval. We heartily appreciate the helpful interest so uniformly manifested by the parents in the work of education.

BOROUGH SCHOOL.

Miss Hannah M. Stanyan, who had held the position of teacher for more than two years, was in charge of the spring term. The school was prosperous under her management, and her services were highly appreciated.

Miss Grace M. Perley was engaged for the fall term. Miss Perley is a young teacher of good attainments, but found the school a difficult one in point of discipline.

Mrs. Bell C. Ball took up the work for the winter term. The results of her earnest but quiet labor proved that she was eminently fitted for her position. Her services should be retained by the district.

HORSE HILL SCHOOL.

The spring term was taught by Miss Ruth K. Favor; the fall and winter terms by Miss Alice M. Angle. The school made good progress under both these teachers. Though in numbers this school is less than in former years, there are some good scholars here, and the closing examination indicated that they had received good training.

S.

NUMBER FOUR SCHOOL.

During the year this school has been in charge of Miss Edith Babcock of West Berlin, Mass.

Here is a small school of only eight scholars, that ranks among our best in scholarship.

Parents, teacher, and scholars are at work for the best results. During the fall term five out of eight pupils were found on the roll of honor. This record has rarely been surpassed. Miss Babcock is a faithful teacher.

S.

TURTLETOWN SCHOOL.

This school has been taught successfully for several years by Miss Bessie E. Virgin. This is a very small school of four or five scholars, therefore a teacher has but small scope for action.

H.

SNAPTOWN SCHOOL.

Miss Mabel L. Drew was teacher for the year. Miss Drew is a graduate of Kezer seminary and an attendant of the State Normal school for one year. She has taught two years previous to coming here. As a teacher she cannot be excelled, and the scholars made thorough and marked improvement.

H.

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL.

All three terms were taught by Miss Florence N. Adams. This is her second year here. She has carried out the good work which she commenced the first year. Although several of the older pupils have left, it would be hard to find another school to compete with this one in music.

H.

PLAINS SCHOOL.

All three terms were taught by Mrs. Maud G. Thompson. Mrs. Thompson is a graduate of New Hampshire Conference seminary at Tilton. She has taught about four years. This school, being one of the poorest, under Mrs. Thompson's careful management has come to be one of the best.

IRON WORKS SCHOOL.

Mrs. Jennie Brown Sprague has taught this school for several years, and we feel very fortunate in being able to retain her for the past year. We consider her an excellent teacher.

C.

STANDISH SCHOOL.

This school labors under difficulties on account of the limited amount of room. We have had seven scholars from Union district, which makes it somewhat crowded.

The spring term was taught by Mrs. Smith, who gave good satisfaction. She was much liked by both parents and pupils. The fall term of fifteen weeks was taught by Miss Leona Quimby. This was Miss Quimby's first term, but the school made marked improvement, and we think she will make an excellent teacher in any school.

C.

MILLVILLE SCHOOL.

All three terms of the advanced grades were taught by Miss Eva I. French of Pembroke. Miss French is a teacher of long experience, and her work shows for itself in the great improvement of the school.

C.

MILLVILLE PRIMARY.

This school has been under the guidance of Miss Ethel M. Page for several terms. Miss Page is an excellent primary teacher, and we can only add the highest praise for her work.

REPORT OF WATER COMMISSIONERS.

Office of the Board of Water Commissioners.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 29, 1904.

To His Honor the Mayor and the City Council:

The Board of Water Commissioners respectfully submits the following report of the operations of the department for the year 1903.

For the detailed statement reference is made to the accompanying report of the superintendent.

Attention is called to the large expenditure for new distribution pipe, which has been rendered necessary by permanent improvements by the highway department, in order that newly constructed concrete and macadamized streets be not disturbed.

The coming year will witness the installation of an auxiliary steam pump at the pumping station, the necessity for which has been referred to in previous reports of the Board, and which has caused the department considerable anxiety. A contract has been executed for the work and the expense (approximately $7,000.00) has been provided for in connection with the extension of the high service system to Penacook, which will also be completed the coming season. This extension will remove all cause for complaint by the residents of that portion of the city of inadequate fire protection, and will also meet the urgent demands of the state authorities for better service at the state prison.

In the death of Mr. John Whitaker the city has sustained the loss of a most estimable citizen, and this Board the valued assistance, experience and advice of an honored associate.

The Board heartily commends the faithful and intelligent service of its employees in all departments.

Respectfully submitted,

EDSON J. HILL,
GEORGE D. B. PRESCOTT,
HARRY H. DUDLEY,
NATHANIEL E. MARTIN,
SOLON A. CARTER,
OBADIAH MORRILL,

Service Pipes.

There have been laid during the year and connected with the main pipes, 54 service pipes, consisting of 52 $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch,	1,233 feet.

2 4-inch,	23 "
54	1,256 feet.

There have been discontinued, 9; whole number in use at the present time, 3,376; total length of service pipes, 79,097 feet, or 14.98 miles. We have placed 230 service boxes at the curb on old services.

We have set 73 meters during the year; 4 have been removed, making the total number now in use, 1,272.

The following table shows the height of water in Penacook lake on the first day of each month:

January . . .	185.10	July . . .	185.00
February . . .	185.15	August . . .	185.00
March . . .	185.15	September . . .	184.90
April . . .	185.30	October . . .	184.15
May . . .	185.00	November . . .	184.05
June . . .	184.40	December . . .	183.90

The lowest point reached during the year was on December 19, being 183.80; the highest was on March 11, 185.60; mean height, 184.75, which was .23 foot lower than the mean height for the year 1902.

We have done considerable work around the shores of the lake in clearing away dead branches, stumps and other unsightly or decaying matter, but were prevented from continuing the work as planned by the high state of the water.

At the semi-centennial anniversary of the city in August, an interesting and successful test was made of the high service hydrants on North Main street by the fire department, in connection with an exhibition of the Eastman deluge sets and nozzles by Mr. C. R. Robinson of this city, manufacturer. A "Jumbo" deluge set attached to a six-way hydrant, pressure, 83 lbs., with a 2½-inch nozzle, threw a solid stream 282 feet, 5 inches, reducing the pressure to 81½ lbs.; a 2¾-inch nozzle threw 278 feet, pressure 81 lbs.; a 3-inch nozzle threw 225 feet, pressure 80½ lbs. It was contended by some of our citizens that in case of a large fire with one of these powerful streams in use from a hydrant, the adjoining hydrants could not produce effective streams, so a second test was made a few days later. Two six-way hydrants, on the same 20-inch main, 200 feet distant, 83 lbs. pressure, were used with two "Jumbo" deluge sets. There was a strong cross wind blowing, which somewhat affected the results, but the record is one of which both the water department and the manufacturer are justly proud. Two 2½-inch streams, one from each hydrant, threw 261 feet, pressure 78 lbs.; two $2\frac{1}{4}$ -inch streams threw 247 feet 6 inches, pressure 77 lbs.; two 3-inch streams threw 210 feet, estimated 170 feet in height, pressure 75 lbs. Twelve $1\frac{1}{4}$ -inch streams with Eastman nozzles, using 2,000 feet of $2\frac{1}{4}$ -inch hose, reduced the pressure only to 77 lbs., while the height and volume of the streams can be plainly seen in the accompanying cut.

The test proved most conclusively that even this extraordinary number of streams, or the immense volume of the two 3-inch streams, hardly begin to tax the working capacity of the hydrants, the pressure at no time falling below 75 lbs., and we can certainly feel confident that the business portion of our city has very excellent fire protection.

The streets relaid with cast-iron pipe during the past season practically completed relaying the section at the South End, which has caused us so much trouble and anxiety by leaks, and we have had but very few leaks on the system the past year.

The employees have all rendered faithful service in the work of the department and I cordially thank the Board for their advice and support.

In the death of Mr. John Whitaker, I felt a personal loss in my labors; his long experience in kindred affairs made his counsels very helpful, and his advice and judgments so quietly, yet positively, given, assured one of a strong and wise friend at all times.

Respectfully submitted,

V. C. HASTINGS,
Superintendent.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF HIGHWAYS.

To the City Council :

GENTLEMEN :—I herewith submit the annual report of the work of the highway department for the year 1903. The year has been a particularly busy one, as there has been much to do in the way of general repairs and permanent work.

The appropriations were practically the same as in previous years. The amount for permanent work was increased $4,000 over that of 1902, making $9,000, which was voted by the city council should be expended equally on the Millville and Penacook roads. But this amount was less than had been appropriated for permanent work for several years past. The appropriations for general maintenance, catch basins, sidewalks, and crossings were the same as 1902, with a separate appropriation of $500 for trees, and the amount for garbage was raised from a precinct similar to sprinkling. The following were the amounts appropriated :

General maintenance and repair	. $19,600
Permanent work	 9,000
Catch basins	 1,500
Sidewalks and crossings, new	 2,000
Sidewalks and crossings, repair	 1,500
Garbage	 5,500
Sprinkling	 5,000

Under the general maintenance appropriation comes the greater part of the work of the department, including the winter expense, all patching, care of bridges, and minor repairs. The demands for such work are many, and the amount requires some care in expenditure to last through the year.

The iron bridge on Main street, Penacook, and the Loudon bridge should be painted the coming year. The department expected to paint the Loudon bridge during the past season, but demands for other work were so many that it could not be done without a special appropriation. The matter of a new bridge over the Soucook river at Richardson's mill, so-called, has been under consideration by the city and the town of Pembroke, and it has been decided that it will be necessary to build a new bridge there next season. The following repairs have been made on bridges during the year :

Davis bridge over Soucook river, painting,	$11.50
Pembroke bridge over Merrimack river, repairing,	3.00
Loudon bridge over Merrimack river, repairing,	34.34
Federal bridge over Merrimack river, repairing,	10.85
Sewall's Falls bridge over Merrimack river, replanking,	325.58
Ash brook bridge on the Hopkinton new road, repairing,	9.76
" Mose Brown " bridge over Turkey river, repairing,	1.30
Birchdale bridge over Turkey river, repairing,	2.27
Borough bridge at Penacook, repairing,	3.05
Crescent street bridge over canal, Penacook, repairing,	4.90
Bridge on Canterbury road, North Concord, replanking,	28.20

Palm and Fairbanks streets were granted this year, and a special appropriation of $800 made for laying out. Considerable work was necessary to place them in passable condition. It was so late before permission to cross the steam railroad tracks was received that work had to be suspended on account of the ground freezing, and not quite all of the appropriation was used. Martin street, laid out several years ago, was graded and put in good condition this season. By the change in grade on Beacon and Charles streets considerable filling was necessary. About 1,400 loads were put in, and another season will finish the work there, and the change will be a great improvement. A record of the repairs on the streets will be found further on in the report.

The broad gauging of the street railway tracks from Pleasant street north was done during the fall, and the company left the streets in as good condition as possible, but some grading will be necessary next spring.

At the semi-centennial celebration the highway department entered the parade with its workmen, horses, sprinklers, carts, etc., and made a feature of the parade which was a surprise to many of the citizens, as it showed that the department has increased considerably in a few years. The matter of a city stable and change in location of the sheds which is before the city council is, I think, a move in the right direction. The present accommodations are insufficient and unsafe, and the change would not only improve conditions, but I think the present location could be sold for house lots and an inexpensive stable built from the sale of them. I do not consider that the department needs a large, expensive stable, but rather one which could be enlarged as the department increases, and I hope an expensive stable will not be decided on. The separate appropriation for trees has enabled the department to do more in that line than usual. The trees were trimmed the entire length of several streets, and the street lighting service thereby greatly improved. When completed, the work has been generally satisfactory to residents on the street. Further improvement can be made another year in this line.

About the usual amount of new concrete walks were laid, and a large amount of repairing done.

The average number of catch basins were constructed. The following table shows the location, etc. :

The report of the insurance company's inspector that the engine was unsafe made it evident that a new engine was necessary at the stationary crusher on Rumford street. The old engine had been in use about twenty-five years, and it was useless to repair it. A new 24 horse-power Erie engine and boiler was purchased of the Page Belting company for $687.50, and the stationary plant is now in good condition.

The portable plant was purchased in 1897, and since then a large amount of stone has been crushed with it. The engine, bins, etc., are in good shape, but the crusher frame has become worn and will require considerable for repairs before much more work can be done with it. I think it would be advisable to purchase a new crusher part to the plant.

For permanent improvements the past season macadam was laid on Pleasant street and the Penacook road. Both pieces were continuations of macadam already in. The amounts raised for permanent work each year are comparatively small, but by extending the work on the same street from one season to another we are able to get a continuous piece of macadam, and I think it would be wise to do something on both roads another season, the same as the past year.

On Pleasant street, 2,850 feet in length with 18 feet roadway were put in at an expense of $4,435.24. About 2,100 feet more would bring the macadam to the concrete roadway at the school which would complete that road from Spring street to St. Paul's school. The portable crusher plant was set up at one of the city quarries at West Concord, and stone for the macadam on the Penacook road crushed there. A piece 2,200 feet in length, 16 foot roadway, was put in at the south end of that laid six years ago, and 1,150 feet at the north end. I would recommend that another year the macadam be extended from the north end towards the village. The total expense of the work on the Penacook road was $4,473.63.

Another street badly in need of macadam, and which has been under consideration is North State street from Walker street to the south entrance to Blossom Hill cemetery. It was understood that the street railway were to broad gauge and change the location of its tracks, and it was thought better to leave macadamizing until the change was made. Their part of the work is now completed, and I think something ought to be done on the street this next year.

The Loudon road is one of the worst pieces of highway leading into Concord that we have at the present time. It should have considerable laid out on it the coming season. The road across the Plains from the Pembroke bridge, leading to Pembroke street, is another one which is in bad shape and needs quite an amount expended for repairs.

The department has quite a stock of second-hand paving blocks taken from North Main street, which could be used to good advantage on Freight street. The street is a bad one to keep in repair in its present condition. It is the main thoroughfare to the freight depot, and since nearly all freight is hauled over the street I think paving would be the proper material for the place.

The collection of garbage was confined to a precinct this year, and is giving satisfactory results. The balance of the appropriation left was due to the fact that the first of the season so little coal was used that the amount of ashes to be collected was small. But with the more common use of coal as a fuel this winter the amount of ashes increased considerably. The appropriation another year should be the same as last. The season was favorable for the sprinkling department, and therefore a balance of the appropriation is left. The carts have all been repaired again this year, and are in first-class condition. There is a call for an extension of the sprinkling service. If such an extension is made it will be necessary to add more sprinklers.

The local weather bureau very kindly notifies the department of any unusual storms predicted, which is greatly appreciated, as it is an assistance, especially during the winter months.

To his honor the mayor, the city council, and the city officials I wish to extend my sincere thanks for their interest in the department and courtesy toward it.

I hope whatever suggestions this report contains may receive your fair consideration.

Respectfully submitted,
ALFRED CLARK,
Commissioner of Highways.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

REPORT OF THE CITY MARSHAL.

Concord, December 31, 1903.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor herewith to submit the report of the police department for the year ending December 31, 1903.

I also offer for your consideration such recommendations as I deem necessary for the welfare of the department.

THE FORCE.

The force has undergone some changes in the past year. Officer James Kelly resigned, January 13, 1903; Officer Harvey H. Oakes resigned, February 28, 1903. Their places were filled by Special Officers Victor I. Moore and Ernest H. Walker. Officer Ernest H. Walker resigned, October 28, 1903; his place was filled by Special Officer George E. Drury, June 1st. June 1st, the regular force was increased by two additional men, special officers, Clark D. Stevens and Cordon A. Lowell.

The organization of the police department at the present time is as follows:

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Josiah E. Dwight, Giles Wheeler, Myron J. Pratt.

Marshal, James E. Rand, appointed patrolman, April 16, 1861; captain, April 16, 1891; assistant marshal, April 16, 1894; city marshal, January 27, 1902; took oath of office, July 1, 1902.

Assistant John E. Gay, appointed special officer April 2, 1894; patrolman, August 6, 1894; resigned as patrolman, March 28, 1900; appointed special officer, June 15, 1900; patrolman, April 24, 1901; assistant marshal, July 1, 1902.

Captain night watch, Daniel S. Flanders, appointed special officer, June 26, 1886; patrolman, January 26, 1889; captain, January 1, 1895.

PATROLMEN.

Whitney D. Barrett,	appointed	Jan. 24, 1893
Charles H. Rowe,	"	Dec. 10, 1895
Samuel S. Batchelder,	"	Dec. 5, 1897
Hoyt Robinson,	"	March 28, 1900
Christopher T. Wallace,	"	Nov. 26, 1901
Samuel Rodd,	"	Nov. 12, 1902
Victor I. Moore,	"	Jan. 17, 1903
Clark D. Stevens,	"	March 7, 1893
Cordon A. Lowell,	"	Jan. 7, 1903
George E. Drury,	"	June 6, 1903

Out of thirteen officers, which constitute the force at the present time, two are stationed at Penacook, leaving eleven in the city proper for day and night duty. At no time during the twenty-four hours are there less than two men on duty in the city proper.

The night officers on the four outside beats change their beats every week, giving each officer a chance to get familiar with the outside beats and that portion of the city that they cover, which I consider is of advantage to the officers and a benefit to the public.

SPECIAL RESERVE OFFICERS.

George H. Silsby, captain,	appointed,	March 18, 1879
Orrin H. Bean,	"	Jan. 26, 1889
Willie A. Little,*	"	Jan. 27, 1885

George G. Allen,	"	Aug. 15, 1901
Elbridge F. Akeley,	"	Oct. 30, 1903
Fred S. Pendleton,	"	May 12, 1903

The statistical portion of my report, which is hereto attached, gives you a complete account of the work done by the department during the year ending December 31, 1903.

* Have been regular officers.

LODGERS.

The number of persons furnished lodgings at the police station in 1903 exceeds that of 1902. In most cases they are able-bodied, robust-looking men, whose ages range (as the table below shows) from 18 years to 80, roaming over the country, sleeping in barns and station-houses, looking for work, but never finding it.

The past season we have sent several to the house of correction for vagrancy, but the county has to board and clothe them, and it is only a vacation for them to get fed and cleaned up.

Now, the question confronts us, What shall we do with them? That question I will let some one else answer.

REMARKS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

On June 1st the regular force was increased by two additional officers. At that time there were two new beats established, one at the South end, the other at the West end. Prior to that time there had only been one officer on duty south of Pleasant street. Now the territory is covered as far south as Allison street from Main to South, which is duly appreciated by the residents in that section of the city. At the West end and in the vicinity of White park there has been a marked improvement since the streets were patrolled by an officer. And on Sunday afternoon, during the summer months, there has been an officer on duty at White park, which has been greatly appreciated by all law-abiding citizens and the public in general.

In that part of the city known as Fosterville, which is very thickly settled with the laboring class of people of different nationalities, there is no regular officer. During the summer months there has been an officer stationed there Sundays, which is all right as far as it goes. But in my opinion there should be a regular night officer on duty there all of the time.

POLICE SIGNAL SERVICE.

The present signal service is a source of some annoyance and inconvenience as it is out of working order quite a good deal, but we are in hopes of getting something better in the future.

During the past year there has been one new box (Box 16) added to the service, which is located on Center street, near the entrance of White park.

When the new buildings now being built by the Durgin Silverware company are completed and occupied, it will undoubtedly increase the population in that section of the city and I would respectfully recommend one more new box, to be located near the junction of Franklin and Rumford streets.

LOCATION OF POLICE SIGNAL SERVICE BOXES.

- Box 1, South Main and State Sts.
- Box 2, South Main and West Sts.
- Box 3, South Main and Concord Sts.
- Box 4, South Main and Pleasant Sts.
- Box 5, North Main and School Sts.
- Box 6, North Main and Park Sts.
- Box 7, North Main and Washington Sts.
- Box 8, North Main and Church Sts.

- Box 10, North State, opp. cemetery.
- Box 11, West Concord.
- Box 12, Penacook.
- Box 13, Washington and Union Sts.
- Box 14, South and Thompson Sts.
- Box 15, South and Downing Sts.
- Box 16, White park.

POLICE STATION.

The present police station was built in the year 1890 and the outside woodwork has not been painted since. Should it meet with your approval I would respectfully recommend that it be painted in the near future. The inside is in fairly good condition.

In the past year there has been a new boiler put in to take the place of the old one, which had outlived its usefulness. Hot water has been installed—something the building never had before—and is very much appreciated by the force and all others who have occasion to use it.

Cell No. 9 has been set aside and furnished with bed and bedding to be used only for women, a much needed and humane improvement.

STABLE.

Once more I will respectfully call your attention to this important matter. As I have said before, in case of fire or an accident where the ambulance is wanted quickly, or where an officer is holding a prisoner at a box half a mile away, or any other emergency calls, five minutes at that time seems an age and the horse being so far away there are more or less delays in making a quick start. I would most earnestly recommend the erection of a stable the coming season, sufficient in size to accommodate the wants of the department; also the appointment of a permanent janitor to fill the position of janitor, hostler and driver, which in my opinion would add very much to the efficiency of the department.

CRIME.

During the past year there has been only two cases of burglary where the goods taken were of much value, one in the city proper, the other in the suburbs. In the first case the guilty party was apprehended and is now serving time at the state prison. In the other case the stolen goods, which were of greater value, were found the next day after the break secreted in the woods near by and returned to the owner in a slightly damaged condition.

There have been a few other sneak robberies but the amount of property stolen was in the aggregate small and in most cases recovered.

There have also been a number of bicycles stolen, some of which have been recovered. Many of the latter class of thefts would be prevented if the owners would take the precaution to lock them when leaving them in public places, thereby saving themselves loss and annoyance.

There has also been some petty thieving among our juvenile class of offenders. The property stolen is of little value and we are in hopes the coming year to make a better report about this class of youthful offenders.

CONCLUSION.

I am pleased to commend to your attention the good work of the officers and members of the present force. They have been vigilant and attentive to their duties and have cheerfully responded to all calls made upon them for extra service, and I sincerely extend my thanks to them for the cordial support they have given me.

In concluding this report, permit me to return thanks to the honorable mayor and city council for the support you have given me; also to the board of police commissioners, judge of police court, and City Solicitor Edmund S. Cook, all of whom have been very kind, considerate and accommodating at any and all times; and to all others who have contributed to our success we extend our thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES E. RAND,
City Marshal.

REPORT OF THE SANITARY OFFICER.

To the Board of Health of the city of Concord, N. H.:

GENTLEMEN:—Complying with the provisions of the city ordinance I herewith submit my report for the year ending December 31, 1903. For statistical data I refer you to the accompanying tabulated report, mortality. The total mortality from all causes was 397, a death rate of 13.05 per 1,000 inhabitants.

The detail work of this department has not differed materially from that of former years. The work has been fully up to the standard, and, as a rule, has been prosecuted with energy and promptness.

There is, from year to year, an increasing demand upon this department in all branches of its duties. Nuisances that a few years ago no one would think of complaining about will not now be tolerated.

The greatest increase of work in any direction has been in disinfection. We are constantly being called upon to disinfect after death from various causes aside of contagious diseases.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The number of cases of diseases classed under the head of contagious occurring in the city during the year just passed was 682, an increase of 595 over the preceding year. This increase was mostly in the number of cases of measles which was 555 more than in 1902.

SCARLET FEVER.

In scarlet fever there was an increase of 33. This increase was due to an outbreak in a mild form at the Orphans' Home in Millville, and it is gratifying to report that no deaths have resulted therefrom.

DIPHTHERIA.

The total number of cases was 42, an increase of 13 over the previous year, with a mortality of 4. The outbreak of this disease at the parochial school on October 1 was of a seriously alarming nature, by reason of mild cases continuing in school, but a daily inspection of the school fully demonstrated that infected children are often permitted to attend school before their malady has been detected or determined, as can be shown by experience of the board in the past.

TYPHOID FEVER.

The record of typhoid fever is 17 cases compared with 23 in 1902, with three deaths in each year. The larger number of cases trace their origin to sources outside the city.

SMALLPOX.

There is much cause for satisfaction and congratulation in the fact that we have had but two cases of smallpox in the city during the year. As soon as these cases were reported the board immediately took complete charge of the cases, and by promptly removing the patients to the detention hospital, vaccinating all persons exposed to the contagion, and thoroughly disinfecting the premises we have prevented smallpox from obtaining a foothold.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The following table shows the number of contagious diseases reported during each month of the year and the deaths resulting therefrom :

CITY ENGINEER.

REPORT OF CITY ENGINEER.

OFFICE OF THE CITY ENGINEER,
CONCORD, N. H., December 31, 1903.

To the City Council:

The eleventh annual report of this department is herewith respectfully submitted, together with a statement of the expenditures in the city sewer precinct, the West Concord precinct, the East Concord precinct, and the St. Paul's school precinct.

With an approximate area of sixty-four square miles within the town lines, we have a population of about 20,000; 175 miles of streets and highways laid out by the proper authorities, and several alleged highways.

We have 32.651 miles of sewers in the city precinct; 3.389 miles in the West Concord precinct; 0.334 miles in the East Concord precinct; 1.212 miles in the St. Paul's school precinct, and 4.581 miles in the Penacook precinct, making a total of 42.167 miles in the city limits.

Our water-works are owned by the city and have 61.80 miles of mains.

There are 15 miles of single track, single trolley, street railway in operation, which is not owned by the city.

The work of this department has been as promptly attended to as was possible with the small force employed, and our relations with the other departments have been harmonious.

The courtesies extended by the other departments have been fully appreciated, as have also the support of the mayor and the members of the city council.

Such time as could be spared from the work under way has been spent on the general survey of the city, the general outline of which has been covered. There remains a considerable amount of work to be done in filling in details of ponds, streams, etc.

The condition of our sewers in some districts has not improved the past season, and I would renew the recommendation previously made, that some definite general plan be adopted for future additions and also for the remodeling and proper reconstruction of some of our main outlets.

The conditions in certain sections during and after ordinary rains would seem to indicate the need of some attention from the city council.

There has been deposited with the city treasurer, to the credit of the city precinct, the sum $106.22 for rent of pumps, rent of hoister, sale of material, and money paid by the Concord Street railway for changes made necessary when changing their tracks, for which the clerk of the committee on sewers and drains holds the treasurer's receipts.

The employees of this department have been Edward H. Henderson, principal assistant; Edward J. Murphy, transitman; Carl D. Kennedy, Henry Leaver, and Edward G. Underhill, rodmen, all of whom have rendered valuable assistance in their respective positions.

The expenses of the department have been as follows:

Paid engineer and assistants	$2,672.50
for supplies	121.96
car fares, postage, and express	75.32 repairs	2.11
livery	128.50
fuel	130.23
Total	$3,130.62
Appropriation	3,100.00
Overdrawn	30.62

Our appropriation would not have been overdrawn had it not been for the fuel bill, which was 160 per cent. in excess of last year's charge.

REPORT OF THE CITY LIBRARIAN FOR 1903.

To the Board of Trustees of the Concord Public Library:

Gentlemen,—The statistics for the year are as follows:

Number of volumes added, 1,100 (each entered in the A. L. A. standard accession book which requires record of date and number of accession, author, title, place, publisher, date of printing, size and number of pages, binding, source, cost, class and book number).

Of these 1,100 volumes, 716 were new works purchased; 213 were bought to replace worn-out books; 52 were bought as duplicates of popular new books; 121 came from the bindery, being volumes of magazines referred to in Poole's index; 171 were gifts from the following donors:

U. S. Government and state of New Hampshire.
Dartmouth and Harvard colleges.
N. H. Historical society.
N. H. Medical society.
American Academy of Political and Social Science.
N. H. College of Agriculture.
Carnegie institute, Pittsburg.
Ancient and Honorable Artillery company.
Mrs. Armenia S. White.
Mr. Samuel C. Eastman.
Mr. John C. Linehan.
Hon. Albert E. Pillsbury.
Elder Henry Blinn.
Mr. John C. Thorne.
Mr. S. F. Patterson.
Mr. Irving C. Tomlinson.
Mr. Fred C. Demond.
Mr. Otis G. Hammond.
Mrs. Frank Blanchard.
Mrs. Mary C. Caswell.

Mrs. D. C. Woodman.
Mrs. G. E. Jacobs.
Roy M. Grover.
Harper Bros.
Various railroad companies.

The gift from Mr. S. C. Eastman was mentioned in our local newspapers at the time of its receipt, but is of sufficient value to merit description again here. While in London Mr. Eastman picked up for this library 140 volumes of the "Revue des deux mondes," making with his previous donations of this publication a much prized file running from 1857 to 1902.

The number of books discarded because too worn for further use was 252, leaving a net gain to the library shelves of 848 volumes.

The number of new borrowers registered was 734.

The desk circulation for home reading was 84,459. In 1902 it was 88,396. We perceived a decrease in all the months as they passed, except January and June; yet this is the first year I have felt no anxiety as to what the total circulation would amount to. For it has been evident daily that more and more people are turning to the library to help them in other ways than for recreation. If it is by its reference work that a public library is justified to the tax-payers for its existence, in the past twelve months this library has made its claim good to an ample appropriation, for not only has the usual work gone on in the reference room proper, but the delivery desk has become an inquiry bureau and the desk assistants are called upon for research and intelligent answers. The mere number of books being charged last Saturday did not seem as vital as that in one group before the desk stood waiting four nurses from the state hospital for works on physiology, three machinists for late mechanical works, two Swedes for books in their native tongue, a young lady for a description of England's crown jewels, an old gentleman for a history of Colombia, a craftsman for information as to women's guilds in America, and a clergyman for the best magazine articles on the negro question.

As a matter of fact we gave out on this particular day 576 volumes, of which one third were non-fiction, a good record for a public library on Saturday when persons are accustomed to flock in after a story for Sunday enjoyment.

Of the different kinds of library it is right for ours to grow into the "laboratory" type, as the "storage" function is included in the province of the neighboring State Library.

Many libraries are reporting decreased circulation and more will so report as the multiplying duties and pleasures of modern life interfere with reading. Take our own city; are there not many in Concord who would like to read more if they were not so busy? Moreover, figures of circulation will lessen because public libraries are now doing much unrecorded work with children through the schools, and because they are buying less new ephemeral fiction, realizing that other agencies such as the Tabard Inn are furnishing much of that. What public libraries are doing, now that the net price system of the American Publishers' association has raised the prices of new books over eight per cent., is to permanently improve their collections and round out their departments by buying older literature bought from auction, second-hand and remainder catalogues.

Every year of public library work should have some new features; new shoots prove the old vine is alive. Recently we covered the table in front of the delivery desk with books, and patrons enjoy the enlarged number and range of works to select from. Culled as persistently as this collection is, we keep the supply up to 150 volumes and feel we make admirable literary chaperons, as we manage to get many a wall-flower of a book taken out.

We have joined the Booklovers library to have the right to inspect the new books there, and in order to borrow therefrom for any of our customers an expensive or morbid or transiently valuable book which we would not feel like purchasing. A well-defined path across the snow from the Booklovers shop to our School street entrance proves that though our old borrowers may come in with two Booklovers novels in one hand they still have a free one to take a fresh magazine or a standard work.

In previous reports allusion has been made to the constant use of the reference room by the various women's clubs. Honorable mention should be made also to the boys' lyceum of the high school, the members of which show unusual skill in the use of a library's resources as they look up material for their debates.

Of the new features of the year the summer branch was, however, the chief and most interesting. It was maintained by the library for two months in West Concord at a total expense of not over $25. It was open three afternoons and evenings each week during August and two afternoons and evenings each week during September. A central and sunny room was fitted with chairs, periodical table, pictures, and newspapers, and with open shelves on which were placed about 500 books. These were enjoyed at the branch and one thousand were charged to residents and taken home. Patrons varied in age from nine to 92, and all gave to the enterprise appreciation and coöperation. Children of Ward three who are able to come down to the main library not at all or but seldom learned from precept and example at the branch the library manners of hats off and low tones, and that books are not to be handled the same as bricks.

With the opening of the school term, work at the city library again taxed to the utmost the time and strength of our staff; the summer branch could not continue as an autumn one. A West Concord Reading-room association has been formed, however, to retain the pleasant quarters and at its request a weekly delivery is there made by your librarian of books from the public library.

Intermittent study of literature with the desk assistants has been kept up, and having found it the tonic we need we shall continue to spend a short time weekly in quizzes concerning authors, their works and style, using occasionally for our enlightenment library school examination papers.

This is the fourth year that we have displayed exhibits from the Library Art club and with each one the public has given fuller expression of its appreciation of this part of the library's educational work. There is space to mention the pleasure and profit derived from one exhibition only. The views were sixty fine photographs of the Forum, and they were taken to a meeting of the art department of the Woman's club, which had Roman architecture under consideration; they were studied by school scholars at the request of teachers; a teamster lingered before them after he got his pay, saying, "I wish I could spend an hour looking at those photographs"; and a little boy showed he knew they were for him too by bringing three mates into the library straight up to a view of a thrilling moment in the arena, and exclaiming, "That's my picture."

During the last few months, in spare moments at the library and at home, I have carefully looked through our file of the "Library Journal" from 1890, and 98 reports received within a couple of years from libraries ranging in size from that of Dunbarton to that of Congress. These were skimmed separately at the time of their receipt, but this collective survey brings out better the leading tendencies in the library world. It is my belief that a small librarian ought to be able to pass an examination in what is doing in the great library field, and there is much self-training possible to the country librarian through this keeping pace, by means of reading, with modern library methods. Though the first effect of cumulative reading on the subject is a feeling of discouraged humility, soon the gleaned knowledge becomes an incentive, even a lash, to urge one to attempt for one's own town what has met with success in others. The library profession is one of the newest, but firm ground is appearing for the librarian's feet; from the waves of theory and discussion as to the best ends and means, a few islands of assured conviction are emerging. Some of these, some which we trust are peaks from underlying continents of common sense, are the following:

First. A modern library is institutional like the modern church. It is nothing unusual for it to loan collections of music, to harbor a museum where curios have hung beside them references to explanatory books, to contain study rooms for classes and halls for lectures. It is supplemented by everything which will not detract from its dignity as a library and will add to its usefulness as "the adult's common school."

Second. A children's department is, like the higher education of woman, no longer a mooted question. Not only is a special place for juveniles set apart in every modern library but there are special schools for the training of children's librarians. At our summer branch we had a foretaste of what can be done with boys and girls when we get our children's room.

Third. Work with schools is a current problem only as regards the manner in which it shall be carried on. Testimony is conclusive that books sent to the school-room either to be read there or to be charged to the pupils and taken home by them instil the reading habit into children who would be reached in no other way. An able grammar school principal at our south end tells me that her smallest pupils do not get up to our main library. So far as personal strength and library material will permit, your librarian means to visit schools and leave books behind where wanted, and give when permitted ten-minute talks on how to use an index, understand a title page, handle a card catalogue, etc., etc. Many teachers already spasmodically avail themselves of our aid, but a more general and systematized relation should be striven for, and in every city the library has to take the initiative.

Fourth. Branches, or deposit libraries, or delivery stations should be maintained to accommodate tax-payers in the suburbs. We have had for about fifteen years a bi-weekly delivery of library books at Penacook, and our station at West Concord has been described above.

It seems to your librarian that it may be advisable and possible to maintain a branch each summer, transferring it yearly from one remote ward to another till all learn how to extract recreation and instruction from a public library. The experiment was tried first at West Concord because a suitable room could be rented there and because a few of the residents came to the library to ask that something of the kind be undertaken. But East Concord, Fosterville, the Plains, the south end, and White's park may be vantage points for the branch during vacation time in successive summers. Ever since the Boston & Maine made its splendid showing in our semi-centennial parade, I have felt that whereas in other cities public libraries get their books to factories, in Concord our opportunity lay in devising some way by which to furnish reading to the valued constituency employed in the railroad shops.

It would be a great mistake to let young people get books from delivery stations who could come to the main library, not only because they would find a wider range of books to choose from at the latter place, for librarians are warned not to make a fetish of the printed book; but we ought to make a fetish of law and order, and these can be impressed upon young America better in a large building imposing without and dignified and beautiful within.

Fifth. Many libraries no larger than ours have apprentice classes, the members of which serve without pay, learn the work and stand a chance of being hired when departments in the library multiply or funds increase. If some of the many who have applied for positions in this library cared to exchange hours of labor for instruction, a few months' trial would convince them whether they cared to continue in the business and would enable the librarian to see whether they had a fitness for it.

Last year's statement that we could do more and better work in enlarged quarters is even truer to-day. These, it is useless to deny, would render more help necessary. That the library is at present run on a restricted scale may be inferred from the report of another library which made a net addition of 823 volumes as against our 848, and yet requested for the ensuing year an appropriation of $20,000 as against our $5,000.

To your librarian the year has been made memorable by three days spent at the leading library school in the country. Perhaps I overestimate its value, as a rustic father who never had a college education thinks it would be the making of his son. But certainly an insight into the two years' course at Albany led me to see that even the "born" librarian better be trained.

Most libraries accomplishing our amount of work have more employees on the staff than we have. The pressure here is consequently great and increasingly wearing on the desk assistants, and I would mention gratefully the manner in which they listen to and undertake schemes of still further activity. Every one knows how trying it is to have one's work interrupted; their work is always interrupted and they are always pleasant.

I would acknowledge publicly also the constant courtesy of the trustees and their readiness to advance the best interests of the library.

I fear this august Board has not made the acquaintance of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," but the public will understand when I say that the feeling of that dear child for her pink parasol is mine for the library, "It's the dearest thing in life to me, but it's an awful care."

Respectfully submitted,

GRACE BLANCHARD.

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council:

I herewith submit for your consideration the following report of the Fire Department for the year 1903:

The department responded to sixty-seven (67) bell alarms and two hundred and eleven (211) still alarms.

In addition, three fires occurred for which no alarms were given, accounts of which are given in the order of their occurrence, and, while not included in the table of alarms, are included in the summary of loss.

	Bell.	Still.	Total.
Precinct,	40	190	230
Penacook,	19	16	35
East Concord,	6	2	8
West Concord,	2	3	5
	67	211	278

For the third consecutive year the number of alarms exceeded all previous records, Penacook being especially unfortunate in the matter of loss.

During the year a modern hose wagon, with ladders, was purchased for the Pioneer company, and the Old Fort company was provided with a hand fire alarm striker, hand truck and ladders, and two reservoirs.

Five hundred feet of hose purchased, two hundred feet destroyed by fire, and one hundred and fifty feet condemned shows the net gain to the hose complement to have been but slight.

The fall test of hose was followed by the relining of seven hundred and eighty-five feet.

I respectfully recommend the purchase of one thousand feet of hose during the coming year.

As to the further needs of the department, I can but refer your honorable body to the recommendations embodied in previous reports.

The apparatus is in good condition and no extensive repairing of the same was required.

The fire alarm telegraph system is in good condition, although, as stated in former reports, some of the circuits cover far larger areas than those familiar with the subject would recommend.

I wish to thank your honorable body for the privilege afforded me to attend the convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers, held at Atlantic City, N. J., in September, coupled with the assurance that the opportunity to learn was improved.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. GREEN,
Chief Engineer.

Still. May 26, 2:30 p. m. A call for assistance from Lakeport. At this time Kearsarge engine, Eagle wagon, 1,400 feet of hose, and detail from the department had been sent in response to the call from Loudon. Chemical engine, Kearsarge wagon, and detail from the department were engaged at the Bridge street fire. Under the circumstances it was not deemed advisable to send the usual number of men. The out of town call was therefore not given upon the bells. Engine 4, engineer and stoker, reserve reel, and 1,650 feet of hose sent.

The areas covered by the Alert and Good Will companies on first alarm were immediately enlarged.

A job wagon was converted into a hose wagon and stationed at the central station.

Unfortunately the demand for horses at the stables throughout the city had been such that none were obtainable. It was plainly evident that there was no time to dally, and horses owned by different parties were impressed into the fire service.

Chief Lane of Manchester was requested to send men and apparatus to cover the city in case of emergency and responded by sending Amoskeag first-class engine, triple hitch, hose wagon, single hitch, and full company of men.

Upon the return of men and apparatus from Loudon further aid was offered to Lakeport, but the conflagration at that time was under control. The Manchester detail returned home at 8:30 p. m.

THE FIRE ALARM TELEGRAPH.

is the "Gamewell" patent. It embraces 39 miles of wire.

On the lines are 39 fire-alarm boxes belonging to the city, and 9 private boxes,—in all 48. There are three alarm bells, one of 3,724 pounds (bell-metal), one of 3,740 pounds (bell-metal), and one of 2,000 pounds (American steel). There are also 16 mechanical tappers, 40 direct-action tappers, one four-circuit repeater, and four indicators.

The battery consists of 228 storage battery cells for the lines, and 34 open circuit battery cells for other electrical purposes.

The alarm system was installed in 1880 by the Gamewell Fire-Alarm Telegraph company.

DIRECTIONS FOR GIVING AN ALARM.

To obtain the key to the box break the glass in the key box located beneath the alarm box.

In each box there is a small bell called a "tell-tale," designed expressly for the purpose of informing you whether an alarm is being transmitted, the instant you open the door.

Open the box, and, if this bell is not heard, pull down the hook once only and let go.

But if this bell should be heard it would indicate that another box had been pulled and it would be useless to attempt to pull another until the one already pulled had performed its mission.

Wait until twenty seconds have elapsed after the "tell-tale" has stopped ringing, close the door, which will restore the armature to the position it left when the door was opened.

Open the door, pull down the hook once only and let go.

Should there be no response, pull it again.

Then, should there be no response, go to the next box.

Unless your presence is most urgently required at the scene of the fire, remain at the box to direct the department.

Never open the box or touch anything pertaining to it except in case of fire.

Never give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance.

Be reasonably sure that there is a fire before giving an alarm.

Never give an alarm for a chimney fire unless there is imminent danger of the building catching.

No person shall be a member of, or serve in, the fire department, who is under the age of twenty years, and no person whose occupation is carried on outside the city shall be appointed a member of the fire department.

Sect. 22. All applicants for membership shall be nominated by the chief engineer, and shall receive pay and be considered members of the department from the date of their confirmation by the board of mayor and aldermen.

No person shall hereafter be appointed to any position in the fire department unless and until the committee on fire department shall have certified in writing to the board of mayor and aldermen that such person has been examined by them, or under their supervision, and is in their opinion qualified to perform the duties of the position to which he is nominated.

No officer or member of the permanent, or officer of the call, force shall attend any political convention as a delegate, distribute tickets at any election, or take any part whatever in political matters other than to exercise the right of suffrage, and no political or religious discussion shall be permitted in any of the department houses.

Sect. 23. The chief engineer shall have the care and management of the rooms, apparatus, machinery, wires, poles, and signal boxes connected with the fire-alarm telegraph. He shall prepare rules and directions for giving alarms of fire through the telegraph. He shall have the superintendence, and under the direction of the joint standing committee on the fire department have control of the several stations, the apparatus, the furniture therein, and all other property appertaining to the department. He shall, with the assistance of the permanent men at the Central station, make the necessary repairs and take care of the fire-alarm system, including the batteries, all alarm boxes, and everything pertaining to the fire-alarm system. He shall personally be able to master the fire-alarm in every particular, and every permanent man at the Central station shall be obliged to understand the fire-alarm system, in order that the chief engineer may call upon any of them to attend to and repair any part of the same. This provision shall not be construed to prevent the chief engineer from employing extra linemen when necessary, or from acting promptly in any emergency.

Sect. 24. Permanent officers and men of the department shall be entitled to a vacation, without loss of pay, of fourteen days in each year, also one day per month, to be granted under the direction of the chief engineer.

Sect. 25. The joint standing committee on fire department, subject to the board of mayor and aldermen, shall by themselves or agent purchase all supplies in connection with the fire department, and direct all repairs of houses and apparatus; and all bills contracted for the department must receive their approval before being passed on by the committee on accounts and claims. They shall hold stated meetings at least once each month at the Central fire station, and all communications to the city government from the fire department must come through said committee, and annually at the call of the finance committee, in connection with the chief engineer, they shall make recommendations as to the amount of appropriations the wants of the department will require for the coming year.

Sect. 26. The city marshal and regular police officers shall have in charge all matters relating to the removal and protection of personal property endangered by fire, and any person entering a building or removing property contrary to the orders of the city marshal or such police officers, shall be fined five dollars; and in the absence of firemen at fires from their respective department houses, the policemen in that vicinity will take charge of said houses.

Sect. 27. It shall be the duty of the chief engineer to cause all snow and ice or other obstructions to be removed from and around all fire hydrants owned by the city, so that at all times the fire department can make immediate connection of the hose to the hydrants.

Sect. 28. The annual pay of the members of the fire department shall be as follows, and in full for all services:

Chief, ten hundred and fifty dollars per annum and house-rent; permanent force at Central fire station, seven hundred and twenty-eight dollars each; drivers at Good Will and Alert Hose houses, seven hundred and twenty-eight dollars each per annum, paid monthly; assistant engineers, within the precinct, one hundred and twenty-five dollars each; engineers of steamers, within the precinct, one hundred and fifteen dollars each; foremen of companies, within the precinct, each ninety dollars per annum; assistant foremen of companies, within the precinct, eighty-five dollars per annum; members of steamer, hose, and hook and ladder companies, within the precinct, eighty dollars per annum; outside the precinct, engine companies Nos. 2 and 3, two hundred and forty dollars each, and Pioneer Steamer company, No. 3, five hundred dollars; said sums to be divided among the members as each company shall direct; engineer of steamer at Penacook, seventy-five dollars per annum; assistant engineer at Penacook, twenty-five dollars; assistant engineer at East Concord, fifteen dollars; and assistant engineer at West Concord, twenty dollars.

Sect. 29. The several engineers residing in Wards 1, 2, and 3 shall have the entire care and control, under the direction of the chief engineer, of the buildings and appurtenances occupied in part by the fire department situated in said wards, respectively, to whom all applications for the use of the halls, or any other part of such building, shall be made. Said engineers may severally appoint janitors, who shall serve under the exclusive direction of the engineer having the care and control of the buildings where said janitor shall be appointed. Each of said engineers shall annually, in the month of December, render a detailed statement, in writing, to the mayor and aldermen, of all receipts and expenditures for the preceding year on account of such buildings.

Sect. 30. Stewards for the Pioneer Steamer company and engine companies Nos. 2 and 3 shall be appointed by the mayor and aldermen, and shall receive for all services performed by them in that capacity the following sums: For Pioneer Steamer company, thirty dollars per annum, and when performing the duties of janitor of the building an additional sum of forty-five dollars per annum; and for stewards of engine companies, Nos. 2 and 3, each fifteen dollars per annum. No steward shall be allowed to purchase supplies for such building, or for the department, unless by the authority and direction of the committee on fire department; and in no case shall he have any care or control of the building or its appurtenances occupied by the company of which he is a member, except in the immediate service of the company, unless he shall be appointed janitor thereof, when he shall be under the direction of the engineer, as provided in the foregoing section.

Sect. 31. The permanent men and horses at all of the fire stations in Concord shall at all times be on duty at their respective stations to attend to fire-alarm calls; and neither the permanent men nor the permanent horses connected with the fire department shall engage in any work for any other department of the city.

The men at the different fire stations shall do such work in connection with the station and apparatus as the chief engineer or his assistants may direct. All permanent men shall lodge in their respective stations (except chief), and in all cases of absence a substitute must be furnished; and in all cases when any extra service is required, the chief, with the sanction of the committee on fire department, shall have power to hire the same; the chief may also increase as far as possible the number of call men that wish to lodge at any fire station, subject to the regulations of the fire department. The chief engineer shall be furnished with a horse and wagon, to be maintained by the city, for his use at all times.

Sect. 32. All alarms for brush or forest fires shall be responded to by members of the fire department under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the chief engineer.

Sect. 33. All ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed; but such repeal shall in no wise revive or put in force any ordinance heretofore repealed, and this ordinance shall take effect upon its passage.

Passed February 11, 1902.

ADDITIONAL REGULATIONS.

Article 1. Any engine or hose company running out a line of hose from a hydrant or steamer shall be entitled to the pipe, although the hose of other companies may be attached, in order to reach the fire. And any company coming to a fire, and finding an incomplete line of hose laid out from a hydrant or steamer, shall attach to and lengthen out such line, in lieu of laying a line of its own.

Art. 2. When two or more engine companies are playing in a continuous line, the pipe shall belong to the company attaching to hydrant or steamer as provided in the foregoing article; but any company furnishing the entire line, and receiving water from a steamer, the pipe shall belong to such company so receiving.

Art. 3. Hose companies shall attach first lines to high pressure hydrants where accessible; steamers attaching to those of low pressure, or reservoir.

Art. 4. No company shall take possession of a hydrant or reservoir unless their hose and apparatus for attaching to the same are at hand and ready for use.

Art. 5. In proceeding to, working at, or returning from fires, noisy demonstrations are strictly prohibited, and it is required of officers of companies to maintain perfect order and decorum in their respective commands during all such service.

Art. 6. In case of fire the foreman first arriving shall be in command until the arrival of an engineer.

Art. 7. Drivers are strictly enjoined, in proceeding to a fire, to use the utmost care and caution consistent with promptness. Racing between companies is forbidden under any circumstances. Any collision or casualty occurring to horses or apparatus will be considered a sufficient cause for the suspension of the driver in charge at the time.

Art. 8. Fire hats are furnished by the city for the protection and identification of firemen, and they must be worn at all fires except in the severest weather, when caps may be worn.

Art. 9. While attending fires it shall be the duty of members of the department, when not performing active service, to concentrate about their respective pieces of apparatus.

Art. 10. All engine and hose companies responding to second or general alarms will connect, but will not lay their lines until they have reported to the officer in command for orders.

Art. 11. The wearing of badges shall not be regarded by members of the department as conveying to them the privilege of free access to premises after fire has been extinguished.

Art. 12. All members of the department shall address all officers by their respective titles while on duty at fires.

Art. 13. The roll of each company shall be called as soon as the apparatus is housed, and no member will be excused except in case of sickness. Rolls must be called after every alarm. No officer or member will be marked present on the company roll unless present at fires and returns to house with apparatus, unless excused by an engineer.

Art. 14. Each company shall be allowed three substitutes, except Hook and Ladder company, No. 1, which shall have five, to be approved by the chief engineer.

Art. 15. All orders issued by the chief or an assistant engineer shall be promptly obeyed. At all fires occurring in the night, the chief engineer shall be identified by a red light, assistant engineers by blue lights.

Art. 16. Members of the department are expected to cheerfully comply with all rules and regulations which are adopted or which may be adopted. Foremen will be held responsible for all lack of promptness and efficiency in their commands.

PUBLIC PARKS.

REPORT OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

The park commissioners present herewith their report for the year 1908:

The appropriations for the year were as follows:

White park	$2,500.00
Rollins park	750.00
Penacook park	100.00
Bradley park	45.00
Fiske park	30.00
Ridge avenue park	25.00
Total	$3,450.00

At White park work of a decided advance has been done. A much needed tool house has been erected, within the appropriation of $500, thus providing a convenient place in which to house the carts, seats, and the tools, many of which have had to be left exposed to the weather during the winter.

The superintendent has a room for plans, and a work room where the repairs to the seats can be made. He has kept the pond clear for skating, and has sharpened nearly 200 pairs of skates for the children.

The demand for completion of the play ground has been an embarrassing question each year, but an opportunity was offered this year by the erection of the manufactory of the William B. Durgin company. The commissioners were able to buy at a very reasonable price nearly 7,000 loads of grade. The question was brought to the commissioners for their decision, and it was unanimously decided that they could not let such an opportunity pass, for it would never occur again.

The question of funds to pay for the same was met by the payment of $752.51 from the regular appropriations, and the balance to be paid from year to year.

The condition of High street is such that the surface water instead of being rightly taken care of is thrown into the park, causing much damage and inconvenience. This should be remedied. There is an imperative need of a fence and a generous appropriation for the care and maintenance of this park, which yearly finds a larger place in the interest of the people.

The expenditures have been as follows: Labor (including salary of the superintendent), $1,508.84; shrubs and seed, $31.85; tool house, $391.77; grade, $752.51; swan, $25; incidentals, $33.77; total, $2,743.94.

ROLLINS PARK.

At Rollins park over 1,500 trees, shrubs, and hardy perennials have been planted. A new rustic bridge has been built and a well dug. The park, so unlike any other in the park system, has its peculiar advantages, and its usefulness each year demonstrates the practical development each year.

It has been suggested that the land last purchased, through which Bow brook runs, be converted into a deer park. This is feasible, and should the necessary funds be appropriated it could be carried out.

The expenditures have been: For labor, $485.77; shrubs, etc., $107.11; repairs, $78.49; fertilizer, $14; water, $10; incidentals, $60.17; total, $755.54.

PENACOOK PARK.

At Penacook park a larger amount of money could be spent to advantage, but heretofore only enough has been appropriated to in a measure keep the grounds in a respectable condition. The growing interest in boating and the beauty of the surroundings are attracting more people each year.

While the treatment of these grounds should be very simple, the shores of the pond could be much improved. We hope the appropriation will be increased.

The expenditures have been: For labor, $93.62; repairs, etc., $15.70; total, $109.32.

BRADLEY PARK.

This park was very roughly used the past season, and will consequently need a larger expenditure to bring it back.

The expenditures were as follows: Labor, $38.07; incidentals, $6; total, $44.07.

FISKE PARK.

The expenditures have been: Labor, $21.89; incidentals, $7; total, $28.89.

RIDGE AVENUE PARK.

The expenditures have been: Labor, $23.63; incidentals, $8.20; total, $28.89.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES R. CORNING, Chairman,
WILLIS G. C. KIMBALL,
BENJAMIN C. WHITE,
WILLIS D. THOMPSON,
GEORGE A. YOUNG,
GARDNER B. EMMONS,
WILLIAM P. FISKE,

REPORT OF CITY SOLICITOR.

To the City Council :

I respectfully submit the following report for the year 1903 :

On January 1st, 1903, the following suits against the city of Concord were pending : Concord Street Railway v. Concord ; Joseph Stickney v. Concord, for the abatement of taxes for the year 1900 ; Joseph Stickney v. Concord, for the abatement of taxes for the year 1901 ; Mary E. Wilder v. City of Concord.

The case of the Concord Street Railway and the two cases of Joseph Stickney are still on the docket.

The case of Mary E. Wilder was, at the time of my last report, in the supreme court for the decision of questions of law, arising on the nonsuit of the plaintiff by the superior court. This case was for the recovery of damages for personal injuries sustained by the plaintiff while traveling on Spring street in Penacook by reason of an alleged defect in said street. The plaintiff was traveling on Spring street after dark, and fell into a ditch which the owner of the adjoining premises had dug across the sidewalk that afternoon for the purpose of relaying his sewer pipe. This case came on for trial by jury at the October term of the superior court. At the close of the plaintiff's opening statement, I moved that the plaintiff be nonsuited. The motion was granted and the plaintiff excepted. The case was transferred to the supreme court. I filed a brief in this case and argued it orally at the March session, 1903, of the supreme court. At the June session of the supreme court I was notified by the court as follows : "No. 228, Wilder v. Concord. The questions presented are important. One member of the court was not present at the oral argument. In order that all the justices may take part in the decision, reargument of the case is requested at the September session." At the September session of the supreme court this case was reargued orally by Mr. D. F. Dudley for the plaintiff, and by me for the city. At the October session of the supreme court the decision of the court was announced overruling the plaintiff's exceptions; that is, the court decided that the nonsuit was properly granted. This finally disposed of the case in favor of the city. This case was a very important one, and involved the consideration to be put upon the highway of law passed by the legislature in 1903. The decision in this case is far reaching and limits the actions which can be brought against towns for damages resulting from defective highways.

I have during the year prosecuted many criminal cases for the police department before the police court. I have also, as usual, given advice and assistance when required to the various departments of the city government, and to committees and members of the city council.

Respectfully submitted,

EDMUND S. COOK,

City Solicitor.

RECEIPTS.

One half of the receipts from the sale of lots is added annually to the permanent fund. The remaining half, with the amount received for grading of lots sold, together with the amounts received from sundry collections, and income of permanent fund, are added each year to the annual appropriation. The amounts expended on trust funds are paid on a special order from the mayor from the income of individual deposits made with the city for that purpose, said income being used exclusively for the care of the lot specified in each trust.

I hereby certify that I have examined the foregoing accounts of William F. Thayer, city treasurer, for the year 1903, and find all items of receipt and expenditure therein properly recorded and authenticated by appropriate vouchers, and the several items correctly cast and the cash balance to be nineteen thousand four hundred and seventy-seven dollars and sixteen cents ($19,477.16), and as treasurer of the city water department, cash balance to be six thousand one hundred ninety-five dollars and twenty-four cents ($6,195.24).

I have also verified the account of the trust and sinking funds of the city, and find such trust and sinking funds invested and the income thereof, for the year 1903, accounted for, as shown by the book of the city treasurer, kept for that purpose.

OF

CONCORD, N. H.,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1905.

To the People of Union School District:

The Board of Education herewith presents its forty-fifth annual report, embracing the financial year from March, 1904, to March, 1905.

We are glad to commend to your favorable consideration the schools under our charge, which will, we are assured, compare favorably with those of any other locality, both in the amount and quality of the work done.

The crowded condition of some of the school buildings necessitates added accommodations in the immediate future. The new Harriet P. Dame school on the Plains has relieved the congestion in that growing section. But the high school has so outgrown its present quarters,—every available space aside from the coat-rooms being now used,—that a new building is an immediate necessity to ensure even acceptable results.

That part of the district surrounding the Merrimack and Walker schools is also in need of much larger facilities, while in the West Concord section the present building is far from adequate.

For that portion between Downing street and Rollins Park larger accommodations are needed to properly house the increasing number of children. The growing interest in manual training and the great possibilities of that branch of instruction suggest urgent need of more shop room in order that proper instruction be given and corresponding work done by the pupils. This is a very important and popular part of our school system and should not be neglected. These matters we urge upon the careful consideration of the district.

The Chandler building is now used as the official quarters of the board, the superintendent and financial agent, also for the sewing and cooking schools.

The commercial work in the high school is developing naturally and as rapidly as the space will allow, and is destined to be very popular. Bookkeeping, now under the charge of Miss Bentley, is holding the interest of the pupils in a marked degree and should be immediately followed by stenography and typewriting. Quarters for the latter may be temporarily secured in the boys' coat-room.

A commendable feature has been introduced by Principal Doring, whereby certain afternoons are used for conferences between the high school teachers and parents, that the latter may come into closer touch with the school and become better acquainted with the standing and needs of their children.

The domestic science course is proving its usefulness and commanding interest among both pupils and parents throughout the district. Gratifying evidence of the approval of this work in the homes of the girls who take it has been received.

With many of the incidentals of the school system the superintendent's report will deal.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES R. CORNING,
JOHN M. MITCHELL,
SUSAN C. BANCROFT,
EDWARD N. PEARSON,
JOHN E. ROBERTSON,
ELLA H. J. HILL,
GEO. M. KIMBALL,
JOHN VANNEVAR,
ALICE M. NIMS,

Board of Education of Union School District.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON BUILDINGS AND REPAIRS.

Buildings and Repairs Committee submit their report for year April 1, 1904, to March 31, 1905 :

Furnaces taken out and larger ones substituted at West Concord schoolhouse. Old furnaces replaced by new and larger ones at Cogswell school. One furnace taken out from West Concord building and set up at Cogswell school for hall heater. Superintendent's office, cooking and sewing schools moved to the Chandler building. Chandler building overhauled and put in condition for occupancy. Former superintendent's office at high school made into school-rooms. Office of financial agent fitted up for principal of high school. Former principal's office arranged for storage room for biological laboratory. Cases of stuffed birds taken from biological laboratory to the Dewey school in order to obtain more floor space. Physical laboratory changed to schoolroom and fitted with desks. Cooking-school room fitted up for physical laboratory. Steam radiators put into two rooms. Second floor Dame school finished by committee. As no appropriation was made for this work and it was necessary to have the additional room, the expense of same was met by using a part of the special repair fund and the balance from the general appropriation. In the four rooms of the Kimball school all desks, chairs and furniture were scraped and refinished. The numerous necessary small repairs were made during the year to furnish sewers, closets, etc.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO CONFER WITH COUNTY DELEGATION.

The committee on the part of the Board of Education, in pursuance to a vote of the Union School District meeting, held in May, 1903, beg to submit this report:

The committee was instructed to confer with the county delegation relative to a mutual exchange or sale of the high school lot and building and the court house lot and building. Plans had been prepared by the committee showing a complete adaptation of the school building for county uses, and copies were given to the delegation.

In response to a request from your committee, the chairman of the county delegation appointed a committee to meet us and discuss the project. The members of that committee were Marcellus Gould of Penacook, Charles F. Ayers of Pittsfield and Barron Shirley of Franklin. The two committees met at the state house. Our instructions directed us to ascertain whether an exchange of property could be brought about and, if so, upon what terms. In view of the fact that neither committee was given any power to act definitely in the matter or to do anything other than to confer, it was finally agreed that the county committee should examine the high school and report to a meeting of the county delegation, to be held a week later at the county farm. Upon the opinion expressed by the delegation depended the negotiation.

The county committee made its report and the matter was discussed. Your committee was duly notified that the opinion of the delegates was emphatically opposed to any exchange with Union School District and that no further conference was deemed advisable.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Board of Education of Union School District:

The manner of conducting the work outlined for the elementary schools has followed closely that of the preceding years. The application of all who have the execution of this work in charge has been faithful and in most cases efficient.

What has been accomplished in the high school is set forth in the report of the principal, which appears later.

The character of our school work is still based upon the traditional lines of the academic education. The work of the new century, stimulated by the invention, scientific discovery and commercial development of the last, will be largely of other impulses and other objects. The old academic idea will be succeeded and measurably supplanted by a new education representing industrial progress and improved social conditions.

During the past year the cause of education in this district has suffered an irreparable loss in the death of Dr. Shadrach C. Morrill, a former member of the Board of Education. Dr. Morrill served the district for many years in a faithful and efficient manner. It having been my valued privilege to know him and work with him in some of his various capacities, I mourn his loss as a personal friend and as a sincere, capable educator, who had no superior in his limited field. His friendship was firm, faithful and just; as strong in storm as in calm and swayed by no wrongful impulses nor political exigencies. When once his stand was taken upon any matter which interested him his deductions were based upon intelligent analysis. and his persistent nature seldom failed of carrying his object to a successful termination. As long as kindergartens, manual training, improved sanitation, heating and lighting prevail in our school policy, just so long will his name be remembered and his praises sung.

ATTENDANCE.

The last yearly tabulation shows a decrease of five in the annual enrollment over the previous year. The high school has an increase of twenty-four, the grammar schools an increase of forty-two, the primary schools a decrease of one hundred ten and the kindergartens an increase of thirty-nine.

The cases of tardiness have shown the following variations: The high school an increase of sixty-five per cent., the grammar schools a decrease of one per cent., the primary schools an increase of two per cent. The average daily attendance has increased one per cent. The attendance at the high school shows only a normal gain. In 1895 the enrollment is recorded as three hundred two. This evidently was abnormal, but, taking the average attendance for three consecutive years as a basis, the average increase per year for the last ten years has been nine. I do not discover anything which is likely to cause an unusual increase in the attendance of the elementary schools in the immediate future. The average increase in the number of pupils per year for the last twenty years has been about fifty, or rather more than one additional school per year. If this ratio continues—as it probably will—the provision for more room will constantly engage the attention of the board. The attendance has been regulated with a view to economy and efficient work.

SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS.

It is one thing to have sufficient school room in the aggregate and another to regulate its distribution so that we may even approximate the best conditions for consummating the work. The room required for working the schools under the most favorable conditions and securing for them the scheme best suited to promote their interests has not been realized for fully twelve years. It is desirable that all children eligible for the primary classes should attend school two sessions each day. In buildings where there are kindergartens this cannot be done with the rooms arranged as they are now. To bring it about will require at least six more rooms, an additional teaching force and in some instances the removal of the kindergarten to other quarters. I think that in some of the buildings extra room can be furnished to expedite this plan. I refer particularly to the Dewey and Franklin buildings. There should be a new building at West Concord to satisfy the wants of that district, relieve the pupils from poorly lighted rooms and furnish the kindergarten more desirable quarters. It is possible to facilitate matters still further by using some of the vacant buildings for kindergartens. In rooms thus rendered available for primary work, tables and chairs can be used instead of desks to lessen expense. I believe these changes should be made gradually.

In connection with this subject I am constrained to say that the most economical buildings, both as regards accommodation and the expense of running them, are those which contain eight rooms or more. I do not advise the erection of a building anywhere of a less number of rooms, if intended for many grades, unless it be so constructed as to admit of additions which will not impair its usefulness nor mar the beauty of its architectural design. Much care should be exercised in locating new buildings. If the district is apart from the compact portion of the city, the center of population of that district present and probable should be taken into account to avoid increasing long distances of travel for the pupils.

It is much easier to regulate the attendance with buildings far apart than too near together. Two eight-room buildings for a given area are more serviceable than four four-room buildings for the same area. It is now apparent that the Dewey building should have had eight rooms and that the Cogswell building should have been located farther south. Both were suggested at the time of their construction.

We should be furnished at once with ample accommodations for manual training. Sewing and cooking are well provided for but the wood- and iron-work is hindered almost beyond sufferance. The classes are too large and the mid-year promotions offered forty-six more pupils who could be granted no privileges for this work.

In the high school, conditions will prevail in two years which the present building cannot meet successfully. It is more than probable that in 1907 there will be between 400 and 450 pupils in this school. Looking over the attendance for the past forty years, I find a peculiar sequence of variation. Every other decade, beginning with the second, has shown a smaller per cent. of increase. The attendance for the last decade was much smaller than that for the one immediately preceding. Following this sequence, the next ten years will show a large increase. It is well to anticipate the construction of a new building by a careful consideration of the needs of the modern high school. I believe nothing short of a new building will be satisfactory from the viewpoints of economy and modern educational needs. The amount of money expended should be sufficient to finish, furnish and equip a building to accommodate six hundred or more pupils. This sum should not be so large as to imperil the future growth of the city, but should be expended chiefly upon the interior to make the working arrangement perfect in every detail. In view of the prospects it is none too soon to take such action as will look to the early erection of a building adequate for the needs of the district for many years to come.

The new Harriet P. Dame school at Concord Bluffs was opened in September with three rooms in use, averaging about twenty-five pupils to a room. The conditions here are much improved. What they were may be inferred from the fact that the average age of last year's sixth grade pupils was about sixteen years, or four years below grade.

Only two M classes have been maintained in the compact part of the district, about fifty pupils in each. This number is too large for these schools and should be reduced to forty at the most and more reasonably thirty. Conditions next year will call for another school of this grade. Attention should be paid to the proper location of these schools, that more reasonable territorial divisions may be observed. Pupils would be better accommodated if the Walker, Kimball and Rumford buildings each had graduating classes.

KINDERGARTENS.

If it is deemed best to provide for the better accommodation of the primary classes next year, the effective work of our kindergartens should not be imperilled thereby. To abolish them would be neither wise nor popular, because their value is fully established in saving the average pupil one year's time in the primary classes. The cost of the kindergarten—the point always at issue—lies chiefly in the salary of the teacher, all other expense after the first cost being only about thirty cents a year per pupil. A study of the following table will enable one to make a just comparison of the relative cost based upon the teachers' salaries for the last ten years:

	Increase in cost of salaries.	Increase in pupils.	Average cost per pupil.
High school.....	75.16%	6%	37½% incr.
Grammar and pri- mary schools	15.46%	13.14%	13.32% “
Kindergartens	372.70%	390%	27-10% decr.

A committee recently appointed by the New England Superintendents' Association reported quite fully upon the subject of the kindergarten. Two of the questions and answers which appeared in the report follow and speak for themselves:

1. "Should every school system recommend the kindergarten?"

"Yes."

2. "When it comes to a financial question, where should you lop off?"

"If this question refers to the entire system, I should certainly not lop off at the kindergarten end but should curtail the higher education."

That many places, in a spasm of economy, abolished the kindergarten as an expedient, counts for less than it would were it not for the fact that in some cases public opinion forced their reinstatement. This shows a healthy condition of the public mind in appreciating the value of a system which is doing a definite work in the educational world. Not that the kindergarten is free from faults more than any other grade of public school work, but, aside from some bigotry, Froebel worship and other minor faults, the ethics of the kindergarten alone has a wholesome influence upon children that nothing but death can take from them. In addition it offers a decided increment to the acquisition of all forms of knowledge that the child is to acquire later in his school life.

SCHOOL EXPENDITURES.

The item of school expenditures interests the public because it forms a considerable part of the general public expense. From the viewpoint of the city's assessed valuation the school tax is large. Union School District stands sixth in the list of special districts of the state as regards the tax rate per $1,000 of assessed valuation, and Concord stands first in the list of cities. The reason for the last lies partly in the fact that District No. 20 has a rate which is fifty-eight per cent. higher than that of Union District and one hundred and twenty-two per cent. higher than that of the Town District. If the rate of taxation in Union District is large it is because the money has been spent with good judgment in improving the conditions of sanitation, heating and lighting buildings, in retaining the services of competent teachers and in keeping the schools up to a condition satisfactory to the most progressive part of the population. At that nothing seems to have been introduced or maintained that could be reasonably dispensed with and still sustain a strong, life-giving growth in educational matters. The city will continue to grow, the expense will grow, and the only course to pursue is to avoid waste and keep the schools up to the standard. The measure of a city's prosperity is due in no small degree to the character of the instruction which its schools furnish. In this respect its fame is spread over such an extended area as to give an inquiring public a true idea of the social conditions which prevail in our city, conditions which cannot fail of calling to our resident population such accessions as are desirable and permanent, even though the tax rate may be somewhat higher than that of other cities. Such a population has always been characteristic of Concord, and it can be maintained in no better way than by offering a high standard of public instruction.

DISCIPLINE.

The best asset an educational system can have is a wholesome discipline in its schools. The discipline of a room is determined by the governing power of the teacher; that of the building by the governing power of the principal. If this power be wanting, all known schemes of self-government, school councils, etc., will be worse than useless and school morale, efficient work and general progress will be scattered to the four winds.

The varied experience of a quarter of a century has revealed the short-sightedness of many parents, many teachers, the faults of many schools and many school systems; an experience which places one in a position to speak positively in regard to the value of a teacher who is strong in discipline. If the home, the school, the church, the workshop and the country at large were enabled to speak they would testify overwhelmingly in favor of such a teacher.

The parent for the time being transfers his parental authority to the teacher. In doing this he has a right to demand that his child share equally the rights and privileges accorded to other children, and not be unjustly used because his circumstances are not as easy as those of his classmates or because his mental capacity is not quite normal. He has a right to ask that his child be guided by a firm, kind, judicious discipline, which eschews all sentiment, panders to no patronage, stands firmly for the right at all hazards and has a standard to offer that merits the commendation of all right-minded people. The discipline should be of such force and character as to extend beyond the day's work, beyond the school, to the home and all other avenues which lead to social and moral uplift. A teacher has no right to shirk even implied responsibility, but always lend a saving hand to the reclamation of the youth from destructive influences and offer substantial aid in sustaining the good name of our schools.

A YEAR'S WORK.

The results accomplished by all the departments of school work, as far as I can determine, have been satisfactory. It is not necessary to go into minute detail, a short summary being sufficient. The teachers have attended the sessions of the Merrimack Valley Teachers' Association at Suncook and Manchester, and the State Teachers' convention at Concord. The Concord Teachers' Association has again demonstrated its usefulness by an excellent programme of lectures and social meetings.

The scheme of semi-annual promotion is popular and efficient. If we can have rooms and teachers enough to eliminate more than two classes in a room it will be ideal.

The study of arithmetic was continued for an additional half-year in class M and word study introduced.

Elementary bookkeeping was asked for by the teachers of the Rumford and West Concord M classes, English division, and excellent results are apparent.

The course in history has been revised for all the grades.

The instruction in music gives evidence of greater accuracy and improved tone qualities. The work in the first six classes is somewhat better than that of the succeeding classes. This is a logical condition but it in no wise excuses the upper grades from better work. Music should be taught as carefully as any other study because it counts materially in a child's standing in his class. The degree of success realized will be commensurate with the standard which a teacher is willing to accept.

The high school concert, given last May, produced Hayden's oratorio of "The Creation." This was the first time it was ever attempted by a high school chorus in the state.

The director recommends the use of the pianola in the high school for teaching musical classics and elevating the musical taste. I think the suggestion timely and worthy of a trial.

The training school has six pupils in the primary normal class and three pupils in the kindergarten normal class. The regularity of the work of the rooms has been somewhat disturbed by changes in the corps of teachers. It seems urgent that in this building, at least, the primary pupils should attend school all day to offer the best conditions for the normal training.

The work in drawing, though below the standard, increases in strength each year. The instructor wishes the time for each school increased from one hour to one and a half hours a week. The high school classes accomplish as much as can be expected of them with the meagre facilities which the building furnishes. Many students are devoting hours of extra time to drawing, which shows vital interest and a consequent progress.

The cooking school has had a most successful year. The new quarters in the Chandler building furnish better air, light, sunshine, sanitation and a more wholesome atmosphere. Formerly but sixteen pupils could be accommodated at one time, but now the maximum number is twenty-five. There are twelve more pupils enrolled than last year. Classes L and M of the lower schools and class four of the high school are pursuing the work which is planned and executed for educational and practical value.

The introduction of model work in sewing and the consequent change of quarters from the one central point to the regular rooms is proving satisfactory. This affects all classes except those of the high school and the M grammar classes. The system is perfectly planned and well executed.

Wood- and iron-work has lost none of its popularity, the usual good work and interest being manifested. I have spoken of the needs of this department previously.

Military drill in the high school is reported to be as efficient as ever. The prize drill and field day, annual events, occurred as usual. Revised infantry drill regulations have been adopted to conform to the regular service, our battalion being the first in the state to adopt them. The number of uniformed cadets increases each year, but the arms and accoutrements are not sufficient for complete work. The instructor asks for longer drill periods.

The plan of relieving the grades of too much work has been pursued with much satisfaction to all. In connection with this subject, permit me to say that it is not advisable that pupils below class K should be assigned work of any kind to be done at home. Five hours a day upon school work is long enough for children of these ages, and the remaining time can be spent to better advantage in exercise out of doors. This is true also of classes K and L, except a limited amount of home reading for a better understanding of the approved works of standard authors.

The work of class M calls for a limited amount of home study. This being essentially a high school grade, such work is not out of place and obtains generally throughout the country.

A decided improvement is shown in mathematical reasoning, in general culture, in independent thought and in expressing those thoughts naturally and spontaneously.

General culture is strengthened by the dignity of the standard literature required by the course. A better command of the English language has been realized to some extent by attempting to make the correct use of the mother tongue a matter of habit. Were it not for the pernicious vernacular of the street, correct speech in the school would be easy of accomplishment.

A new plan for reading has been tried in classes K and L with success. More time is given to reading as an art, the work in literature being done partly by home reading. This scheme has great possibilities. The pupil gains in independent thought and power. The plan tends to keep the pupil at home nights. He is held responsible for reproduction and etymology. He is given abundant practice in the use of the dictionary. He is guided along lines of standard literature. The plan tends to elevate the tone of the family reading. Some of these things have already come to my notice and the future should prove the wisdom of the scheme.

Each pupil in classes E to K inclusive has been furnished a record book in which to keep his every-day observations in nature study for future reference. This work has proved to be very popular with the pupils, many having purchased extra books for summer use. The laws against killing birds and destroying their eggs and young have been printed on the covers so that they may become more widely distributed and more generally known than they are now.

Our schools are not perfect but they are good and conscientiously managed. If they have faults, as undoubtedly they have, the faults should be sought, discovered and remedied without delay. There is never time in the history of any system of schools when the spirit of progress is out of place. They always need the stimulus of new ideas from the young blood of the growing generation of our growing nation. Whatever success they may have achieved in the past has been due in no small degree to the community of interests which has ever manifested itself in the educational work of Concord. The tremendous power of a common purpose to accept nothing but the best, to treat the subject of educational opportunity and educational privilege in the light of a sacred trust and to reject nothing which would redound to the success and credit of our schools—this power has furnished the impetus for success. The elementary schools at least are a boon to the poor man granted him by the generous laws of a liberty-loving people. This privilege should be jealously guarded from every destructive influence that is prone to creep into public school matters. The standard of work can never be too high for any man's child. The common school is the most powerful agency by which native ability is allowed to develop for sustaining our civil institutions and enjoying those opportunities which our constitution vouchsafes to all men, whether they be possessed of great wealth, a modest competence or the humblest of homes.

Respectfully submitted,

L. J. RUNDLETT,
Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Mr. L. J. Rundlett, Superintendent of Schools:

DEAR SIR: There has been no especial improvement in the congested conditions, notwithstanding the two additional rooms and the somewhat smaller number of tuition pupils. Yet in the work of the year good progress has been made. No effort has been spared to stimulate a high degree of interest and the teachers have special afternoons each week to help any who may wish to consult them.

From the beginning of the year systematic encouragement has been given to the backward. By interviews with parents and individual instruction an improvement has been made in a majority of cases, and it is hoped that the number of complete failures will be reduced to a minimum.

A striking feature of the elective system has been the large numbers enrolling in the traditional studies. As early as the beginning of the second semester conferences have been held to select the studies suited to individual cases. A course is being planned for those intending to enter the training school, in which everything possible will be done to add to the equipment of the prospective teacher.

The work of the special teachers has progressed smoothly and in each department the results are substantial.

The number of college preparatory pupils is steadily increasing, and the course of study is designed to give to those who select their college in season every facility for the most thorough training.

Applied bookkeeping or business practice has already produced marked results. As it is confined to the well-grounded pupils of the junior and senior classes the principles have been readily grasped and the progress rapid. Half of the members of the graduating class of over sixty elected the subject and the record of an unusually high average rank is matched by the significant fact that there has not been a single instance of total failure.

Even in the face of the present crowded conditions, I hope that the introduction of stenography and typewriting will not be postponed beyond the opening of another year. There is bound to be an increase, and if the pupils cannot take these subjects they must elect other branches. In either case there must be an additional teacher who may as well be employed in giving instruction which will be of incalculable value to our boys and girls. The boys' dressing room can be utilized for typewriting by substituting hall wardrobes, and, as a final expedient, the remaining space in the forward part of the hall can be filled with regular desks.

The interest that the pupils take in the commercial course—feeling as they do, that they are getting what will be of practical value in future years—proves the demand that exists. In meeting this demand the high school will only be giving these pupils the proportion which is their due.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK W. DORING,

Principal.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF SCHOOL DISTRICT No. 20.

The history of the work of the past year is quickly told. It has been in some respects a year of beginnings, of the development of plans which require time and the benefit of working experience for their perfection. The completion of the new school building and the successful undertaking of a year of high school work make the record of the year unusual in the history of our district.

The reports of the building and finance committees and of the treasurer, which accompany this report, give the essential facts in connection with the erection and furnishing of the new school building. With the completion of the new building the bonded debt of the district is $13,800, and there is no other debt.

The Summer Street school building is in better sanitary condition than ever before. Modern automatic flush closets have been substituted for the ancient and unsanitary troughs which had been in operation for many years. This work was done by Isaac Baty. The contract price was $246.85. The basements are now in good condition. Extraordinary alterations and repairs will not be needed this year. This does not mean that no forward steps in sanitary and hygienic reform will be taken. We have but made a beginning and the work must be vigorously pushed. Faulty conditions of school life still exist, which tend to interfere with the health and development of our children and they can only be eliminated by persistent work year after year. The idea that a building once made sanitary will always remain so, and that hygienic conditions of school life once obtained will never be lost, is pernicious. Trained, watchful, intelligent activity is the price of ideal conditions.

Our new school building is a beautiful specimen of school architecture and the grounds surrounding it should be made as beautiful as possible.

As a large amount of money would be required to do this work in a satisfactory and artistic manner, it seems advisable to do a little each year as the school funds will allow and in accordance with a carefully defined plan which could be followed from year to year until the whole is accomplished.

Clarence A. Davis has kindly consented to furnish such plans which will be carefully followed and some work will be done this year.

The interior of our school buildings also demand the attention of every lover of his kind in the district. The walls, which are mostly bare, should be used for art educational purposes. The general appreciation of real art and artistic decoration would be greatly increased if we could make the walls of our schoolrooms educational along these lines and thus reach the children. It should be remembered that many of them will never get instruction of this kind in any other way. As the most feasible means to this end, without drawing on the public money, the board decided that the school should give an entertainment, the proceeds of which should be used for the purchase of works of art for the new building.

It is our purpose to continue this work from year to year, according to a carefully prepared plan, which future boards can continue if they so desire. It is our intention to include both buildings in this plan.

The schools are steadily attaining a higher standard and are pervaded by a spirit of unity and ambition which far exceeds anything we have known in the past. One year of high school work has contributed in a large measure to this end. No careful student of our educational conditions can doubt that the time has become ripe for such a movement, which should result in providing all the high school privileges possible in our own village.

But little need be said of the work already attempted. It will vouch for itself. The need of today is more than a continuance of the successes of the past. True progress never reaches its ideal, but is compelled to press on to larger and higher attainments. This community will do well to foster an active and widespread desire for a forward movement in everything pertaining to our educational interests in order that we may look forward with confidence to the work of the coming years.

LEANDER C. PRESCOTT,
HENRY A. BROWN,
HENRY C. HOLBROOK,

Board of Education.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

To the Board of Education:

I herewith respectfully submit my fourth annual report, which is the fourth in the series of reports of the superintendent of schools in District No. 20, Penacook. During the year the schools have enjoyed greater prosperity than ever. To be sure, many steps, very important to the improvement and development of our school system, for good reasons have not been taken. Some things, however, have been done and those have been of great importance to the educational interests of the district. The success of public institutions depends largely upon the citizens who form the public and, whatever has been the success of the schools during the year, it is due to those who have been actively interested in the local educational work. This same helpful attitude will in the near future bring about other changes which are greatly needed.

IN GENERAL.

During the year the course of study has been somewhat changed and reprinted. The general development of methods and constant change in the subject-matter taught tend incessantly to deviation from a printed course of study. A course of study should not be considered a definite limitation for teachers but a guide and standard which, to be sure, should generally be followed but may be deviated from whenever there is a reasonable chance for improvement.

At present special attention is being given to the subject of reading. The Gordon system is being used with good success. Both books of the series will be read before the children do much, if any, supplementary reading. In this way they will obtain a thorough knowledge of the fundamental principles early in their school life and be able to read for information and pleasure rather than merely drill.

At the old building some important improvements and repairs have been made. The interior has been painted and new lavatories have been placed in the basements. The lavatories are a great improvement from a sanitary point of view. These changes have put the building in a much better condition and made it safer for the health of the children.

The present teaching force is for the most part composed of earnest, hard-working, competent teachers. They do their work cheerfully, systematically and in perfect harmony. They are conscientiously laboring for the welfare of their schools and the community.

At the end of the winter term last year, Miss Mildred E. Emery, a teacher of experience and ability, resigned to be married. Miss Henrietta L. Otterson was elected to fill the vacant position. Miss Otterson is a graduate of the State Normal school and has had considerable experience. At the opening of the fall term Mr. Atwell was given the two highest classes. The next three classes made two large schools, requiring one extra teacher. Miss Elizabeth G. Saunders was engaged for this position and Mrs. Lillian J. Chase to fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Miss Katherine M. McLaughlin.

Another fall, as the new building is already used to nearly its full capacity and only seven children will go out from the high school, it may possibly be necessary to place all or a part of the fifth grade in the old building under the charge of an extra teacher. The schools at present show an average enrollment of about forty-two. In case a large class enters, some provision must be made for the extra number of pupils.

SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

During the fall term it seemed best that the pupils of the new building should give an entertainment, the proceeds of which should go for decorating the interior of the building. The co-operation of Miss Chandler, supervisor of music, was secured, and under her charge the work of preparation began. After much hard labor a pleasing entertainment was presented at the hall, March 2. The programme passed off smoothly and apparently to the satisfaction and enjoyment of the large audience present. The pupils who took part and the teachers who directed them should receive the hearty commendation of the district.

Such entertainments, given by school children, if they do not occur too often, are of great value. They help to develop the children along certain lines and often bring out much individual talent. Then, too, the drill which is necessary to gain success teaches the children its lesson of perseverance, while the philanthropic object of furnishing something pleasing to many others as well as themselves cannot fail to have a moral influence for good. On the whole the entertainment was successful, both financially and educationally.

NEW BUILDING.

Since the last annual report a new school building has been erected. It is in every respect a modern, well equipped, up-to-date schoolhouse. Its basements and lavatories are well arranged and have the most improved sanitary equipment. Heat is furnished by both direct and indirect systems. The capacity of the indirect system is sufficient to furnish good ventilation and, under moderate temperature, heat for the entire building. The blackboards are slate. The new adjustable desks are the best on the market. In fact, everything about the building is of superior quality. Certainly the citizens of District No. 20 may well be proud of their new schoolhouse and thankful to the building committee, whose faithful work and careful supervision have brought about such excellent results.

Naturally the building lacks somewhat in interior decoration. It will take time and money to make its walls as beautiful and artistic as they should be. However, under the supervision of a thoughtful committee the money obtained from the school entertainment given the second of March by the older children of the district, will add a great deal to the attractiveness of the interior. Great care should be used in spending money for decorative purposes. All should be done according to some systematic plan. Such decorations as pictures and statues should generally be classic and always artistic and appropriate to the educational uses of the building.

About the building are extensive grounds. These should be much improved. Parts near and in front of the building should be graded and grassed over. Walks and driveways should be laid out and concreted. The playgrounds, situated a little apart from the building, should be graded and prepared for baseball, football or any other manly out-of-door sport. These ample grounds furnish the best opportunity for beauty of lawn and pleasure.

When the building was finished it was thought best to use its entire capacity and shut up two of the upper rooms of the old building. This placed the four schools above the fourth grade in the new building.

HIGH SCHOOL.

In the last report it was strongly recommended that the first year of a high school course be established. The matter was voted upon favorably at the annual March school meeting, the approval of the state superintendent was obtained and in the fall the school was opened with Mr. W. B. Atwell as principal. In the opinion of those who have made a careful study of the school problems of the district, the high school has already justified its existence. This year the class has not been large, numbering about seven, but another year there will be a class of about fifteen. The work was carefully planned in advance and is being thoroughly carried out.

As it was expected that many of our first-year pupils would go eventually to the Concord High School to continue their studies, the course of study was based to a large extent upon that of the school for which the pupils are fitting. Many thanks are due to the officials of the Union District for their kind suggestions in regard to the course of study and plan of work, which will make the transition from our school to the Concord school much easier than it would otherwise be.

The expense of establishing the high school has been about what was estimated a year ago and was comparatively small. Mr. Atwell, being a college graduate, has been able to do the work satisfactorily in connection with his ninth grade work. The work now done by our ninth and high school classes is of a very high grade and is on a par with the first and second years of the majority of high schools in the state. This fact would be important should the district ever contemplate extending its course of study to cover four years of a regular high school. There are conditions under which such an extension of the course might be feasible. Should District No. 7, Boscawen, and District No. 20, Penacook, naturally so favorably located for union, ever come together for school purposes, or even if the number of the children in District No. 20 alone increases sufficiently, the demand for more advanced work would result in a complete high school course.

One year added has been a step in the right direction. Better opportunities are offered to more children and thereby the educational interests of the community have been furthered and the possibilities for greater individual usefulness on the part of many have been extended. The higher the standard of the schools of any locality, the better educated and more cultivated the community becomes.

ENROLLMENT.

The enrollment of our pupils is very interesting and may have an important bearing upon the future of our high school. The fact specially referred to is the increase in the higher grades, showing the tendency of the older children to remain in school. There are two causes for this. One is, that recent legislation compels pupils to remain in school until they are at least fourteen years of age. The other is, that more inducement in the line of advanced work is offered.

Four years ago, when my work in District No. 20 began, the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades, numbering about fifty-five, were seated in one room. At present the same grades number about one hundred, showing an increase of about one hundred per cent. There could be no better proof of the prosperity and success of our schools.

KINDERGARTEN.

Each of the last three annual reports has recommended the establishment of a kindergarten. The need of such a class has by no means diminished. At present, however, the conditions are more favorable for its immediate establishment than ever before. There is plenty of room in the old building for such a class, so there would be no extra expense for accommodations. Furthermore, a new teacher will doubtless be required another year. Then why not employ a kindergartner? This would arrange for the extra pupils by reducing the number in the first grade. The others could be somewhat regraded and accommodated by the same number of teachers as now. I earnestly hope that this recommendation will receive the attention of the citizens and school board of the district.

CONCLUSION.

It is hoped that the present prosperity will continue through the coming year and the continued support of the community will help to this end. Many thanks are extended to those who have assisted by their kind words or deeds to make possible the developments of the past year.

I take this opportunity to thank the Board of Education for their support and interest. Their personal attention has added much to the pleasure and efficiency of the educational work.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF BUILDING COMMITTEE, SCHOOL DISTRICT No. 20.

At a special meeting of School District No. 20, held May 14th, 1903, a special building committee was appointed and empowered to purchase three lots of land on Charles street, known as the Holden, Chase and Whitaker lots, also to procure plans and specifications for a schoolhouse to be erected on this land in accordance with the recommendations of the Board of Education.

The land was immediately secured and steps taken to procure the necessary plans and specifications.

The committee, desiring to erect a building that would be modern in every respect and best suited to the needs of the district, spent considerable time and gave due attention to the selection of an architect capable of supplying such plans.

Of the designs submitted, those of E. R. B. Chapman of Boston appeared to most nearly meet the needs and he was therefore selected to do this work.

The plans adopted call for a four-room, wooden building, with ashler underpinning and slated roof, with superintendent's, teachers' and supply rooms and the necessary hall ways. The heating apparatus, situated in the basement, is of the indirect steam type and is in accordance with the Massachusetts laws for heating and ventilating. It also has direct steam that may be used should occasion require.

The toilet rooms are situated in the basement, under the halls and supply rooms.

The district was fortunate in securing such a large lot of land, centrally located, and yet not on a main thoroughfare.

A new school building was deemed necessary to relieve the congested condition of our old house and the first plans for a new building contemplated using two rooms only and those to be used by the lower grades.

During the erection of the new building the matter of maintaining the first year of a high school course in this district was brought out and at the annual school meeting, held March 31st, 1904, the district voted to establish this additional grade.

This caused some changes in the plans of the Board of Education and they decided it was best to use all of the new building instead of only two rooms as first planned, and place all grades above and including the fifth in the new building. This arrangement seemed particularly good as it would relieve the old house in the matter of heat and ventilation, making conditions there much better than in the past.

The contracts were let under these three heads: Building, heating and ventilation, and plumbing, and were awarded under competitive bids.

The contract for the building was awarded to the George E. Brown Building Company of Woburn, Mass. For heating and ventilation, to Orr & Rolfe of Concord, N. H., and for the plumbing to Isaac Baty of Penacook, N. H.

The plans and specifications were received from the architect August 12th, 1903. The contract for building was awarded October 3d, 1903. The contract for heating and ventilation, also for plumbing, was awarded June 3d, 1904.

Work on excavation was started immediately after the building contract was signed, but on account of the excessive cold weather further work on building was stopped in November and resumed in the spring of 1904. The building was completed and occupied at the beginning of the fall term of school in 1904.

We have now had a chance to prove the efficiency of the new building. It has been occupied through an excessively cold fall and winter and we are pleased to report that the rooms are found to be light and well heated and ventilated. The construction and accommodations are satisfactory in all respects.

The cost may be found ably detailed in the report of the treasurer and we are pleased to have been able to finish such a modern building within the limits of the sum appropriated.

The committee has put much time and thought in the fulfilment of their duties and believe they have finished a building that will accommodate the district for many years. One that is sanitary in all respects and that will be a credit to the village. We also believe that the sum spent is money well invested, for, by giving the pupils better surroundings, we shall stimulate higher ambitions, thereby laying a solid foundation upon which the future men and women of our village are to shape their lives.

It is with pleasure I can report that the committee have worked in complete harmony and it is their hope that the result of their labors will meet with the approval of the School District No. 20.

Respectfully submitted,

Clerk of Building Committee.

On the 8th day of August, 1904, the city council passed an ordinance for the issuance of its bonds for the sum required by said district. August 5th, 1903, your agents gave their personal note to the Mechanics National Bank for the sum of two thousand dollars, which was repaid to the bank from moneys received from sale of bonds.

SCHOOL REPORT, TOWN DISTRICT.

The means at our disposal have enabled us to maintain the schools of the district thirty-two weeks during the past year, the only exception being in the Standish neighborhood, where it was not deemed advisable to continue the school through the coldest weather. Here, the spring and fall terms aggregated twenty-seven weeks.

The lengthening of our school year two weeks was a step heartily appreciated. A further increase of two weeks would be in the line of progress, and would doubtless meet the approval of the taxpayers generally.

Stated in general terms, the work of the year has been reasonably successful. We have tried to obtain the best teaching service consistent with the funds provided by the district. We have been especially fortunate in the selection of teachers for those schools where the larger number of scholars and the work to be done justifies the payment of a little more than the average salary.

In those schools where teachers were able to teach vocal music they have performed that work with a reasonable measure of success. In the southern part of the town Mrs. J. E. Gove has been employed as teacher of vocal music for the Iron Works and Millville schools. She is a competent teacher, and has served us in that capacity for several years.

Miss Annie M. Chandler of Penacook was engaged as teacher of vocal music for the Borough and Horse Hill schools. Her efforts were followed by the most satisfactory results.

Among our needs to be provided for the coming year, a change in most of our text-books is a prominent one in importance. With the exception of Morton's geographies, purchased last year, our books have been long in use. A complete change, with the above exception, would doubtless prove a profitable investment.

It will be necessary to maintain a school in the Ashville district the coming season on account of the increased number of scholars in that section.

The work contemplated for the year to come will require a moderate increase in our school revenue. We trust this matter will receive favorable action at our annual meeting.

BOROUGH SCHOOL.

This is the largest school in the Town District. The register for the fall term contained thirty-nine names. We were fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Belle C. Ball as teacher for the year. The school has improved in attendance, scholarship and general deportment. Frequent changes in membership and a necessarily large number of classes are some of the drawbacks here. Much credit is due to the teacher for her successful labor.

S.

HORSE HILL SCHOOL.

The spring term was taught by Miss Alice M. Angle; the fall and winter terms by Miss Ruth K. Favor.

Both teachers gained the respect of the parents, and the school was prosperous throughout the year.

S.

NUMBER FOUR SCHOOL.

Miss Edith Babcock has been in charge of this school two years. Her faithful work has been highly satisfactory to the patrons of the school. The number of scholars to be conveyed from the No. 5 section being larger than for some years, it was thought advisable to convene the school at that place for the winter term.

S.

PLAINS SCHOOL.

This school was taught by Mrs. Maud G. Thompson, the teacher of the previous year. In all ways she has sustained the high-grade work performed in the past.

H.

TURTLETOWN SCHOOL.

This school was taught by Bessie E. Virgin, teacher for several years past. Two new scholars were added, which made it possible to make a better showing in her work.

H.

SNAPTOWN SCHOOL.

This school was taught by Miss Isabel E. Adams of Mill Village. Miss Adams came with good recommendations and proved herself worthy of them.

H.

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL.

Miss Bess Rolfe of Penacook taught the spring term. Miss Grace Lavery of Amesbury, Mass., a graduate of Amesbury high school, taught the fall and winter terms. This was Miss Lavery's first attempt at teaching.

H.

IRON WORKS SCHOOL.

Mrs. Sprague ended her teaching with the spring term. The same success attended her work as for the past seven or more years and we were sorry to have her leave, as we considered her an extra fine teacher. The fall and winter terms were taught by Miss Marjorie Robinson, who gave excellent satisfaction, and we consider her an exceptionally fine teacher, one who is able to keep up the high standing of the school.

C.

STANDISH SCHOOL.

This school has been taught all the year, with a high degree of success, considering the obstacles she had to overcome, by Miss Eva Davis, who has done excellent work.

C.

MILLVILLE SCHOOL.

Miss Eva I. French presided over the spring and fall terms with the same degree of ability and success that has characterized her work for several terms past, and we were sorry when, on account of sickness in her family, she felt obliged to give up the school. The winter term was taught by Miss Edna Watson, a teacher of much experience, who has kept up the same high standard of work.

C.

MILLVILLE PRIMARY.

This school has been taught this year, as for several years past, by Miss Ethel Page, whose great success with small children speaks highly for her ability as a teacher in this line of work.

REPORT OF WATER COMMISSIONERS.

CONCORD, N. H., January 31, 1905.

To His Honor the Mayor and the City Council:

The Board of Water Commissioners respectfully submits the following report of the operations of this department for the year 1904 :

For the detailed statement, reference is made to the accompanying report of the superintendent which is made a part of the report of the board.

The auxiliary pump has been installed at the pumping station and is entirely satisfactory.

The high service has been extended to Penacook and good progress has been made in substituting cast-iron pipe for the original cement-lined pipe in certain districts. Several leaks in the cement-lined pipe during the year have warned us that this work of replacing it with cast-iron should be prosecuted as rapidly as the revenues of the system will permit.

The board heartily commends the faithful service of its employees in all departments.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY C. HOLBROOK,
HENRY E. CONANT,
EDSON J. HILL,
GEORGE D. B. PRESCOTT,
HARRY H. DUDLEY,

SERVICE-PIPES.

There have been laid during the year and connected with the main pipes, 57 service-pipes consisting of 52 $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch,	1,232 feet.

2 2-inch,
3 4-inch,	71 feet.
57	1,303 feet.

There have been discontinued, 7; whole number in use at the present time, 3,458; total length of service-pipes, 80,159 feet, or 15.18 miles. We have placed 124 service-boxes at the curb on old services.

We have set 70 meters during the year; 5 have been removed, making the total number now in use, 1,337.

The following table shows the height of water in Penacook lake on the first day of each month:

January . . .	184.20	July . . .	184.90
February . . .	183.70	August . . .	184.50
March . . .	183.25	September . . .	183.90
April . . .	184.90	October . . .	183.40
May . . .	185.30	November . . .	183.00
June . . .	185.15	December . . .	182.70

The lowest point reached during the year was on December 28, being 182.40; the highest was on May 21, 185.35; mean height, 184.40, which was .35 foot lower than the mean height for the year 1903.

The work of cleaning the shores of the lake has been continued and as the water lowered during the fall, it could be done more thoroughly than for several years and was carried on until the winter season.

The year has been a busy and eventful one for the department, bringing the change of the system in Penacook from low to high service with the laying of a new main, the installation of a new pumping engine and moving the office to the new city building.

The new main for Penacook was completed and connected with the original main at Lake street, West Concord, and water let in on the third day of August. This now gives high service in Penacook for all purposes, and by placing eight hydrants along the line, it also provides high service for fire protection through North State street and West Concord.

The new Worthington pump was installed and began regular service on June 3; the old pump has been thoroughly repaired and is in operation, alternating with pump No. 2.

On September 1, we moved the office to the new city building, having been located in White's block for thirty-one years and seven months. Our new quarters are pleasant and commodious, and the vault with steel shelves and cases is a great convenience in caring for records and books.

There still remain about six miles of the original cement-lined pipe which should be relaid with cast-iron; the work proposed for next year will cover about one and three-fourths miles and doubtless the whole section could be relaid in three years out of the income of the works.

Respectfully submitted,

V. C. HASTINGS,
Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE ENGINEER AT THE PUMPING STATION.

PUMPING STATION, CONCORD WATER-WORKS.

V. C. HASTINGS, Superintendent :

SIR,—I would report that the pumping machinery at the pumping station is now in a first-class condition. The auxiliary steam pump has been set up and was started at regular work, June 3. It is a triple expansion engine, with attached air-pump and surface condenser, has steam cylinders, 9 inches, 14 inches and 22 inches, and plunger 12 1-2 inches in diameter, with a stroke of 18 inches. It is doing good work, and giving good satisfaction.

Following will be found a statement of coal and other supplies used at the pumping station during the year, with a table showing the work for each month :

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

REPORT OF CHIEF ENGINEER.

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council :

I herewith submit for your consideration the following report of the Fire Department for the year 1904 :

The department responded to fifty-one (51) bell alarms and one hundred and sixty-one (161) still alarms.

	Bell.	Still.	Total.
Precinct,	39	141	180
Penacook,	4	16	20
East Concord,	5	1	6
West Concord,	3	3	6
	51	161	212

This record, in comparison with that of the previous year,— sixty-seven (67) bell and two hundred and eleven (211) still alarms, shows a most welcome decrease in number.

In the matter of loss, also, this record compares very favorably with that of the year previous, the total loss amounting to about one third, and the net loss, or loss above insurance, amounting to about one sixth of that entailed during the year 1903.

The apparatus is in good condition. During the year a new hose wagon was placed in commission at the Good Will station, and a set of runners provided for the chemical engine. Four horses were also purchased.

A new boiler was placed in position at the Central fire station.

The annual test of hose was followed by the relining of seven hundred feet. No hose was purchased, and I urgently recommend the purchase of at least one thousand feet during the coming year.

As to the further needs of the department, I can but refer your honorable body to the recommendations embodied in previous reports.

The fire-alarm telegraph system is in good condition. Two boxes were added to the system, and new wire substituted for old where deemed necessary.

For the privilege afforded me to attend the convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers, held at Chattanooga, Tenn., in September, and for the compliment conveyed by the increase of salary, I wish to thank your honorable body, coupled with the assurance that both acts were thoroughly appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. GREEN,

Chief Engineer.

THE FIRE ALARM TELEGRAPH

is the "Gamewell" patent. It embraces 39 miles of wire.

On the lines are 41 fire-alarm boxes belonging to the city, and 9 private boxes—in all 50. There are three alarm bells, one of 3,724 pounds (bell-metal), one of 3,740 pounds (bell-metal), and one of 2,000 pounds (American steel). There are also 16 mechanical tappers, 40 direct-action tappers, one four-circuit repeater, and four indicators.

The battery consists of 228 storage battery cells for the lines, and 34 open circuit battery cells for other electrical purposes.

DIRECTIONS FOR GIVING AN ALARM.

To obtain the key to the box break the glass in the key box located beneath the alarm box.

In each box there is a small bell called a "tell-tale," designed expressly for the purpose of informing you whether an alarm is being transmitted, the instant you open the door.

Open the box, and, if this bell is not heard, pull down the hook once only and let go.

But if this bell should be heard it would indicate that another box had been pulled, and it would be useless to attempt to pull another until the one already pulled had performed its mission.

Wait until twenty seconds have elapsed after the "tell-tale" has stopped ringing, close the door, which will restore the armature to the position it left when the door was opened.

Open the door, pull down the hook once only and let go.

Should there be no response, pull it again.

Then, should there be no response, go to the next box.

Unless your presence is most urgently required at the scene of the fire, remain at the box to direct the department.

The chief engineer shall examine all places where shavings and other combustible materials may be collected or deposited, and cause the same to be removed by the tenants or occupants of such places, or at their expense, whenever in his opinion such removal is necessary for the security of the city against fires.

SECT. 5. In the absence of the chief engineer, the next assistant engineer in rank, who may be present, shall have the powers and perform the duties of the chief engineer and the seniority in rank of the engineers shall be determined by the board of engineers at their first meeting.

SECT. 6. The foreman of each engine, hose, and hook and ladder company, immediately after every fire at which said company may have attended, shall examine into the condition of the fire apparatus belonging to his respective company, and report any deficiency which may exist to the chief engineer. He shall keep, or cause to be kept by the clerk of his company, exact rolls, specifying the time of admission, discharge, and age of each member, and accounts of all city property entrusted to the care of the several members, and of all cases of absence and tardiness, in a book provided for that purpose by the city, which rolls and record books are always to be subject to the order of the chief engineer and mayor. They shall also make, or cause to be made, to the chief engineer, true and accurate returns of all members, with their ages, and of the apparatus entrusted to their care, whenever called upon so to do.

SECT. 7. The foreman of each company shall, under the direction of the chief engineer, have charge and management of his company at fires; the assistant foreman shall assist the foreman in the discharge of his duties, and act as clerk of the company, and in the absence of the foreman assume his authority. The foreman and assistant foreman shall be appointed by the chief engineer.

SECT. 8. The stewards of the Alert and Good Will Hose companies shall act as drivers of hose carriages, take charge of and properly care for and exercise the horses used by each company. SECT. 9. It shall be the duty of every engine, hose, and hook and ladder company, to have its engine, hose, and other apparatus cleaned, washed, oiled, reeled and housed immediately after its return from any fire or service, and at all times to maintain the same in good condition, and the members of the several companies shall perform any necessary duties which the chief engineer or their respective foreman may direct.

SECT. 10. All members of the department when on duty shall wear some suitable badge, to be designated by the board of engineers. The chief and permanent members shall wear at all times when on duty the regulation parade uniform worn by the fire department.

SECT. 11. The pay-rolls for the board of engineers and the several fire companies shall be made up by the chief and clerk of the board of engineers semi-annually, on the first day of January and July. Foremen and clerks of companies will forward their pay-rolls to the board of engineers for approval and after the action of said engineers and the approval of the city auditor and the committee on accounts and claims, said pay-rolls shall be passed over to the city tax collector, under whose sole direction all sums for services of call firemen shall be disbursed.

SECT. 12. No charge for extra services will be allowed any member of the department unless upon an order of a member of the board of engineers.

SECT. 13. No engine, hose, or hook and ladder carriage shall be taken to a fire out of the city without permission from the chief engineer, except steamer Pioneer, which may be taken to any fire in the village of Penacook, nor shall any apparatus of the fire department be taken from the city except in case of fire, without permission from the board of mayor and aldermen ; and in sending any apparatus to aid in extinguishing fires in neighboring localities, the chief in all cases will authorize his assistant next in rank available to take charge of the direction of such apparatus, and not allow any fireman, at such an emergency, to leave the city, except such a number as is actually required to man the apparatus, and no member to leave without permission or direction from the chief engineer.

SECT. 14. It shall be the duty of engineers and firemen, whenever there is an alarm of fire in the city, to repair immediately to the place of such fire, wearing a suitable badge, and the engineers shall take proper measures that the several engines and other apparatus be arranged and duly worked for the speedy and effectual extinguishment of the fire. The engineers shall inspect and make themselves familiar with all shops, hotels, tenement blocks, and all public buildings, halls, churches, schoolhouses, and asylums once in each six months and study the location of all hydrants and reservoirs in the city, and generally inform themselves in all matters pertaining to their duties as engineers. No engineer shall interfere with or attempt to give orders relative to the location or use of a line of hose, when he has ascertained that another has command of it, unless by consent of the engineer in command of it, or by orders of the officer in command of the fire ; and it shall be his duty to inquire if there is an officer in charge.

SECT. 15. For each absence from fire, or neglect of duty, the chief engineer, the assistant engineers, and engineers of steamers shall be fined three dollars, and each other member of the department one dollar ; provided, however, that any fireman liable as above may in case of sickness have power of substitution by giving notice, each assistant engineer to the chief, each foreman to an engineer, and each other member to the foreman of his company. All fines shall be paid to the clerks of respective companies at the first regular meeting after they are incurred. The clerks of companies shall disburse the fines to substitutes answering for absent members in cases where there were substitutes. In cases where there were no substitutes the fines shall be paid to the city.

SECT. 16. Any volunteer company using the apparatus of the city at any fire shall be under the control and command of the chief engineer and his assistants, agreeably to the foregoing provisions of this chapter.

SECT. 17. The department shall appear for public parade, drill, and inspection at such times as the chief engineer and committee on fire department shall order, for which purpose three hundred dollars can be expended annually. The companies in Wards 1, 2, and 3 will attend by invitation and voluntarily. Each company in the department under the direction of the chief engineer or assistants shall take out their respective engines and apparatus for exercise and drill as often as he shall direct, such exercise and drill to take place in public, not oftener than once a month, and at least once in two months, between the first of April and November.

SECT. 18. The engineers shall have control of all persons appointed to serve in any company of the fire department and power to direct and control the labor of all persons present at any fire. An engineer may and shall cause any fire deemed by him to be dangerous in any place to be extinguished or removed.

SECT. 19. The engineers may establish such regulations respecting the kindling, guarding, and safe-keeping of fires, and for the removal of shavings and other combustibles from any building or place, as they shall think expedient. Such regulations shall be signed by a majority of the engineers. Such regulations shall be approved by the mayor and aldermen, recorded by the city clerk, and copies attested by him posted up in two or more places in the city thirty days, when they shall take effect. Penalties not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense may be prescribed by the engineers for the breach of such regulations, and such regulations shall remain in force until altered or annulled.

SECT. 20. The board of engineers may from time to time make and enforce such regulations for the government of the department as may be deemed proper, subject to the approval of the board of mayor and aldermen.

SECT. 21. If any member of any of the several companies shall willfully neglect or refuse to discharge his duty, or shall be guilty of disorderly conduct or disobedience to any officer or to any engineer he shall for any such offense be forthwith dismissed from the department by direction of the chief engineer. No person shall be a member of, or serve in, the fire department, who is under the age of twenty years, and no person whose occupation is carried on outside the city shall be appointed a member of the fire department.

SECT. 22. All applicants for membership shall be nominated by the chief engineer, and shall receive pay and be considered members of the department from the date of their confirmation by the board of mayor and aldermen.

No person shall hereafter be appointed to any position in the fire department unless and until the committee on fire department shall have certified in writing to the board of mayor and aldermen that such person has been examined by them, or under their supervision, and is in their opinion qualified to perform the duties of the position to which he is nominated.

No officer or member of the permanent, or officer of the call, force shall attend any political convention as a delegate, distribute tickets at any election, or take any part whatever in political matters other than to exercise the right of suffrage, and no political or religious discussion shall be permitted in any of the department houses.

SECT. 23. The chief engineer shall have the care and management of the rooms, apparatus, machinery, wires, poles and signal boxes connected with the fire-alarm telegraph. He shall prepare rules and directions for giving alarms of fire through the telegraph. He shall have the superintendence, and under the direction of the joint standing committee on the fire department have control of the several stations, the apparatus, the furniture therein, and all other property appertaining to the department. He shall, with the assistance of the permanent men at the Central station, make the necessary repairs and take care of the fire-alarm system, including the batteries, all alarm boxes, and everything pertaining to the fire-alarm system. He shall personally be able to master the fire-alarm in every particular, and every permanent man at the Central station shall be obliged to understand the fire-alarm system, in order that the chief engineer may call upon any of them to attend to and repair any part of the same. This provision shall not be construed to prevent the chief engineer from employing extra linemen when necessary, or from acting promptly in any emergency.

SECT. 24. Permanent officers and men of the department shall be entitled to a vacation, without loss of pay, of fourteen days in each year, one day per month, also one night per week in addition to said day, to be granted under the direction of the chief engineer.

SECT. 25. The joint standing committee on fire department, subject to the board of mayor and aldermen, shall by themselves or agent purchase all supplies in connection with the fire department, and direct all repairs of houses and apparatus; and all bills contracted for the department must receive their approval before being passed on by the committee on accounts and claims. They shall hold stated meetings at least once each month at the Central fire station, and all communications to the city government from the fire department must come through said committee, and annually at the call of the finance committee, in connection with the chief engineer, they shall make recommendations as to the amount of appropriations the wants of the department will require for the coming year.

SECT. 26. The city marshal and regular police officers shall have in charge all matters relating to the removal and protection of personal property endangered by fire, and any person entering a building or removing property contrary to the orders of the city marshal or such police officers, shall be fined five dollars; and in the absence of firemen at fires, from their respective department houses, the policemen in that vicinity will take charge of said houses.

SECT. 27. It shall be the duty of the chief engineer to cause all snow and ice or other obstructions to be removed from and around all fire-hydrants owned by the city, so that at all times the fire department can make immediate connection of the hose to the hydrants.

SECT. 28. SECT. 29. The several engineers residing in Wards 1, 2, and 3 shall have the entire care and control, under the direction of the chief engineer, of the buildings and appurtenances occupied in part by the fire department situated in said wards, respectively, to whom all applications for the use of the halls, or any other part of such building, shall be made. Said engineers may severally appoint janitors, who shall serve under the exclusive direction of the engineer having the care and control of the buildings where said janitor shall be appointed. Each of said engineers shall annually, in the month of December, render a detailed statement, in writing, to the mayor and aldermen, of all receipts and expenditures for the preceding year on account of such buildings.

SECT. 30. Stewards for the Pioneer Steamer company and engine companies Nos. 2 and 3 shall be appointed by the mayor and aldermen, and shall receive for all services performed by them in that capacity the following sums: For Pioneer Steamer company, thirty dollars per annum, and when performing the duties of janitor of the building an additional sum of forty-five dollars per annum; and for steward of engine company No. 2 fifteen dollars per annum; and for steward of engine company No. 3 thirty dollars per annum. No steward shall be allowed to purchase supplies for such building, or for the department, unless by the authority and direction of the committee on fire department; and in no case shall he have any care or control of the building or its appurtenances occupied by the company of which he is a member, except in the immediate service of the company, unless he shall be appointed janitor thereof, when he shall be under the direction of the engineer, as provided in the foregoing section.

SECT. 31. The permanent men and horses at all of the fire stations in Concord shall at all times be on duty at their respective stations to attend to fire-alarm calls; and neither the permanent men nor the permanent horses connected with the fire department shall engage in any work for any other department of the city.

The men at the different fire stations shall do such work in connection with the station and apparatus as the chief engineer or his assistants may direct. All permanent men shall lodge in their respective stations (except chief), and in all cases of absence a substitute must be furnished; and in all cases when any extra service is required, the chief, with the sanction of the committee on fire department, shall have power to hire the same; the chief may also increase as far as possible the number of call men that wish to lodge at any fire station, subject to the regulations of the fire department. The chief engineer shall be furnished with a horse and wagon, to be maintained by the city, for his use at all times.

SECT. 32. All alarms for brush or forest fires shall be responded to by members of the fire department under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the chief engineer.

SECT. 33. All ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed; but such repeal shall in no wise revive or put in force any ordinance heretofore repealed, and this ordinance shall take effect upon its passage.

ADDITIONAL REGULATIONS.

ARTICLE 1. Any engine or hose company running out a line of hose from a hydrant or steamer shall be entitled to the pipe, although the hose of other companies may be attached, in order to reach the fire. And any company coming to a fire, and finding an incomplete line of hose laid out from a hydrant or steamer, shall attach to and lengthen out such line, in lieu of laying a line of its own.

ART. 2. When two or more engine companies are playing in a continuous line, the pipe shall belong to the company attaching to hydrant or steamer as provided in the foregoing article; but any company furnishing the entire line, and receiving water from a steamer, the pipe shall belong to such company so receiving.

ART. 3. Hose companies shall attach first lines to high pressure hydrants where accessible; steamers attaching to those of low pressure, or reservoir.

ART. 4. No company shall take possession of a hydrant or reservoir unless their hose and apparatus for attaching to the same are at hand and ready for use.

ART. 5. In proceeding to, working at, or returning from fires, noisy demonstrations are strictly prohibited, and it is required of officers of companies to maintain perfect order and decorum in their respective commands during all such service.

ART. 6. In case of fire the foreman first arriving shall be in command until the arrival of an engineer.

ART. 7. Drivers are strictly enjoined, in proceeding to a fire, to use the utmost care and caution consistent with promptness. Racing between companies is forbidden under any circumstances. Any collision or casualty occurring to horses or apparatus will be considered a sufficient cause for the suspension of the driver in charge at the time.

ART. 8. Fire hats are furnished by the city for the protection and identification of firemen, and they must be worn at all fires except in the severest weather, when caps may be worn.

ART. 9. While attending fires it shall be the duty of members of the department, when not performing active service, to concentrate about their respective pieces of apparatus.

ART. 10. All engine and hose companies responding to second or general alarms will connect, but will not lay their lines until they have reported to the officer in command for orders.

ART. 11. The wearing of badges shall not be regarded by members of the department as conveying to them the privilege of free access to premises after fire has been extinguished.

ART. 12. All members of the department shall address all officers by their respective titles while on duty at fires.

ART. 13. The roll of each company shall be called as soon as the apparatus is housed, and no member will be excused except in case of sickness. Rolls must be called after every alarm. No officer or member will be marked present on the company roll unless present at fires and returns to house with apparatus, unless excused by an engineer.

ART. 14. Each company shall be allowed three substitutes, except Hook and Ladder company No. 1, which shall have five, to be approved by the chief engineer.

ART. 15. All orders issued by the chief or an assistant engineer shall be promptly obeyed. At all fires occurring in the night, the chief engineer shall be identified by a red light, assistant engineers by blue lights.

ART. 16. Members of the department are expected to cheerfully comply with all rules and regulations which are adopted or which may be adopted. Foremen will be held responsible for all lack of promptness and efficiency in their commands.

REPORT OF THE CITY MARSHAL.

CONCORD, N. H., December 31, 1904.

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor herewith to submit the report of the police department for the year ending December 31, 1904:

THE FORCE.

The force has undergone some changes in the past year. Officer Clark D. Stevens resigned April 30, 1904; his place was filled by Special Officer Irving B. Robinson. May 10 the regular force was increased by one additional officer, Special Officer George N. Fellows. In the resignation of Officer Stevens the department lost one of its best officers; an officer who was always ready and willing to respond to a call, fearless and efficient in the discharge of his duties.

The organization of the police department at the present time is as follows:

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Josiah E. Dwight, Giles Wheeler, Myron J. Pratt.

Marshal James E. Rand, appointed patrolman April 16, 1861; captain, April 16, 1891; assistant marshal, April 16, 1894; city marshal, January 27, 1902; took oath of office, July 1, 1902.

LODGERS.

The number of persons furnished lodgings at the police station in 1904 exceeds that of 1903. The past year we adopted the plan of giving them cold storage to sleep in, and nothing but cold water, but it has made no difference in number, as the figures below show, they seem to like our hospitality and call on us just the same as ever.

PATROL WAGON.

On June 24, the department was equipped with a new patrol wagon and swing harness, which was a much needed and great improvement over the old two-seated democrat wagon. The patrol wagon, ambulance and light driving wagon are in first-class condition, and the only drawback to a quick start is the distance an officer has to go, after getting a call from the station, to the stable where the horse is kept. Should some future city government see fit to build a stable at the rear of the present station, sufficient in size to meet the wants of the department, in my opinion the wants of the department outside of regular running expenses would be very small for several years to come.

IN GENERAL.

On May 10, the regular force was increased by one additional officer, who was assigned to duty in that part of the city known as Fosterville, which is duly appreciated by the residents in that section of the city and all law-abiding citizens. In the past season there has been an increase in the demands for special officers, and, as the result of this, we have overrun the appropriation for special officers.

There was a special officer on duty at Contoocook River park for about two months the past season, also one put on while the regular men were taking their vacations. In the past it has been the custom for the city to pay all of the police expenses at the Concord State Fair and the amount is charged to the account of special police, amounting to $166.50 in 1903, and $139.50 in 1904, and more than this amount in years previous to 1903. At Rochester, N. H., the fair association pay their own police expenses, and the city takes care of the streets. Should this meet with your approval I would most respectfully recommend that the same plan be adopted here. The city to take care of the streets and the fair association to police their grounds inside their fences at their own expense; should this plan be adopted I think it will receive the approval of a large majority of the taxpayers of the city.

CONCLUSION.

I am pleased to commend to your attention the good work of the officers and members of the present force.

They have been vigilant and attentive to their duties, and have cheerfully responded to all calls made upon them for extra service, and I sincerely extend my thanks to them for the cordial support they have given me.

In concluding this report, permit me to return thanks to the honorable mayor and city council for the support you have given me; also to the board of police commissioners, judge of police court and City Solicitor Edmund S. Cook, all of whom have been very kind, considerate and accommodating at any and all times; and to all others who have contributed to our success we extend our thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES E. RAND,
City Marshal.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF HIGHWAYS.

To the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith submit the annual report of the highway department for the year ending December 31, 1904. The year has been a busy one for the department, and much has been accomplished not only in permanent work but also in the line of small improvements.

The regular appropriations were about the same as those of previous years. Many things come up for attention each year which are unlooked for, and this season the Federal bridge was found to be unsafe and requiring a new floor system. The total cost of the work was $1,603.79, and this amount had not been taken into account when the estimates were made at the beginning of the year. One other item of expense not counted on was the work on the streets around the new city hall and on the lot. The streets around it were in very bad condition and it was thought best to concrete them. The amount expended on the streets was $1,389.84, and $932.81 was expended on the lot in grading, concreting, etc. The amount expended on the lot and that on the Federal bridge were the cause of the appropriation for general maintenance being overdrawn.

From this appropriation for general maintenance several bridges have been repaired and painted, gutters paved, gravel sidewalks built, and the many demands for minor repairs met. The following is the list of repairs on bridges:

Another season the Pembroke and Sewall's Falls bridges should be resingled, the Twin bridge and the Borough bridge at Penacook replanked, and the Main-street bridge at Penacook needs repairing. The Horse Hill bridge also needs painting, and a new bridge should be built in Penacook Intervale District across the Hackett brook. The usual amount of work was done on new catch basins, and a great many of the old ones were rebuilt and enlarged. The following table shows the new catch basins built :

The petitions for concrete walks have been numerous and all have been laid that were granted. The work of keeping the old concrete walks in repair is carried on each year and the walks thereby kept in good condition.

The separate appropriation for trees, which has been made for the past few years, has enabled the department to do considerable trimming, and a number of unsafe and undesirable trees have been removed.

In the line of permanent improvements have been the macadamizing of another section of the Penacook road, the completing of the macadam on Pleasant street to St. Paul's School, the graveling of the Loudon road, a new bank wall on North Spring street, and a new bridge at Richardson's Mills.

About 1,800 feet of macadam was put in on the Penacook road above Willow Hollow. While working on the road the crushing part of the portable crusher did not do satisfactory work, and it was found necessary to purchase a new crusher. The Climax Road Machine Company made the change, taking the old crusher and putting in a new one for $650. Since the change was made we have been able to crush each day more than twice the amount we could with the old one.

I would recommend that another section be put in on the Penacook road next year, but the expense will be heavier than on that already put in as the road will require more excavating and the distance from the crusher at West Concord will be greater. The appropriation of $2,500 was but slightly overdrawn to complete the section last season.

On Pleasant street, 2,100 feet of macadam was built and the roadway completed to St. Paul's School. Not quite all the appropriation was used, and the balance was transferred to the general maintenance account.

Next year something ought to be done on North State street, from Walker street to the entrance to Blossom Hill cemetery, and Pleasant street should be concreted from Main to Green street.

The work of constructing the bank wall on North Spring street was begun in October. The cost of the wall, railing, etc., was $1,354.74.

In my last report I recommended that something should be done on the Loudon road and the city council appropriated $2,000 for graveling; 4,070 feet of road was newly graveled, and 1,920 feet top-coated. The average width being twelve feet. It was necessary to draw the gravel from the city proper and consequently the expense was heavier. I think the condition of the road is greatly improved and is appreciated by the public. I would recommend that something more might be done here to good advantage another year, and also suggest that the South Pembroke road is in need of the same kind of work.

The matter of building a new bridge at Richardson's Mills, which has been under consideration for some time, was taken up this year and an appropriation of $1,000 made to do the work. It was thought best to wait until the fall when the water was low to put in the stonework but in the fall, when both parties were ready to do the work, the river rose considerably and the stonework was left until another season. A bridge similar to the old one was built, the city paying one-half the expense which was $197.16. The balance of the appropriation was not used on the bridge on account of the stonework being left undone.

The usual territory has been sprinkled but should the precinct be enlarged another season the number of carts will not be sufficient to do the work.

The amount of ashes, etc., to be collected in the garbage precinct increased considerably last season, and about 6,000 loads were collected. In closing this report of the highway department I wish to thank the mayor and the city council for their interest in the department and many courtesies toward it.

Respectfully submitted,

ALFRED CLARK,

Commissioner of Highways.

SANITARY DEPARTMENT.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

To His Honor the Mayor and City Council:

On account of an oversight, for which the Board of Health was not at all responsible, its report was omitted from the city report for 1903. Therefore, it is our purpose to embody in this report the doings of the department for 1903 and 1904.

At the expiration of his term in April, 1903, Dr. Loren A. Sanders retired and Dr. Chancey Adams was elected to fill the vacancy. The board organized with Dr. Russell Wilkins, president, Dr. Chancey Adams, secretary. This organization has continued unchanged.

Mr. Palmer has performed the duties of sanitary officer with satisfaction to the board, and has safeguarded the interests of the city and the welfare of the public health in a highly commendable manner. The ever-increasing duties that are forced upon this department by the public, as the old-time barriers of prejudice and ignorance disappear, urge us to recommend at this time a provision for the appointment of an assistant officer to act with Mr. Palmer, under the supervision of the board. The requirements of the law for an annual house to house inspection, and the increasing demands of individuals for disinfection, and private inspections of premises and nuisances, make it utterly impossible for one man to meet all these requirements fully. Furthermore, the board has at times found it exceedingly difficult to find a competent man who is willing to be bothered with the milk collections.

With an assistant sanitary officer, wisely selected, the work of this department might be profitably performed by him, and the money now expended for that purpose go toward his salary. Again we commend to your wise consideration the fact that should accident or death befall Mr. Palmer, there is no one sufficiently in touch with the work who could carry it on without requiring a long time to become familiar with the duties and acquainted with the public. It should not be overlooked that the duties of sanitary officer are peculiar and perplexing, and require a man of exceptional tact and judgment to give general satisfaction and yet do his full duty.

Inasmuch as the appropriation of $2,000 which was voted this department last year has proven insufficient, as was predicted by the board, it will not appear out of place to again urge that a more liberal amount be allowed for the ensuing year. The law is such that the board is obliged to protect the public from all "dangerous, infectious and contagious diseases," and must render such aid as "may be deemed wise or necessary" to further that end. The financial history of this department for the past four years has shown the impossibility of keeping the expenditures within the limits of the most liberal appropriation thus far made. As $1,275 is used up in salaries, there is left but $725 out of the $2,000 of last year's appropriation to meet the numerous and unavoidable demands that arise in caring for contagious diseases. We would therefore recommend that $3,000, at least, be set apart for the use of this department for 1905.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

It is with much satisfaction that we are able to record a continuance of the general healthfulness of the city for the years 1903 and 1904, the death-rate being 13.05 and 13.9 per 1,000 respectively. Although the total number of contagious diseases in 1903 was far in excess of the previous year, which was due to the generally prevailing epidemic of measles, the death-rate from contagious diseases was surprisingly small, there being but two years since 1890 showing a death-rate from this class of cases less than that of 1903.

As time goes on the board finds progressively less difficulty in caring for contagion than it experienced in earlier years. There is a more hearty co-operation on the part of the public, the people are less panicky in the face of epidemics, and a higher degree of intelligence is shown upon all matters that pertain to the safeguarding of the public health.

SMALLPOX.

It is something worthy of comment that our city should escape a serious outbreak of smallpox during the past few years when it has prevailed so extensively in Manchester and the neighboring towns. During the year 1903 but two cases came to our notice, both of which were successfully cared for at the detention hospital. It is interesting to note that one of these cases was shaved in a barber shop while in the pustular stage, without any one suffering from the exposure. All those thereby exposed were vaccinated and carefully observed from day to day until the danger period had passed. During 1904 the city was entirely free from this disease.

With a small expenditure the detention hospital has been painted and otherwise repaired, which has added much to its attractiveness and usefulness. From one to six patients can now be cared for at one time with all the necessary comforts, and no one, however æsthetic, needs to shrink from going there for fear of improper care and treatment. A trained nurse is always placed in attendance, and all the necessities for the care of such cases liberally furnished.

TYPHOID FEVER.

During 1903 there were seventeen cases of typhoid fever, with three deaths, against twenty-three, with three deaths, in 1902. In 1904 there were twelve cases, with one death, showing a decided decrease since 1902.

As the source of most of these cases was located beyond the limits of the city, their presence cannot be charged to any general unsanitary condition, or to any defect in the water and food supply.

In recognition of the fact that this disease occurs only through contaminated food or water, it should be the self-assumed duty of every citizen to exercise every precaution to protect not only his own supply but that of the public.

It is a matter of much satisfaction and one to be congratulated upon, that the water supply of Concord is so pure and well safeguarded against contamination. The water company has rendered the public valuable service in their strenuous efforts to protect the city's water supply.

The mild scare that arose last fall and early winter over the very pronounced bad odor of the water, especially when heated, was of short duration, as it was proven beyond a doubt by the state chemist to be due to a harmless product of vegetable life and non-productive of disease.

MEASLES.

The largest epidemic of measles visited the city during the year 1903, that has occurred for fifteen years. The record covers the whole year, only one month (August) failing to produce its quota of cases. Out of the whole number, five hundred and eighty-two, only four deaths resulted, which is a remarkably good showing, in view of the fact that many of the cases were very severe and complicated, and occurred at a season of the year when climatic conditions are so favorable to a fatal termination. During 1904 only thirty-one cases came to our notice, all of which terminated favorably.

SCARLET FEVER.

It is encouraging to note that the mildness of type that has characterized scarlet fever for the past few years still continues, and that out of thirty-nine cases during 1903 and eighteen cases during 1904 no deaths have occurred. It is also a matter of interest to know that since the year 1890, inclusive, there have been but nineteen deaths from this disease, out of four hundred and ninety-seven cases, a rate of three and eight-tenths per cent. This mild type of the disease renders it exceedingly difficult to control, as many cases receive home treatment, and its true nature is thereby not discovered until many have been exposed.

The most of the cases during the year 1903 occurred in epidemic form in the Orphans' Home, in Millville, where they were isolated and cared for with no unfavorable results. The other cases were scattered.

On account of the difficulty in detecting and isolating cases of scarlet fever when prevailing in a mild form, we wish at this time to urge upon the public the necessity of bringing to the attention of a physician as early as possible the appearance of any rash, however mild it may be. Fortunately, no fatalities have occurred, but several instances have arisen when neglect in this particular has been followed by the appearance of the disease elsewhere, the offending case being only accidentally discovered when in the stage of desquamation. The wisdom of this precaution will surely appeal to the mind of every person, when he considers that a malignant case may follow from an exposure to a very mild one. A child may be only slightly indisposed with a little fever, with sore throat and a rash that appears and disappears within a period of twelve hours, and yet have scarlet fever which may, if transmitted to another person, prove fatal, or at least produce unfavorable and lasting results.

DIPHTHERIA.

During 1903 there were forty-two cases of diphtheria, twenty-eight of which occurred in epidemic form between September 28 and December 10. These cases were studied with much care, and revealed a number of particularly interesting features. The first case occurred in the Penacook school on September 28, and soon developed among the children on Sexton avenue until there were seven cases. Of these children, three attended the parochial school in the first grade. From October 13 to November 2, nearly three weeks, there was an interval when no new cases appeared. On October 30 the two lower grades were thrown together for a party, and on November 2 a fresh case appeared in the lower grade, and soon others came down in the second grade; the number of cases in the two grades being about equal. With one exception, a boy in the third grade, the disease was confined to the two lower grades.

On account of the reappearance of the disease on November 2, it was deemed best by the board to inspect the throats of these children. Consequently, on the dates of November 7, 11, 13, 16, 20, 23, 24, and 25 a careful examination of the children's throats was made, and those whose appearance was at all unhealthy were swabbed and cultures made, and examined at the state laboratory. Of the eight swabs taken on November 11, three were reported positive, showing the presence of diphtheria. Swabs were taken on the succeeding dates mentioned, but no diphtheria found until November 24, when one culture was reported positive. After this no new case appeared in this school. Of these four cases, two showed on inspection a small, soft exudate or false membrane, and two a simple reddened condition which afterwards developed an exudate; of these four cases not one appeared sick or would acknowledge that he or she felt sick, yet there was the disease in the early stage, a lurking menace to every throat that came within reach. These four cases passed through the usual course of the disease and recovered. Of the four deaths, three had received home treatment for a time, varying from one to two weeks, and thus were not brought to the attention of a physician until their vital resistance had become greatly reduced and their systems filled with the poison of the disease.

In the light of this experience it was voted by the board to adopt the rule that, on the appearance of the first case of diphtheria in any school, an inspection of all the throats in that particular room or in the whole school, as the case might indicate, should at once be made, and repeated as often as necessary to insure safety to those in attendance. By so doing two important objects would be obtained, protection to those who were healthy and discovery of the disease sufficiently early to insure successful treatment. If cases can be detected before or immediately upon the appearance of the false membrane, before the poisonous products of the disease have become disseminated through the system, it is now universally believed that in antitoxin we have an agent which is a specific.

It is the product of germ activity, the so-called toxins, which menace and destroy life in this disease, and antitoxin fortifies the supply of antitoxin which every human system provides for itself when assailed by germ disease. The amount required will vary with the exigencies of each particular case, depending upon the amount of toxins to be opposed. In one case it may be one dose of 3,000 units, and in another 50,000 or more may be required to save life.

It is the policy of the board to furnish antitoxin in cases where the family is too poor to provide it, allowing no one to suffer on account of a lack of means. Other aid is also rendered in cases of contagion while in quarantine, as is deemed "wise or necessary" by the board.

In 1904 there were fifty-five cases of diphtheria with three deaths. These were widely scattered, every ward in the city contributing at least one.

The state laboratory has rendered valuable aid in making early diagnoses, and the service has been prompt and most efficient. Concord is especially benefitted by having the laboratory so near, thereby enabling us to get quick reports in obscure cases, and thus head off further exposure.

The circumstances have been such, in many instances, that it has not been deemed expedient to care for cases of contagion in their homes, therefore satisfactory arrangements have been made to have them cared for at the Margaret Pillsbury General Hospital, where most efficient and satisfactory service has been rendered at a reasonable price.

MILK.

During the past two years, four hundred and one samples of milk were collected and examined, of which twenty-one or about five per cent. were below standard. During the latter part of 1903 the law requiring a higher per cent. of solids went into effect, and several samples showed less than the required amount.

During the warm months particular attention is paid to examination for preservatives, as there is less necessity for their use in the winter. It is our opinion that very little use is made of them in Concord.

Milk is especially liable to fraud because the chief article used in its adulteration (water) costs nothing at all. In case of excess of water, the analyst is obliged to determine whether the milk has been skimmed or watered or both. Most of the trouble along this line was found among the samples collected from restaurants, and was due to careless handling of the milk rather than to intention to defraud.

The amount received from licenses will be found to be much less than formerly, as a change made in the public statutes provides that no license fee shall be charged where a man sells only the product of cows owned by himself.

RUSSELL WILKINS, M. D.,
GEORGE A. BERRY,
CHANCEY ADAMS, M. D.,
Board of Health.

REPORT OF SANITARY OFFICER.

To the Board of Health of the City of Concord, N. H. :

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to submit to you my report as sanitary officer for the year 1904.

I am pleased to say there have been no epidemics during the year, and we fortunately have not had a case of smallpox. The work of the department has been similar to that of former years, and, as a rule, up to the standard.

There were during the year 410 deaths, a death-rate of 13.9 per 1,000, compared with 397 deaths with a death-rate of 13.05 in 1903. The increase of deaths over last year was from the public institutions located in the city and not chargeable to the death-rate. One hundred and twenty-four bodies were sent to other places for interment, and in each case transfer permits were issued by this department to the undertakers, thereby complying with the state law. Eighty-six bodies were brought from other places to this city for interment during the year, each with a transfer permit issued by the proper authority from the place from which the bodies were sent.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The number of cases of disease classed under this head during the year were 116 with but four deaths.

Scarlet fever and diphtheria have not prevailed to any marked extent in any section of the city, and what cases there have been have not, as a rule, been severe.

Twelve cases of typhoid fever have been reported to this office, with one death. Three of these cases were brought to the hospital for treatment from other places, and several cases trace their origin to sources outside the city.

DISINFECTION.

At the present time formaldehyde is the most popular and efficient of the various substances in use as disinfectants. We have used the sheet method as at present used in Chicago and other cities, with good result. Recently a new process has been employed which we are convinced by practical experiments gives quicker results than the sheet method and is less difficult to handle. That our board might take nothing for granted, Dr. Duncan of the state laboratory and myself made the following test:

In a room whose size was carefully determined diphtheria bacilli twenty-four hours old, in culture recently obtained from an acute case, were exposed under the following conditions: (a.) Bacilli from the surface of a growth were smeared on a piece of glass and placed on the floor of the room. (b.) Bacilli were mixed with a little water in a watch glass and placed on the floor. (c.) Bacilli were smeared on a sheet which was rolled up and placed on the table. (d.) Bacilli were then smeared on the leaves of several pamphlets, the pages marked, pamphlets closed, and placed on the table. (e.) Bacilli were smeared on glass and placed in the pocket of a garment. (f.) The cultures themselves from which these various specimens were made were exposed after the cotton plug was loosened. The room was left closed for five hours while the bacilli were exposed to formaldehyde gas liberated by potassium permanganate in the proportion of one pint of the 40 per cent. gas to seven ounces of the permanganate for every 1,000 cubic feet of space. Growths on blood serum attempted from the exposed bacilli failed to give any growths whatever of any bacteria.

The chief object of this method of disinfection is that we get almost instant liberation of the formaldehyde, and the time of exposure is much reduced.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To the City Council:

The trustees of the public library are pleased to be able to state that the library, under the very efficient management of Miss Grace Blanchard, the librarian, not only maintains the enviable reputation it has earned in former years as a potent educational force in the community, but is constantly increasing its field of usefulness. But while it is agreeable to note the steady progress the library has made from year to year, it is apparent that a more commodious and convenient building is becoming more and more imperative, unless the strange belief is entertained that it is not desirable to make still further progress possible. In its present limited quarters the library has reached a stage in its development where its growth must necessarily cease, and its influence be unreasonably restricted. How this condition of things can best be obviated is a question which demands the serious, but prompt, consideration of the citizens of Concord.

The librarian's report, which is herewith submitted, is a concise statement of the work that is being accomplished, and evinces a laudable ambition to do much more in the future, which can hardly be realized under the present restricted accommodations.

Respectfully submitted,

REUBEN E. WALKER,

President of the Board of Trustees.

CONCORD, N. H., February 1, 1905.

REPORT OF THE CITY LIBRARIAN FOR 1904.

To the Board of Trustees of the Concord Public Library:

GENTLEMEN,—As this is my tenth annual report, it may be well, after describing the year's work, to review the progress of this city department during the decade, and then consider what remains to be done by and for the library.

The desk circulation during 1904 was 87,432 volumes, over 3,000 more than in 1903, which is gratifying, as we have tried no new way—used no green trading-stamps—to induce patronage.

To get, charge and hand out these nearly 90,000 books comes chiefly upon the two regular desk attendants. This is only a fraction of their work, for the preparing and repairing of all the books, and the mental registering of the wants and hobbies of thousands of people are other of their duties.

The quality of the circulation remains about the same, fiction leading at 74 per cent. In extenuation of this large figure, it should be borne in mind that hundreds of school children are required to read classics which are stories, and also that from its cradle the human race has always cried, "Tell me a story," and always will.

There has been no noteworthy peculiarity in the year's patronage except that the newspapers' guessing contests have brought many to the library who might not otherwise have frequented it. These contests certainly familiarize people with the way to use reference books. We have, as usual, seen the result of the Walker lectures, Professor Griggs's lectures producing an unusual call for material on Dante; and, as usual, what the schools and clubs are studying has been evident from the books called for at the library.

The number of new borrowers is 768, a slight increase over last year. A laborious revision of our list of borrowers is being made, so that we may know just who are at present taking books and where they live. The borrowers' names will now be kept upon cards rather than in a book.

The number of volumes added has been 1,224, of which 776 were new works; more money has been expended upon non-fiction than fiction. We have learned this year that by waiting till the Booklovers Library sells its duplicates, bargains in the way of expensive works of biography, travel, etc., can be secured. I presume the Concord public would rather wait a few months for such books as Moncure D. Conway's Autobiography and Landor's "Across Coveted Lands," seeing that we can then buy them at half their original price, and therefore have money left for other books.

We have acquired from the bindery 140 volumes. We have bought 45 duplicates of popular novels, 92 copies of old favorites, and have replaced 171 worn-out volumes. We have discarded 219 books, leaving a net gain of 1,005, and swelling the number now in the library to 26,935. Thirty-three gifts have come from the following donors: Mrs. Armenia S. White, Mrs. Edson C. Eastman, Miss Frances M. Abbott, Miss Harriette E. Noyes, Hon. A. E. Pillsbury, Hon. Samuel C. Eastman, Rev. Irving Tomlinson, Mr. Prentiss M. Kent, Mr. Maitland C. Lamprey, Mr. Guy S. Rix, and from local societies and churches, from publishing houses and trade corporations; government, state and city reports also have arrived. Of these gifts special mention should be made of Mr. S. C. Eastman's. It consists of four superbly bound and finely illustrated folios of the Holy Land, Egypt and Nubia, resting in a handsome black walnut case designed to contain and suitably display them. Mr. Kent's five-volume donation is entitled "Universities and Their Sons," and contains valuable material, fully illustrated, on Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Columbia.

Among purchases worth mentioning are:

Twenty-five Swedish books.

Representative art of our times, in eight parts.

The Cambridge Modern History.

New edition of Chambers' Encyclopedia of English Literature.

Grainger's Index to Poetry and Recitations.

Woodrow Wilson's History of the United States.

Stanley Hall's Adolescence.

Morley's Life of Gladstone.

Singleton's Furniture of our Forefathers.

Heath's Home and School Classics, thirty-nine volumes.

Young Folks' Library, twenty-five volumes.

With the interest on the Cogswell fund, we have so nearly completed our set of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register that it will become a mine of information to ancestor-hunting people, as soon as the promised index to these volumes is issued.

The use of reference books has been good, running about the same as in recent years. We cannot hope for more or better use till we have a larger, well-ventilated reference room.

In last year's report I described a summer branch at West Concord. This year a similar one has been maintained during the vacation months at East Concord. As this board of trustees, except the East Concord member who aided it by approval and the loan of furniture, did not see this branch, I have photographs of the outside and inside of the little building to show to you to-day. Hundreds of books were given out to East Concord residents, particularly children, who are not able to get over to this main library. East Concordians owning teams were thoughtful to give a lift to your librarian, as they were often "going right over" at hours when the trains would not have accommodated her. The cordiality of Ward two, the well-behaved children, and the acquaintances formed, make the memory of the summer's experiment altogether pleasant. More than ever it seems to me desirable to maintain a summer branch in the different suburban wards in rotation. It is a way of extending the library in accord with the spirit of the times which smiles upon rural deliveries.

From fall till spring, in compliance with the request of the West Concord Reading Room Association, and with its kindly coöperation, a weekly delivery of books has been made in Ward three by your librarian, as in 1903. The bi-weekly delivery at Penacook is never omitted.

The frequent picture-exhibits continue to give not only pleasure, but that visual instruction which is being introduced even into schools by means of stereopticon lectures.

We of the library staff have had our frequent quizzes on books and authors, as these tend to make us realize we are working in a library. If we were handing out cotton cloth or flour, we should have to exemplify pleasantness and promptness; but there ought to be a little gladness and glory in handing out things as live as books. There is much said about a librarian's influencing the public to better reading, but first she should quicken her assistants into knowing and rejoicing when the best literature in the library is called for.

To turn now to mention of the chief improvements which have been introduced into our library in the past ten years:

A modern charging system was adopted as the most pressing need. The entire library was then re-catalogued and rearranged by the Dewey Decimal System, and a complete dictionary card catalogue was made. This job was accomplished with an expenditure of much less time and money than is generally estimated as necessary. Access to shelves by investigators was urged, and open shelves of books have now become a feature around the delivery desk, with adjacent boys' and girls' corners, displaying the better juvenile reading. Picture bulletins of new or timely books are not wanting. All desired privileges are granted teachers, and books are sent for the term to those instructors who want them for supplementary reading. The librarian has given talks in school-rooms, aiming to further the intelligent use of the library by pupils. Enough Sunday readings to children have been tried in the boys' room to attest that they would flock to as many as the librarian had time and strength to give. Our taking up of branch delivery work has been already mentioned in this report. Participation by the staff of this library in state library meetings, and the doing of a little missionary work by us to smaller libraries, complete an enumeration which we hope makes our title clear to good intentions, and the ability to carry them out.

There is an indebtedness which, rolling up steadily through the ten years, has become an obligation to be publicly acknowledged, and that is the courtesy of the Ira C. Evans Company in trimming all our magazines, according us privileges, and in many ways being the kindest of neighbors.

After the past and the present comes the future, and it is the prospects of our library which we must next consider.

With the desire to save the city expense; you, care; the city government, problems; and our own staff, turmoil, I have said, "All right," when I met a trustee or the mayor, and he asked, "How is the library going?"

"All right as far as it goes" would have been a more truthful and less cowardly answer, for it ought to go farther, and it cannot so long as the building remains as it is. Sunny, home-like, unusually favored with entrances on two streets, ideally located, and with its interior arrangements convenient and admirable, it stands, the best library of 1888, not of 1905.

My idea is that in the capital of the state each institution should be a model of its kind; there should be the best fire-station, the best schoolhouses, etc., etc. Presumably all New Hampshire people aim to come to Concord sometime. Certainly we have had calls, in the past ten years, from the librarians of most of the smaller towns. They look to find in Concord's public library model appointments. We ought to be able to show a children's room, a spacious reference room, and the best lighting, ventilation and fittings which library economy has devised. If you would visit fine libraries in other cities, you would see what I mean and what we lack.

If you will walk critically about this building, you will see the numerous little book-cases the carpenter has made and crowded in. We have now 27,000 volumes stored in the space intended for 20,000. Any notable extension of the usefulness and influence of the library in the next decade is contingent upon enlarged quarters. In last winter's public discussions of this matter, speakers disagreed on many points, but all agreed that the library actually needs more room.

Some libraries which are over-crowded are renting books of the Bodley club department of the Booklovers Library, and it is said this system offers several advantages, namely : 1. The great difficulty of an adequate and timely supply of new books is met, if not wholly overcome. 2. The librarian has the privilege of trying before buying. 3. Obviates the necessity of excessive duplication of temporarily popular books. The cost averages about one dollar a year per volume up to two hundred books, decreasing for larger quantities.

If we become obliged to try this experiment for a year, it yet will seem to me that the renting of books should be an expedient resorted to cautiously by a public library, and should be understood to be a makeshift, not its regular policy.

It would appear as if the problems of a library are deserving of our best thought, for in the scheme of classification of exhibits at the recent St. Louis Exposition, the library was considered worthy to be a section in the Department of Education, under the main division, Social Culture.

No unpleasant happening has marred the year, and the actively pleasant things which have been experienced at the hands of this board and of the public, are herewith gratefully acknowledged.

Respectfully submitted,

GRACE BLANCHARD,

Librarian.

CITY ENGINEER.

REPORT OF CITY ENGINEER.

OFFICE OF THE CITY ENGINEER,

CONCORD, N. H., December 31, 1904.

To the City Council:

The twelfth annual report of this department is laid before you for your consideration, together with a statement of the moneys expended in the sewer precincts, excepting the Penacook precinct, also the grades established and streets laid out during the past season.

Some time has been spent in a study of our sewerage system and a remedy sought for the congested condition of the sewers in certain sections of the city. A report on the same was made to His Honor the Mayor under date of December 22, 1904.

The sewerage system is in need of some material changes, and I can only renew my previous recommendation, that some competent sanitary engineer be employed to advise with your engineer and prepare plans for changes and additions, so that all work done in the future may be toward the building of a complete system.

A surface drain should be constructed in School street from Bow brook to Giles street, in Giles street from School street to Centre street, and in Park Ridge. The catch-basins now connected with separate system pipes, in this section, should be disconnected and put into the above-mentioned surface pipes, which should be laid in the spring as early as possible.

The sewers on the west slope of School street hill were not designed to take surface drainage and should not be used for that purpose. They were designed for house sewage only and are too small to accommodate both house sewage and surface drainage.

The sewers in this district could have been built to accommodate all drainage, but after much discussion in 1889 and 1890 it was decided to provide for house sewage only, hence the pipe capacities were proportioned on that basis, and an ordinance passed May 13, 1902, forbids the connection of any surface drainage with the separate system sewers.

The demands for lines, grades, plans and professional advice from the various city departments have been promptly attended to, and the year closed with all field work practically completed, so far as current work is concerned.

The employees of this department have been: Edward H. Henderson, principal assistant; Edward J. Murphy, transit man; and William O. Scales, rodman, who have cheerfully attended to the duties assigned them.

The expenses of this department have been as follows:

Paid engineer and assistants	.	.	.	.	$2,509.25

CEMETERY DEPARTMENT.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF CEMETERIES.

To the City Council of the City of Concord :

Your commissioners of cemeteries have simply to state that your appropriation of last year has been expended in the planting of trees and shrubs, and in the general care and improvement of both cemeteries committed to our care.

The beautiful chapel and waiting-room erected and presented to the city by Miss Susan Perkins has been completed and fills a long-felt want. The thanks of the commissioners are hereby tendered to the generous donor for her beautiful gift.

We have sold the old tombs and land in the old North cemetery to Mrs. Joseph Stickney, and expect that an elegant mausoleum will be erected during the coming year in memory of her late husband.

It is the belief of the commissioners that a generous amount should be expended each year in the purchase of ornamental trees and shrubs.

The burials of the year have been one hundred and sixty-seven in Blossom Hill cemetery, and nineteen in the old North.

We would recommend that a small appropriation be made for the employment of a competent landscape architect to lay out the new section at Blossom Hill, which was purchased a few years ago of Mr. Bradley, so that when needed for new lots it may be ready for use.

We would also recommend that the iron fences be extended on the west line of Blossom Hill as soon as the necessary funds can be appropriated.

For the financial standing of the cemeteries we would refer you to the report of the city treasurer. Whatever sum you may place at our disposal will be expended, we trust, in a manner that will merit your approval.

In the death of George O. Dickerman, who had been secretary of the board for many years, we lost a valuable member who took great interest in the improvement and ornamentation of the cemeteries.

REPORT OF CITY SOLICITOR.

To the City Council:

I respectfully submit the following report for the year 1904 :

At the beginning of the year the following suits against the city of Concord were pending: Concord Street Railway v. Concord; Joseph Stickney v. Concord, for an abatement of taxes for the year 1900; Joseph Stickney v. Concord, for an abatement of taxes for the year 1901.

The case of Concord Street Railway v. Concord is an appeal taken by the Concord Street Railway from an award of damages to it by the board of mayor and aldermen upon laying out a highway in Penacook. The case has not been pressed by the counsel for the railroad and is still on the docket. The two cases of Stickney against Concord for abatements of taxes are also still on the docket.

There have been two suits brought against the city during the year, one by Jennie E. Martin and one by H. Cohen.

The suit of Jennie E. Martin is to recover damages for injury to her property, on the corner of South State and Downing streets, alleged to have been caused by the backing up of water and sewage by reason of an insufficient or defective sewer. This suit will probably be disposed of at the April term of court.

The suit of H. Cohen is a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the board of mayor and aldermen of Concord to issue to him a license to deal in old junk. Cohen made application to the board of mayor and aldermen for a junk dealer's license prior to May 1, the time at which such licenses are issued, and after a hearing the board declined to grant him a license. He continued, however, to do business as a junk dealer. I instituted proceedings against him in the police court for dealing in junk without a license and he was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine and costs. He appealed to the superior court. He then filed in the superior court a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the issuance to him by the board of mayor and aldermen of a license to deal in old junk. When this petition came on for hearing I took the position that the granting of licenses to deal in junk was in the discretion of the board of mayor and aldermen, and that the board was the sole judge of the suitability of an applicant for a license. The superior court sustained me in this position and Mr. Cohen's counsel excepted. The case was transferred to the supreme court for a decision of this question. If the ruling of the superior court is sustained the result will be a final disposition of the case. If the exception of the plaintiff is sustained the case will then be in order for trial on the question of whether the plaintiff is a suitable person to have and exercise a junk license.

I have during the year prosecuted many criminal cases for the police department before the police court. I have also, as usual, given advice and assistance when required to the various departments of the city government, and to committees and members of the city council.

Respectfully submitted,

EDMUND S. COOK,
City Solicitor.

PUBLIC PARKS.

REPORT OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

To the City Council:

The park commissioners present herewith their report for the year 1904 :

The appropriations for the year were as follows :

For the main park system	.	.	.	.	$3,500.00
“ Penacook park .	.	.	.	.	276.72
“ enclosure for deer at Rollins park	.	.	.	.	400.00
					$4,176.72

The plan to cover the park system by a general appropriation was inaugurated this year, enabling the commissioners to apportion such sums as might be needed, which under the old system of special appropriations restricted improvements when the appropriations were exhausted.

The wet season during the early summer was excellent for verdure, but the low lands at White park were covered with water much of the time so that the playground was not available. The grounds adjacent to Beacon street are so much lower than the sewer that the surface water can not be drained off in that way. This park is each year growing in attractions and needs now the embellishments to bring it towards completion. It is hoped to make a beginning on a fence the present season, as the temporary fences are tumbling down. Suitable entrances would add greatly to the appearance and create a dignity now lacking.

The walks have been regravelled, new gutters constructed, grading and much repair work has been carried on. New swings have been put up also, and plans are being made to put in other attractions, especially for the children who abound on pleasant days, finding here great pleasure with the opportunities offered.

The commissioners regret many times that they can not increase the utility of the park, which they can not do, owing to restricted funds at their control.

The pond during the early part of the winter was used for skating, the superintendent cleaning the ice and sharpening many pairs of skates for the children.

Expenditures for labor, including salary of superintendent

The work at Rollins park has been maintained as usual. Attractive features have been developed in the open spaces. A rustic bridge has been completed, and new beds for flowers and shrubs have been planted. Good order prevails, and the park is very popular.

The additional appropriation of four hundred dollars made possible the enclosing of the land along Bow brook for a deer park. The Blue Mountain Park Association, through the efforts of Mr. William D. Chandler, presented to the city four deer. A pair of Angora goats were the gift of Mayor Corning. A wire fence eight feet in height attached to chestnut posts encloses the grounds, in which a shelter has been built to protect the animals. This will prove a very attractive feature. The commission are hoping to provide a playground in close proximity to the park in the near future.

BLOSSOM HILL CEMETERY RECEIPTS.

One half of the receipts from the sale of lots is added annually to the permanent fund. The remaining half, with the amount received for grading of lots sold, together with the amounts received from sundry collections and income of permanent fund, are added each year to the annual appropriation. The amounts expended on trust funds are paid on a special order from the mayor from the income of individual deposits made with the city for that purpose, said income being used exclusively for the care of the lot specified in each trust.

REPORT TO THE NEW CITY HALL BUILDING COMMITTEE.

CONCORD, May 1, 1905.

To the Honorable Chairman and other Members of the New City Hall Building Committee :

GENTLEMEN,—Pursuant to your request, I have examined the accounts of the receipts and expenditures incurred in the location and construction of the New City Hall (Administration Building and Auditorium) as compiled and rendered in the city records and by the architects, Warren, Smith & Bisco, and I present herewith, for your approval, a statement of the same, showing the total cost of lands and buildings after being declared completed by the architects.

Your cognizance of the last three items appearing in this statement not being a direct cost of construction in this building but having been entered on the city records and paid from the city hall building funds, explains an additional expense, amounting to $4,658.03 in the final statement of total cost.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT D. JUDKINS.

NOTE. It being the mind of the committee to publish the above report at this time, arrangements have been made through the courtesy of the City Clerk to print the same in the fifty-second annual report of the city of Concord, now in the hands of the printer.
